FARM RELIEF RANKS SPLIT ON SELECTION OF G.O.P. CANDIDATE

Dickinson Is for Lowden, Declaring Him Most Popular in West.

NYE REVIVES CHARGE OF 1920 SLUSH FUND

Both Factions Agree Jardine Plan for Agriculture Is Inadequate.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

There was a definite split in the McNary-Haugen forces yesterday on the question of presidential candidates. Representative Dickinson, of Iowa, issued a warning that with Smith as the Democratic nominee the Republicans will sorely need the farm strength and they had better nominate Lowden to get it, while Senator Nye, of North Dakota, revived the slush fund charge of 1920 against the former Illinois governor. He called on North Dakota farmers to remember that here is a man that can not carry his own State.

Mr. Dickinson declared in capital letters that "there will be an equilization fee in the new farm bill or an equalization fight in the next campaign." Senator Nye agreed with him to the extent that there is nothing now in sight that might take the place of the equalization fee, but "choosing a candidate for the President," he warned, "must be done with eyes wide open to the fact that such matters as freight rates, credit costs, the influence of wealth in the conduct of campaigns, as well as the purpose sought in the McNary-Haugen bill must enter into any thorough farm relief program."

Argument Made for Lowden.

Mr. Dickinson said: "It will not be possible to reflect in any one individual all the reforms or remedies in which the West is interested. It is essential we advance one at a time, as sentiment will permit. This seems to be the year when an exponent of farm relief should be given preference. The mere suggestion of the problem points to the name of Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois."

The expression of the conflicting views was merely coincidence. Mr. Dickinson made his known in a formal statement, while Senator Nye gave expression to his in a long telegram to the head of the North Dakota Farmers' Union just convening at Jamestown, N. Dak. His colleague, Senator Frazier, agreed with him, he said, disclosing that the senior senator has been writing letters back home along the lines of Nye's telegram.

Senator Nye did not mention Lowden by name, but he left no doubt regarding to whom he referred.

"The whole agricultural program falls flat if we do not determinedly give battle to the influence of sums expended to win election to office," he telegraphed. "The farmer can never hope to compete politically if election to office is dependent first upon the size of the purse. If we are to invite

Bank Robbers Get $15,000 in Four Raids

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 3 (A.P.). Bank robbers operating in Oklahoma and Texas looted four institutions today of more than $15,000. The robbers, twelve in all, escaped.

Locking a cashier in a vault and holding three customers at bay, four unmasked robbers obtained $8,000 from the First National Bank of Wynnewood, Okla. Six employes were lined against a wall by two men who robbed the First National Bank of Erick, Okla., of $3,600.

Four unmasked men escaped with $2,500 from the First State Bank of Tehuacana, Tex., and two men robbed the Planters State Bank at Grove, Tex., of about $1,100.

Relay of Spankers Will Punish Thieves

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Public spankings, administered by a relay of strap wielders, will be the punishment of Mike Waldner and John Gross, members of the Hutterite Colony, 35 miles from here, who were convicted of shoplifting in police court here today. At the request of Gross' father, the men were turned over to the community for punishment.

At noon Friday the pair will be brought before the entire community and relays of spankers will mete out the punishment.

Woman, 113 Years Old, Dies; 200 Survive Her

Rachel Chun, colored, who had reached the age of 113 years, and was probably the oldest inhabitant of Maryland, died a few days ago while visiting a son in Frederick County, Alvin A. Moxley, chief of police of the county, announced yesterday.

According to Moxley, there is documentary evidence to show that she had reached the age of 113 years. She was a resident all her life of the Damascus district, and was the mother of 13 children, several of whom are dead. Her surviving children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren, number 200.

Women Should Be Fat, Men Thin, Says Doctor

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—No woman has the right to be thin and no man has a right to be fat, Dr. J. C. Elsom, of the University of Wisconsin, admonished in an address on the "perils of obesity," before the American College of Physical Therapy today.

A man should fight obesity, because he is a katabolic animal and is always expending his energy, whereas woman is an anabolic animal and should store up her energy, Dr. Elsom reasoned.

"There is no reason why a man at 40 should weigh more than he did when he was 25 years old," he added. "The trouble with most stout men is that they don't exercise enough and eat too much."

To prevent obesity, Dr. Elsom advised, sleep less, eat less, work more and avoid fats, sugars and starches.

3 NEW ENGLAND STATES SUFFERING FROM FLOODS

EASTERN NEW YORK HIT

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Virtually the entire State of Vermont tonight was in the grip of floods following upon a night and day of heavy rainfall. The sudden freshets, surpassing the annual spring overflow from melting snow in the mountains, caused some loss of life, millions of dollars worth of damage and paralyzed rail and road transportation.

Two men were believed drowned in Barre by the collapse of a building, in the basement of which they were at work. A third drowning was reported in Pittsfield.

The railroad lines connecting New England with Canada by way of Vermont were blocked by washouts, the damage to lines occurring all the way from Newport, on the international border, to Greenfield and North Adams, Mass. Roads were rendered impassable by rivers in many parts of the State.

Rutland, where floods forced the evacuation of many buildings and cut off electric light, power and gas services, was in dire danger from the threatened collapse of great reservoir dams above the city. At a late hour the water was rising steadily, but the dams still held. In Montpelier the Winooski River overflowed its banks and flooded the main streets.

Bennington, Vt., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Inhabitants of more than a score of homes in the lower part of this city were marooned by the flood which swept through here tonight. Water at some homes had risen to the second story. The city was without lights.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Washouts had cut asunder the main railroad stems of western Massachusetts and northwestern New England tonight. The Boston & Albany's line was tied up by the undermining of both tracks west of Becket Station. The Boston & Maine's line across Massachusetts was made impassable by a washout west of North Adams.

In Vermont the three principal north and south routes are tied up.

MRS. GRAYSON DROPS FLIGHT INDEFINITELY

Apparent Inability to Get a Pilot for Plane Is the Cause of Action.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Mrs. Grayson's flight to Denmark was indefinitely postponed today because of "all the circumstances" surrounding her preparations for a fourth attempt.

"In view of all the circumstances," she told the Associated Press, "it seemed to be the only thing I could do."

She declined to say how long a postponement was meant by "indefinitely," nor would she elaborate on what she meant by "all the circumstances," though she did acknowledge that she had dropped negotiations with Bernt Balchen, copilot of the Byrd flight.

"My statement is," she said, "that the flight is indefinitely postponed. I have nothing to add to it."

The most recent circumstances in connection with the proposed flight, after she brought her amphibian plane, The Dawn, back from Old Orchard, Me., after three unsuccessful take-offs, were her attempts to obtain a pilot to take the place of Wilmer Stultz, who withdrew from the expedition.

During the negotiations Clarence Chamberlin, Balchen and Fraulein Thea Rasche were all mentioned as possible pilots.

Sisters to Be Hanged For Death of Father

Olmuetz, Moravia, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Two sisters, Theresa and Anna Zboril, today were sentenced to death by hanging for poisoning their father because he would not permit his younger daughter to marry the man of her choice.

The sisters, who were charged with putting poison in his milk, bought mourning clothes and ordered a coffin one week before their father's death.

GRAND JURY CALLS VARIED WITNESSES IN OIL CASE INQUIRY

DISCHARGED JURORS CONFER WITH GORDON

Government and Defense Council to Argue New Trial in Court Today.

(Associated Press.)

The Government set abou yesterday to bridge the gaps in the trail of evidence touching the activities of Burns' detectives in shadowing jurors in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial as the grand jury investigation went forward.

Seeking evidence to directly connect Harry F. Sinclair and A. Mason Day, to whom, it is charged, the Burns operatives reported, district attorneys obtained the statement of one witness that he was employed by Day to drive the wealthy oil operator about Washington during the trial and that Day paid him $371 in cash only Wednesday night for his services.

Mark P. Thompson, of New Mexico, one of Albert B. Fall's attorneys, was sent before the grand jury after a conference with District Attorney Gordon. He was questioned about a telephone conversation he had with Dan R. Jackson, of El Paso, Tex., a special assistant to Attorney General Sargent.

Jackson said this conversation was entirely personal, adding that it had nothing to do with the oil case. Thompson declined to discuss it, explaining that he could not divulge what he had told in the grand jury room.

Edward J. Kidwell, the juror accused of having talked too freely before Justice Siddons ordered a mistrial in the oil case Wednesday, was around the courthouse much of the time during the day. He was accompanied by his father, Edward J. Kidwell, sr., a barber, who also may be asked to go before the grand jury later.

Kidwell Allowed to Go.

Both of the Kidwells were excused in the afternoon, the young juror being instructed to return to his place of business and hold himself in readiness at any time he might be requested to return to the court for further questioning before the grand jury.

Statements designed to show a connection between Day and Sinclair were furnished by Eugene Blavuet, who told Neil Burkinshaw, assistant district attorney conducting the grand jury investigation, that Day had employed him to drive Sinclair about Washington in a high-priced automobile.

The record as it stands in the district attorney's office is that Day first communicated with Frank T. Hurley, in an effort to hire several automobiles for an indeterminate time. He was referred to Blavuet, who said he went to the Mayflower Hotel, where Sinclair had his headquarters during the trial,

Mrs. Borah, Ill a Year, To Undergo Operation

A surgical operation will be resorted to in an effort to restore to health Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the Idaho senator, it was learned last night at the Borah residence, 2139 Wyoming avenue northwest. Mrs. Borah has been in failing health for about a year, under the constant care of physicians.

Senator Borah did not disclose the nature of his wife's illness and aside from the statement that the operation was not considered serious, made no comment on her condition. The operation will be performed in Emergency Hospital, where Mrs. Borah will be taken tomorrow, he said.

First Americans Killed In France 10 Years Ago

Paris, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Ten years ago today the first American soldiers killed in action in France fell under enemy fire.

Three men of the Sixteenth Infantry met death that night when a raiding party of Germans was sent into the front-line trenches at Artois, in Lorraine, about 10 miles east of Luneville.

The sector had been quiet and was used by the French chiefly as a rest sector. One battalion from each Infantry regiment of the First Division was sent into the line on October 20, 1917. The Second Battalion of each of these regiments went into the line on the night of November 3. As they were making their relief, always a ticklish time, a German bombardment began. Under a heavy barage a German raiding party seeking prisoners entered the sector occupied by Company F, Sixteenth Infantry.

Corpl. James Gresham and Pvts. Merle D. Hay and Thomas Enright, of this company, were killed.

FOUR DRY AGENTS SHOT WHILE WRECKING STILL Attackers From Ambush Flee After Mortally Wounding One.

TWO MEN ARE ARRESTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Nov. 3.—Five prohibition officers engaged in demolishnig a still in Spotsylvania County today were suddenly fired upon by men from ambush, four of the raiders being wounded before the attackers withdrew under cover. John W. Smith, deputy sheriff, was struck in the chest by a revolver bullet, which passed through his body. He is at Mary Washington Hospital here, and physicians have grant hope of his recovery. Sam Burgess, federal prohibition officer; S. W. Burgess, special officer, and Lacy White, of the State force, were slightly wounded when struck by scattered shot from shotguns.

Prohibition Inspector Willis, fifth member of the raiding party, was unhurt.

The attackers, thought to be four in number, escaped, although the officers returned their fire. Officers said the men who fired from ambush were seen, and it is believed they can be identified. Sheriff C. A. Carney, with a force of deputies, will go to the scene tomorrow in the hope of arresting the snipers.

The shooting occurred while the officers were destroying a large distilling outfit. They had previously secreted themselves in the woods nearby and had arrested two young men, Grant Coleman and Nelson Stanley, as they approached the still, one carrying a case of fruit jars. One of the men was knocked down with the butt of a revolver before he submitted to arrest.

In charge of two officers, the prisoners were taken to the Spotsylvania jail while the other officers went to the

Women, in High Sea, Save Fishing Captain

Beach Haven, N. J., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The heroism of three young women of this place was being sung today by Capt. Amos Crosta, whom they rescued in a heavy sea.

"Capt. Steve," as he is known along the beach, was out yesterday preparing for a run of codfish when a huge comber battered his frail craft almost to pieces. He was forced to leap overboard and attempt to swim ashore.

His plight was seen by the women—Miss Freda Cranmer, Mrs. Whitney Marshall and Miss Beatrice Journan, strolling near the beach. All three plunged into the breakers and dragged the old man to safety.

MASKED KIDNAPERS FOILED WHEN NURSE BATTLES FOR BABY

COUPLE FLEES HOUSE WITH $1,500 DIAMOND

Female Intruder Abandons 20-Month-Old Child to Aid Companion in Fight.

A smartly-dressed man and woman wearing silver-colored masks attempted shortly before 10 o'clock last night to kidnap the 20-month-old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Kimmel, of 3118 Sixteenth street northwest, according to a report made to police by the infant's nurse.

Miss Elizabeth Atowes, 30 years old, the nurse, told police she frustrated the kidnaping by engaging in a furious battle with the intruders. She said she was getting the better of her male assailant when the woman came to his aid. They knocked her down, she said, and the man wrenched from her finger a diamond ring which she valued at $1,500. They escaped by a rear gate.

Police found footprints and a silver mask, such as had been described by Miss Atowes, in the yard in the rear of the house. They also discovered that both the front and rear doors of the house had been forced.

Parents Absent From House.

Mr. Kimmel, who is a patent attorney with offices at 715 G street northwest, and Mrs. Kimmel were visiting friends when the alleged kidnaping attempt was made.

Miss Atowes said she did not hear the man and woman enter the house. She said she was coming from a first-floor bathroom with a glass of water for the baby, George P. Kimmell, jr., who was in the nursery, also on the first floor, when the man, wearing a silver mask, confronted her. Without a word he struck her, she said. Although stunned by the blow, Miss Atowes said, she noticed the woman, also masked and fashionably clad, enter the nursery.

Miss Atowes said she battled with the man and managed to force him toward the nursery. While she grappled with her assailant, Miss Atowes said, the woman bundled the baby in a blanket and pushed open the nursery door with her foot. The woman, she said, would have escaped with the child had not the man yelled for help.

Nurse Beaten to Floor.

Miss Atowes told police that by this time she was fighting on even terms with the man and had his mask almost torn from his face when the woman returned to the nursery and came to his assistance. The two of them then attacked her, she said. They knocked her to the floor and fled through the rear of the house, making their getaway through a back gate.

Recovering in a few moments, Miss Atowes said, she telephoned police and Dr. F. X. McGovern, of the Rochambeau apartments. Then she summoned Mr. and Mrs. Kimmel.

Mrs. Kimmel was prostrated when she heard the nurse's story. Mr. Kimmel

HONDURAN CHIEF AIDS NICARAGUAN REBELS

Francesco Ferrera Reported Lending Support to Gen. Sandino.

Managua, Nicaragua, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Reports have been received here from Honduras that the famous Honduran revolutionary general, Francesco Ferrera, has decided to aid the former liberal, Gen. Sandino, who has been carrying on guerilla activities in the interior of Nicaragua ever since the establishment of peace between the Liberals and Conservatives.

Several communications from Ferrera to Sandino have been intercepted.

The Nicaraguan National Guard, under command of American Marine officers, will take over the policing of the important town of Leon on November 15. National Guard patrols have been sent to the coffee districts to preserve order during the coffee-picking season. Coffee is the most important crop in Nicaragua and means either prosperity or failure for the country.

There is a Gen. Gregorio Ferrera of Honduras who is widely known as a revolutionary leader here, but Honduran dispatches make no reference to a Gen. Francesco Ferrera. Gen. Gregorio Ferrera, a former minister of war in Honduras, was last reported in 1926 as starting a revolution with discontented army deserters.

Americans Will Develop Great Blue Nile Region

Abyssinia Grants Right to Build $20,000,000 Dam—Britain May Intervene—Coolidge and Kellogg Kept in Touch With Negotiations.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—American industry, backed by American dollars, has undertaken the economic development of the realm of the Queen of Sheba.

A $20,000,000 contract for construction of a dam across the Blue Nile near Lake Tsana, negotiated between the Abyssinian government and the J. G. White Engineering Corporation, of New York, is described as the opening step in an ambitious program for the cultural and material reconstruction of the ancient nation.

Irrigation of tremendous desert tracts is the purpose of the dam. The expected substantial profits for sale of water which will accrue to the Abyssinian government will enable the reigning regent to embark soon on a plan calling for the employment of American teachers, physicians, technical men and skilled artisans, with a view to throwing off the inertia which has held the country back through many centuries. Negotiation of the contract—which London dispatches said had caused considerable "surprise" in British official circles—was carried through by Dr. Wargneh C. Martin, as envoy extraordinary of the regent, who departed at once for Ethiopia on completion of the mission.

Dr. Martin's American representative, Dr. Albert L. Yuttner, declared today the negotiations were undertaken with full knowledge of the State Department in Washington, and added that the regent's envoy had had "several talks" with President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg on the subject, keeping them

BLADENSBURG MAN SHOT; ESTRANGED WIFE IS HELD

Mrs. Hartley Says Husband Threatened Her and Gun Accidentally Went Off.

MATE IS SERIOUSLY HURT

With Robert A. Hartley, 34 years old, a plumbing contractor of Bladensburg, Md., in Emergency Hospital, paralyzed from a bullet wound in his back, and his estranged wife, Sarah Marie, 28, mother of two children, under arrest, Washington detectives and Maryland police are sifting conflicting statements concerning the shooting.

Mrs. Hartley, formerly an inmate of the Mount Hope Retreat, Md., sanitarium, was arrested by Detective Frank A. Varney in Emergency Hospital at the bedside of her husband last night at 9:30 o'clock, shortly after the shooting. She was taken to the House of Detention and held for investigation pending action of the Maryland authorities.

Mrs. Hartley told police the shooting, which occurred in her home on the Defense Highway, Bladensburg, Md., was accidental, resulting from a quarrel with her husband. Mrs. Hartley declared she "grabbed" the gun away from her husband after he had threatened her, pointed it "excitedly and nervously" at him as he slouched in a chair in the parlor of her home, and the gun, a .38-caliber pistol, belonging to Hartley, was "accidentally fired."

Clifford Gasch, a brother of Constable Gasch, of Bladensburg, the first to reach the side of the wounded man, told police and reporters he ran into the kitchen of Mrs. Hartley's home after he had been notified of the shooting, found Hartley moaning on the kitchen

Los Angeles Holds Former Diplomat Here

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 3 (A. P.).—A man who said he was Baron Albert Pengracz, member of the Hungarian Legation staff at Washington, was jailed today after a wild automobile chase through Hollywood streets from the scene of a wrecked milk wagon. He was booked on suspicion of failure to stop and render aid after an accident and suspicion of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

The Hungarian Legation here last night denied that Baron Albert Pengracz is a member of its staff. Andor de Hertelendy, Secretary of the Legation, said that a man of that name was attached to the staff of the Austro-Hungarian Embassy here before the World War. His whereabouts were unknown to Hertelendy.

Police Break Fast Of Mother and Girl

Denver, Colo., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—A voluntary 21-day fast of Mrs. Elsie Chase and her 12-year-old daughter, Margaret, was broken today when police and humane officers forced their way into the Chase home and took the couple to the general hospital.

Mrs. Chase locked the doors of her home and started the fast when her husband left home on learning his wife had started divorce proceedings.

High School Hazers Scar Girls' Faces

Dakota City, Neb., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Ten high school students received severe acid burns on their faces and necks, several of them being possibly permanently scarred, as the result of hazing activities between freshmen and upper-class students here.

Upper-class men smeared a solution on eight girls and two boys. One student has been dismissed.

Girl in Coma 16 Days From Sleep Sickness

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Miss Dorothy Grigsby, 17-year-old Waukegan High School girl, remained in a state of coma at a hospital today, her sixteenth day of unconsciousness since she became a victim of sleeping sickness.

"Her condition shows little change from yesterday," said Dr. James Gill, her physician, today. "She is no better."

The girl occasionally is able to recognize her parents and mumbles words that can not be understood.

NATIONAL CLEARING HOUSE OF CRIMINAL STATISTICS URGED

Conference Would Have Justice Department in Control.

N. W. BAKER PRAISES NEWSPAPERS FOR AID

Far-Reaching Effect Is Seen in Taft's Plea for Jury Reform.

Creation of a national clearing house for criminal statistics and information in the Department of Justice was urged in a resolution adopted last night at the final session of the National Conference on the Reduction of Crime, in the Willard Hotel.

The Department of Justice already is gathering such information on a temporary basis; the resolution adopted last night urged that the work be put on a permanent basis.

Comparatively nothing is known about the facts of crime, Dean Justin Miller, of the University of Southern California, told the conference. He declared that, until information is gathered showing who commits crime, why it is committed, and answering other vital questions, nothing can be done toward formulating a solution of the problem. All that is available now, he said, is a lot of miscellaneous information gathered in sporadic surveys.

Baker Praises Papers.

Former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, who presided over the final session, praised the newspapers for the way in which they have cooperated with the National Crime Commission, and predicted that the aim of the commission — reduction of crime — eventually would be realized.

The stirring speech of Chief Justice William Howard Taft, in which he appealed for more intelligent juries, will have far-reaching results, it was predicted last night by delegates to the conference.

Appearing before the conference yesterday, Chief Justice Taft declared there must be a further examination into the methods by which jurors are selected. He denounced the present method which permits counsel for the defendants to exclude worthy citizens from the panel and accept "jurors of weak intelligence, of little experience and subject to emotions easily aroused."

Among the first to congratulate Chief Justice Taft was Justice Frederick L. Siddons, who dismissed the jurors in the Teapot Dome trial after charges had been made against one of them.

"You have brought us a wonderful message," Justice Siddons declared.

Denies Youth More Criminal.

The general subject at the morning session was "Pardon and Parole." At the afternoon session lawyers and psychiatrists discussed "The Substitution of Scientific Mental Examination of Prisoners for the Present System of Paid Expert Testimony."

There is no evidence that young people comparatively are more criminal than those of a generation ago, Prof. E. H. Sutherland, of Minnesota University, declared at a luncheon between sessions. He also denied that heredity, by itself, was a cause of crime.

"Crime in modern society," he said, "is the result of mobility which has broken traditions, multiplied contacts, introduced variety and conflict in culture and resulted in segregating people in different culture areas, where they support each other in crime."

Americans Easy-Going.

Americans are an easy-going people, Chief Justice Taft declared at the outset of his address. They allow abuses to creep in, he said, until these become so objectionable they arouse themselves and then work radical reforms. He expressed the hope that such a time now is at hand.

"Without examining closely the statute as proposed and partly carried through by Senator Baumes and his associates, it seems to me that they indicate that the forgotten man, the victim of the murderer, and the robber and the criminal, as well as society at large, is being remembered in the new legislation in New York.

"We all, of course, are in favor of measures which will induce criminals to become law-abiding citizens, but we must never forget that the chief and first object of prosecution of crime is its deterrent effect upon future would-be criminals in the protection of society. We must not allow our interest in criminals to go to the point of making effective prosecution of crime and its punishment subordinate to schemes for reform of criminals, however admirable they may be."

Not Enough Policemen.

The Chief Justice declared the American system of criminal prosecution suffers because there are not enough policemen, and because the gathering of information and trials are too slow.

"We need legislation that shall render impossible new trials except for real injustice in a trial," he said. "We need legislation to enlarge the power of the judges to guide the trial and to help the jury in understanding the evidence and in reaching its conclusions upon the evidence. This means that the law should not prevent the charge of the

U.S.-FRENCH TARIFF DISPUTE NEARS END; TREATY IS SOUGHT

Adjustments of Lowman's Increase on Rates Delays Finalities.

FRANCE WILL RETURN TO STATUS OF AUGUST 30

Requests for Concessions on Embargoes and Costs Are Agreeable to America.

The present Franco-American tariff dispute is practically over. Only the recent act of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman in raising the duties on certain French products, it was learned at the State Department yesterday, prevents it from being immediately ended.

Lowman's action, it was learned, has made a delay necessary in replying to the French offer, but it was said on high authority that a note will go forward in two or three days accepting France's offer for the negotiation of a commercial treaty, now that France has agreed to restore the status quo of before August 30 when the present higher rates, held discriminatory by this Government, went into effect.

France's request for concessions regarding sanitary embargoes and examination by American customs agents of the accounts of certain French companies and France's request for inquiry into costs of production of certain dutiable goods are all agreeable to the United States, it was learned, and will present no difficulties.

The main difficulty, it was said yesterday, is of a technical nature and is of such small intrinsic importance as ordinarily to escape consideration. According to one official intimately connected with the tariff negotiations, this is Mr. Lowman's act of several weeks ago raising the duties on certain French imports without consulting his superior, Secretary Mellon, or officials of the State Department.

Trade Amounts to $30,000.

The total amount of trade in these commodities, it was estimated, amounts to about $30,000 a year. One of the commodities involved causes an annual trade of only $317, it was said.

Yet these eight or nine classes of commodities, consisting in part of bicycle handlebars and parts, automobile accessories, fibrous board and cement compounds—in all of which goods the French export is extremely small, have to be examined and compared before negotiations for a commercial treaty can be begun. The duties on these goods were raised by Lowman because the French duties on American products had gone up. Now they will have to be lowered again as soon as the French decree proclaiming a return to the status quo goes into effect.

The question is further complicated by the fact that certain of the commodities affected by the Lowman order are affected by the French restoration of duties and certain others are not. These amounts and classifications will have to be segregated and a clear accounting will have to be made before negotiations for a commercial treaty can be begun. No indication was given at the State Department yesterday as to where the negotiations for such a treaty will be held.

TRACTION PARLEY STUDIES DOOLITTLE AND WILSON PLANS

Similarities Compared, Agreement Being Found Only on Capitalization.

$51,000,000 VALUATION PROPOSED LAST YEAR

New Merger, However, Includes Lines and Betterments, $61,000,000 in All.

Harley P. Wilson, director of the North American Co. of New York and director also of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., with William G. McAdoo and Brice Clagett, of his counsel, yesterday held a three-hour conference behind closed doors with the full membership of the public utilities committee and Ralph B. Fleharty, people's counsel.

At the conclusion prepared statements were handed out for John W. Childress, chairman of the commission, and for Wilson. These statements said that the subject of the conference was similarity between the Wilson merger plan now under consideration and the Doolittle plan broached to the old Public Utilities Commission and dropped eighteen months ago.

The point upon which it has been alleged that the two plans were practically identical was the principal one of capitalization. Doolittle's suggestion was that the two street car companies be merged at an agreed total valuation of around $50,000,000. This is the same figure suggested by Wilson, except that $2,700,000 is to be added to capitalization to represent cash items of new investment.

Covered Only Inside Lines.

Wilson's statement following yesterday's conference said that the 1926 plan proposed a capitalization of $51,000,000, "but that this figure represented only the transit properties as of June 30, 1926, inside the District, whereas the rate base suggested by Wilson includes the transit properties inside and outside the District and also includes additions and betterments up to December 31, 1926, and includes as well the properties of the Washington Rapid Transit Co."

He said the difference between the proposal then and the present one amounts to approximately $11,000,000. This was not explained further and the implication was left that, although the capitalization proposed then and now is nearly identical, there is added value to the amount of $11,000,000 now offered in the agreed valuation of $50,000,000, this $11,000,000 of added value being the sum of capitalized betterments and the subsidiary lines of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. lying outside the District.

None of the conferees would discuss this added value in detail. All stood on the Childress and Wilson statements. But it was learned from records in the office of the Public Utilities Commission that betterments to the street car companies in the six months named were inconsiderable and that therefore, if the $11,000,000 of added value existed it must be almost wholly made up of value of the Maryland lines of the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

From the records of the commission it was also learned that these lines, separated from the business of the sales of electric power, as they will be if, as the Wilson plan proposes, the Potomac Electric Power Co. is omitted from the merger, lost money steadily during the first eight months of the current year. The biggest loser was the Washington and Rockville line, which showed an operating deficit of about $1,500 a month.

Additional Burden Is Seen.

Persons familiar with street car operation commented on these statistics, based on the reports of the company itself, to the effect that inclusion of these Maryland lines, instead of adding $11,000,000 in value to the merged property, would cause the District street car riders to shoulder an additional burden to transform their deficits into profits.

From January to August, 1927, inclusive, the Maryland lines of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. showed net income of $184,814. On its face this would appear to indicate profitable street car operation. However, the same reports indicate that the Maryland lines sold electric power, which they bought from their parent company, amounting to $256,758.

This power was bought from the Washington Railway & Electric Co., which also owns the Potomac Electric Power Co., by which the power was generated.

Thus it would appear at second blush that the Maryland lines lost $80,000, or $10,000 a month. But this is not exactly the case. For, whereas the companies paid $130,097 for the power, part of which they sold at $256,758, it is also true that they used some of it, how much the reports do not show. Public utility experts who examined the figures said that it was clear that the Maryland lines showed a deficit from their railway operations, the amount not being indicated.

Statement by Childress.

Childress' statement following yesterday's conference, follows:

"Mr. Harley P. Wilson and his attorneys, Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Clagett, came in to have a discussion with the Public Utilities Commission and the people's counsel upon the proposed merger. Mr. Wilson wished first to set straight the published story of the similarity of his plan to that submitted in informal conference by Mr. Doolittle in June, 1926, with some of the stockholders of some of the traction companies and the officials of the Public Utilities Commission at that time. Mr. Wilson's position in that matter is set forth in the accompanying memorandum presented by him.

"Mr. Wilson also pointed out other differences between those submitted by him to the commission and the plan discussed in 1926, and called particular attention to the fact that the plan discussed previously did not contemplate, as his present plan does, complete control over the costs of the proposed consolidated company by representatives of the public, represented by the appointed trustees.

"Mr. Wilson also talked with the commission as to the advantages of the ultimate need of a traction merger for Washington, based upon its future as the Nation's Capital and also from both the economic and esthetic value to the city and Capital. He had with him figures which were the result of study by his engineers, which had convinced him, and which he believed would convince the public and the commission, that his plan would save approximately one million dollars per year. These figures were not exhibited, but he suggested that he would have a conference next week, at which time they would be gone into fully.

"Mr. Wilson stated in leaving that he would, in due season, make application for a public hearing before the commission, when his proposed form was in finished shape, so that it could be acted upon by the proper authorities."

Statement by Wilson.

The statement issued by Wilson was:

"The suggestion has been made that the rate base of $50,000,000 for the consolidated street railways and buses made this week to the Public Utilities Commission by Mr. H. P. Wilson, is the same rate base discussed by representatives of the street railway companies for a consolidation with the Public Utilities Commission in June, 1926. As a matter of fact, the rate base of $50,000,000 represents a reduction of approximately $11,000,000 from the base suggested in 1926, and the street railway companies never even committed themselves then.

The rate base discussed tentatively in 1926 was approximately $51,000,000, but this figure represented only the transit properties as of June 30, 1926, inside of the District of Columbia, whereas, the rate base suggested by Mr. Wilson includes the transit properties both inside and outside of the District of Columbia, and also includes additions and betterments made up to December 31, 1926, and includes as well the properties of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. On the basis of the figure of $51,000,000 used in discussions of June, 1926, the value as of December 31, 1926 would be $61,828,000, exclusive of the properties of the Washington Rapid Transit Co., or approximately $11,000,000 over the basis discussed in 1926."

Another Merger Discussed.

The public utilities committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations held a meeting in executive session late yesterday to receive, according to Maj. Clayton E. Emig, its acting chariman, a preliminary report from Hansel & Hansel, engineers, who have made a transportation survey and devised another merger plan for the committee. Reporters were barred from the meeting and no statement was given out. Emig said:

"I am sure that Mr. Wilson's plan is by way of putting the best foot foremost and that many, many concessions will be made from it before it is adopted. He solicits constructive suggestions."

GOVERNMENT NEUTRAL IN STATE LINE DISPUTE

Bans Maryland Game Warden From Federal Boat on the Potomac.

OPPOSED BY VIRGINIANS

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Government does not intend to be drawn into the controversy between Virginia and Maryland over the boundary line between the two States along the Potomac River.

The Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture, which had become involved through invitation to the two States to place deputy game wardens aboard the Federal game warden patrol boat Curlew for patroling the Potomac to regulate hunting of wild geese and ducks, yesterday ordered the immediate withdrawal of the Maryland deputy warden and announced a neutral stand. Gov. Byrd of Virginia had protested to the Biological Survey and to Gov. Ritchie of Maryland that Virginia's rights were being violated by the Federal Government in helping Maryland enforce her game laws from a Federal patrol boat.

The position of Gov. Byrd was placed before Biological Survey officials at a conference yesterday. The decision, made after the conference, was immediately communicated to the Maryland authorities, and a statement issued setting forth the Government's position.

"Judge William S. Snow, one of the commissioners of the Virginia department of game and inland fisheries, and who also represented Gov. Byrd of Virginia," said the statement, "conferred today with Biological Survey officials relative to the question of continuing the cooperation with the Maryland conservation department on the survey patrol boat Curlew, operating on the Potomac River.

The Virginia authorities feel that inasmuch as there is a controversy between the two States relative to the accuracy of the boundary line, the survey should not permit a Maryland warden on the Federal boat for the purpose of enforcing Maryland laws involving violations which might be predicated upon the location of the offense with regard to the boundary line in dispute.

"The Biological Survey desires to cooperate whenever possible with the various States in the enforcement of Federal and State game laws. In the present instance, however, when a controversy in good faith is involved that does not in any manner affect the Federal regulations under the migratory bird treaty act, the only course open to the survey is to take a neutral stand in the matter. Pending the settlement, therefore, of the controversy between the two States the Biological Survey patrol boat Curlew will be operated by United States game wardens only."

It is believed likely that the Maryland authorities will place a separate boat in service for use of their game wardens.

Four Vie for Honor As Maryland Singer

Four persons vied for the honor of being chosen the singing champion of Maryland at a contest last night at radio station WRC. Their selections were broadcast. The contestants were Miss Emily Craft Hurley and Clement M. Lucas, of Baltimore; Miss Nellie Hough, of Mount Savage, and John Herbert Mansfield, of Cumberland.

The test was a part of the Atwater-Kent foundation contest to determine the singing champion of all States and of the country. Two of the four will be selected by a verdict of the judges and by 60 per cent of the mail from radio "fans," who listened-in. The program was presided over by Mrs. Louis K. Gutman, of Baltimore. The judges were Gustave Strube, director of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, and Mrs. Harry Rusa, of Baltimore, who were at the studio, and Mrs. David Sederleicht, who listened-in at her home in Baltimore. The winner will go to New York City later this month to participate in a sectional elimination contest

Thomas Clark, Noted Breeder, Dead at 85

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Thomas Clark, 85, who revolutionized the cattle industry by introducing the Hereford breed into this country in the "seventies," is dead at his home at Beecher, Ill. He had been ill for more than two months.

Mr. Clark brought the white-faced cattle to America in 1872 and first established them on his farm at Elyria, Ohio.

RITES TODAY FOR F. R. EATON.

Former Resident of Washington Dies in Brookline, Mass.

Funeral services for Franklin R. Eaton, 52 years old, for 18 years manager of the Washington office of the Washburn-Crosby Co., and a regional vice president, who died Tuesday in Brookline, Mass., from heart trouble, will be held there today at 2:30 o'clock with interment in that city.

Mr. Eaton was transferred from Washington last February and made general manager of the Louisville, Ky., mills, and covered all of the Southern States. He had been with the Washburn-Crosby Co. 22 years, and was manager of the Toledo branch before coming to Washington.

He had been suffering with heart trouble for about two years, and last summer went to Cape Cod in an effort to regain his health. He was born in Wentworth, N. H. He was formerly a member of the City Club, Washington Chamber of Commerce, Columbia Country Club and the Board of Trade. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Jean Eaton, and a daughter, Marjorie. They formerly resided here at 3407 Woodley road.

SERVICES TODAY FOR J. L. REA

Divisional Chief in Revenue Bureau to be Buried in Arlington.

Funeral rites for John Lee Rea, 50 years old, division chief of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, will be conducted at 2 o'clock today in St. James Episcopal Church by the Rev. George W. Atkinson. Internment will be in Arlington National Cemetery with military rites of the Spanish-American War Veterans.

Mr. Rea died Tuesday at his home, 144 W street northwest, of heart trouble. A veteran of the Spanish-American war, he became active in veterans' affairs here at the conclusion of hostilities and at the outbreak of the World War enlisted in the District National Guard. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Emma Sand Rea, and two daughters, Miss Kathryn Rea and Miss Mary E. Rea.

EFFORTS FOR U.S.-FRENCH RU MPACT NEAR DEFEAT

Negotiations to Stem Inflow From Islands Off Canada Deadlocked.

ISLES HELD BIG SOURCE

(Associated Press.)

Efforts of Federal prohibition officials to break up what they consider the chief source of smuggled liquor into the United States threaten to collapse because of the deadlock in the negotiations between the American and French Governments over a rum agreement affecting the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon off the Newfoundland coast.

These islands, prohibition authorities believe, furnish the base for rum running operations that accounts for 80 per cent of the foreign liquor that reaches this country. Smuggling activities from the islands, they claim, have increased greatly since the Washington administration obtained an agreement with the British authorities in the Bahamas to furnish information on the departure of rum-laden ships for American ports. Through this agreement, officials say, operations in Southern waters have been curtailed and the principal smuggling activities have been shifted to Northern waters.

A similar agreement is sought with the French authorities, but conversations which have been in progress since July made little headway and now are reported to be on the verge of a collapse. American officials are clinging to the remaining slender thread in the hope of saving the negotiations from a complete crash, but they have only small hopes of successful culmination.

Some residents of the islands, who a short time ago eked out a meager living in the north country, now are reported to have reached the stage of affluence and prosperity which is attributed by officials to rum operations.

The French government is reported to have demurred on the American request for reports on all ships putting out of the island ports for American waters laden with liquor, on the grounds that it would infringe on the rights of French nationals.

The American Government argues that both nations would be benefited by the agreement by orderly navigation that would result from such reports, as numerous fraudulent shipping papers have been found aboard captured rum crafts operating out of the French possessions.

Park View Association Told Juvenile Needs

Work of the Juvenile Protective Association among needy children of the city was described to the Park View Parent-Teacher Association by Judge Mary O'Toole, of the Municipal Court, and Mrs. J. Byler, chairman of the Juvenile Protective Association committee, of the Parent-Teacher Association, at a meeting held last night in the Park View School.

The Parent-Teacher group indorsed resolutions opposing a bond issue to cover the cost of carrying out park projects and favored the proposal to have street car fares of school children, going to and from school, reduced one-half of the present rates. Following the business meeting, the Park View Parent-Teacher Association held a social hour, at which refreshments were served.

Mrs. Cromwell Given Trophy by Coolidge

Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell, winner of the recent President's Cup race on the Potomac, was yesterday presented with the trophy by President Coolidge. She was accompanied to the White House by District Commissioners Taliaferro and Dougherty, Commander Rodgers, of the Corinthian Yacht Club, and other officials of the race.

The presentation took place on the south lawn in a slight drizzle of rain. Mrs. Cromwell, in winning the race, maintained an average speed with her boat, Miss Syndicate, of 51.43 miles an hour for three heats of 15 miles each.

Armistice Day Ball Plans Laid at Smoker

Preparations for the Armistice ball to be given at the Willard Hotel Friday were made at a smoker held in the Pythian Temple last night by T. N. T. Pup Tent, Order of Cooties, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The latter organization will sponsor the ball, at which 200 visiting Canadian soldiers will be guests.

Members of the cast of "The Honorable Wu," playing at a local theater, Kin Carroll and others supplied the entertainment.

Former Dry Official Waives Hearing.

William B. Robinson, 234 Willow avenue, Takoma Park, Md., waived preliminary hearing yesterday before Judge Riggs in Rockville Police Court, on charges of statutory offenses against a 9-year-old girl. He was held for the grand jury convening in Rockville the week after next, States Attorney Robert Peter, jr., said last night. Until the charges were filed Robinson was chief of investigators in the Prohibition Bureau.

Driver Pinned Under Auto.

The Fire Department Rescue Squad was pressed into service last night to extricate W. D. Hunt, colored, 30 years old, 12 N street northwest, who was pinned under his automobile after he had crashed into the rear of a steam shovel parked in front of 3001 Cathedral avenue northwest. Hunt was treated at Emergency Hospital for a fractured right leg and cuts on the head.

"Great White Way" Issue Stirs Rockville Citizens

A "great white way" for Rockville, county seat of Montgomery County, is now the talk of the town. At a recent meeting of the mayor and council the chief business was the renewal of the street lighting contract with the Potomac Power Co.

A suggestion that Rockville needed a "white way," made at the meeting, immediately started a considerable bubbling and agitation. The cost naturally was the first thing brought up for consideration.

Representatives of the company, who attended the meeting and explained the new contract which provides for an increase in rates, said that to replace the present 60-candle power lights with 250-candle power lights and to increase the number of lights by seventeen, the operation necessary to transform the present system to a "great white way," would cost the town $800 a year more than at present.

Animated discussion followed. Nevertheless the germ of a "great white way" fever has been planted in Rockville. It boils down to the question whether the "white way" will look better or worse than $800 a year. The old lights under the new contract will cost the town $228 a year more. The town, according to representatives of the company, had for some time been receiving its lights for less than cost.

MAN AND AUNT HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Silver Spring Resident's Car Overturned in Crash on Gaithersburg Pike.

Whitney D. Reed, 35 years old, 5710 Seventh street northwest, and his aunt, Mrs. Blair Reed, of Silver Springs, Md., were injured yesterday morning in a collision between their automobile and another driven by Charles E. Stevens, of Derwood, Md., on the Rockville-Gaithersburg pike.

Four others in the Reed car were uninjured. The injured were taken for treatment to the Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Spring.

According to the Rockville police, Stevens was driving into the pike from a side road when the accident occurred. Both drivers swerved their cars in an attempt to avoid the collision, but the Reed car was overturned and the injured pinned beneath it.

Vote of California Predicted for Hoover

(Associated Press.)

The prediction that California will send a solid delegation to the next Republican National Convention instructed for Secretary Hoover was made yesterday by Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, upon his return to the Capital.

"Inasmuch as President Coolidge will not be a candidate," he said, "California will send a solid delegation for Herbert Hoover for President."

WELFARE LAWS HELD INCONSISTENT HERE

Women Must Aid in Forming Code, Attorney Tells the Bar Association.

If an intelligent code affecting public welfare work in the District is to be formulated, the women lawyers must take an active part in its legislation, Edwin A. Mooers, attorney, stated last night at a meeting of the Women's Bar Association, in the Women's City Club.

The women have a better idea than men of what is best for children, he said. Mr. Mooers gave an outline of his work in compiling all the laws enacted by Congress affecting welfare work here, showing many of the inconsistencies existing therein.

Mooers cited the recent clash between Judge Sellers and the District Attorney's Office in emphasizing its contention that "if ever confusion was worse confounded it was accomplished by Congress in its legislation on welfare work." He decried the manner in which Congress had added riders pertaining to welfare work to various appropriation bills without taking cognizance of previous acts. Mrs. Grace Hays Riley also spoke. Mrs. Jennie O. Berliner presided.

WINE IMPORTS BAN OF U. S. SUSTAINED AT LEAGUE SESSION

Declaration at Parley to End Trade Restrictions Had Caused Controversy.

INTRODUCTION DEPLORED BY H. R. WILSON, ENVOY

Measure Greeted by Hilarity in Committee, but It Wins Much Support.

Geneva, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The controversy over whether a declaration introduced by wine-growing countries at the international conference for the removal of trade restrictions is aimed at American prohibition of wine importation was partly cleared up when the French delegate informed the conference tonight that countries which prevent the manufacture of intoxicants at home naturally have the right to ban all importations.

This statement means that the delegates of the wine-growing nations have accepted the views of the American delegation. The German representative made a speech to the conference, saying that Germany did not sign the declaration, as it deemed it useless since the convention clearly authorized liquor bans when the national manufacture of spirits is illegal. M. Serruys, of France, agreed, specifying, however, that a ban upon importation could never be justified on the ground that wine is harmful to health.

What was generally interpreted as a diplomatic protest against American prohibition and the resultant illegality of all importation of intoxicating liquor into the United States caused a sensation at the conference.

Wilson Deplores Action.

The "protest" led Hugh R. Wilson, American Minister to Switzerland and head of the United States delegation, publicly to deplore the initiative taken by the representatives of the wine-growing countries.

When the hit at the prevention of the importation of wine was introduced at a committee meeting of the conference, Mr. Wilson announced that if it were actually embodied in the convention it might jeopardize acceptance of the document by the American Government.

Notwithstanding Mr. Wilson's warning, the wine-growing countries, headed by France, annexed a declaration to the draft treaty, which the conference is now discussing. This declaration voiced the conviction that the prohibition of viticultural products can not be justified under the clause of the convention which permits restrictions imposed in the interests of public health.

U. S. Protected Is View.

The American delegation held, however, that the American prohibition laws are completely covered by another clause which authorizes nations to apply to foreign products any regime of restriction applied to their home products. In other words, the American delegates contend and are understood to be ready to tell the conference if necessary, that inasmuch as American laws make it illegal to manufacture or transport intoxicants into the United States, it is legally entitled by the same token to shut the door to all foreign intoxicants.

Although it was recognized that the United States is the country chiefly hit by the declaration of the wine producing countries, several Scandinavian lands also would be affected because of the prohibition regime in Finland and the restrictive regime in Sweden.

It is learned that when the declaration was first introduced it was greeted with hilarity on the part of some delegates on the committee, which held its meetings in secret. But the declaration later developed into a measure serious enough to be supported by the delegates of seven governments—France, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Portugal, Jugoslavia and Switzerland.

Chaliapin Receives Divorce in Moscow

Moscow, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The Moscow people's court today formally granted a divorce decree to Feodor Chaliapin, famous basso, from Yolle Ignatievna Chaliapin, whom he married 29 years ago and from whom he had been separated for the past 21 years.

The formality was simple. Judge Shorin read Chaliapin's application for a divorce from his wife, Volle Ignatievna Chaliapin and his offer to pay her $300 monthly alimony until her death.

Counsel for Mme. Chaliapin stated she had no objections to the divorce being granted nor to the conditions offered.

In compliance with Soviet law, which regards marriage as a civil contract dissoluble at will, and in view of the mutual agreement of the parties, the court formally granted the decree.

Irene, daughter of the singer and Mme. Chaliapin, was in the court.

Two Boats Are Towed Four Days by Whale

London, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—A tale of a whale which towed two fishing boats about the Arabian Sea for four days and three nights was told in the Daily Express today.

A dispatch to the paper from Karachi, India, said that a 30-foot whale became entangled in the nets of two fishing boats. After the boats had been towed helplessly about the Indian Ocean for four days and three nights their signals for distress were seen. Other boats came to the rescue of the fishermen and 80 men, after a 24-hour struggle, succeeded in landing the whale on the beach.

GHOST BRIDE COST HIM $7,500, MAN SAYS IN SUIT

Farmer, 71, Charges Medium Had Wraiths Help in Extracting Money.

SEANCES WERE NOISY

Wichita, Kans., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—His marriage to a "ghost" bride and various transactions with the spirit world were related in court here today by John Seybold, 71-year-old farmer of Liberal, Kans., in his suit for $7,500 against Mrs. Nellie Moore, a spiritualist medium.

Seybold accuses Mrs. Moore of having defrauded him out of that sum by means of a series of seances in which ghostly advisers helped her take money away from him.

The aged farmer told the court how her married "Sarah," a ghost whom at times he could vaguely discern in the darkness of the seance room; of how he bought her roses and purchased material for a wedding gown, which Mrs. Moore was to make, and of how at "Sarah's" suggestions he made various payments to Mrs. Moore.

"When 'Sarah' said she wanted $500 for the wayward girls," Seybold testified, "I asked how she, a spirit, could get it to them. She replied that she would materialize, as she did for me. I drew out $500, and at the next seance when I saw illuminated hands held out for the money, I put it into those hands."

The spirits, Seybold testified, made a lot of noise at these seances. There were a number with whom he became acquainted, he said, including "Dr. Greer," a physician, and his own son, who was his "financial adviser." Once, he said, when he complained of ill health, Mrs. Moore summoned a number of ghostly physicians, who prescribed for him. Some of these ghosts were Indians, Seybold said.

WEDDING IN CHURCH IS DENIED PRINCESS

Disparity of Ages of Wilhelm's Sister and Russian Is Decried.

Bonn, Germany, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The Evangelical Presbyterian Church has refused a permit for the use of its building, here for the forthcoming marriage of Princess Victoria Schaumburg-Lippe, 63-year-old sister of the former kaiser, and Alexander Zoubkoff, young Russian refugee.

The church regards the match as "unethical" because of the disparity of ages between the princess and her 27-year-old fiance, while it is understood that former Kaiser William, as chief of the Hohenzollern house, has declined to give his consent to the marriage.

The wedding, which has been announced for November 18, will be a quiet affair at the bride's home. While the couple hope that the marriage can be solemnized on the 18th, technical snags in connection with the publication of the bans make even this date problematical. At the office of the license clerk it was thought that the marriage may be delayed until November 24 as certain papers must be sent to Berlin. Unless these are handled with the utmost dispatch the wedding on November 18 will prove a technical impossibility, they said.

Zoubkoff has been receiving threatening letters daily, but is disregarding these.

SALE OF NEW FORD MODEL ON RENTAL PLAN IS REPORTED

"Drive-Yourself" System Is Said to Be Basis for Novel Idea.

COMPANY WOULD RENEW OLD AUTOS AT PERIODS

$150 Down and $12.50 Monthly to Be Charge; Huge Financing Needed.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Nov. 3.—In introducing his new model to American automobile users, Henry Ford will present a novel financing plan that is expected to create a sensation in the industry rivaling that caused by his announcement a few years ago of the famous "$5 down—$5 a month" plan.

Under the new scheme, to be known as the "club plan," Ford proposes to sell the new model for $150 down and $12.50 a month, the monthly payment being regarded as a service charge and continuing as long as the car is in use. At the end of the year, if the buyer wishes, he may have the car overhauled for a moderate charge or may exchange it for a new automobile.

"Drive Yourself" Idea.

The plan, according to those in the industry who have heard of it, is an adaptation of the "drive yourself" idea, title of the car remaining with the company. Presumably it can be turned back if the user is unable or unwilling to continue monthly payments.

Under the arrangement it is obvious an outright sale is never completed, the monthly service charge of $12.50 virtually amounting to a rental charge that continues indefinitely so long as the car is in service.

Whether outright sales would be made in the customary way at an established price was not indicated, but it was assumed among salesmen for other companies that the "club plan" would be offered as an alternative, suitable for the driver who did not wish to invest a large sum in a car, preferring to pay the monthly maintenance charge.

Plan Held Feasible.

Only Ford's vast resources would permit adoption of such a program, according to Wall street bankers, who were inclined to doubt that such a radical step would be taken by Ford in bidding for new business. The scheme would necessitate keeping an immense amount of capital tied up in cars held by users, although it was pointed out that after a year or two the income from such a source would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars a month.

Whether Ford adopts the idea, it was agreed that no other manufacturer was sufficiently supplied with capital to put the plan into operation. It was believed in trade circles the scheme would have a wide appeal, and if carefully managed, would be feasible.

Indications that new sales ideas were contemplated by the Ford management were seen in the last week or so by important changes in the personnel of leaders in the Ford sales organization.

If the plan works in the case of the new Ford car it is to be extended to Lincolns, it was understood, cash and monthly payments to be proportionately larger. It was indicated the down payment for the Lincoln would be $1,500 and the monthly charge $40.

Blind Wife Divorces Her Sightless Mate

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Charging that her blind husband, a chiropractor, had fallen in love with one of his patients, Mrs. Lucille Rider, who also is blind, today sought a divorce.

The couple married in 1919, culminating a romance at a school for the blind. Mrs. Rider said they lived happily for a while, but that she became suspicious. The husband did not contest the divorce. The custody of their 7-year-old daughter, who is not blind, was divided. As the couple left the courtroom, they said they would have a last dinner together.

College Girls Dance In 30-Cent Dresses

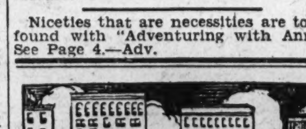

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Just to prove that a college girl can dress on 30 cents if she wants to, a group of young women at Syracuse University did it last night. Costumes at a dance given on the Hill cost each wearer no more than two bits and a nickel, and each girl was fully dressed.

Some of the dresses might not have been exactly suitable for street wear as they were of flimsy material and portrayed peppermint sticks, days of the week and other fantasies.

Arms Merger Planned.

London, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Two big armament and shipbuilding concerns, Vickers, Ltd., and Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., Ltd., have signed a provisional agreement for the Amalgamation of some of their important works and businesses engaged in naval shipbuilding and heavy steel armaments manufacture.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

NO PERSON COMES TO ASK INCOME TAX CUT BY COMMITTEE

This Has Not Happened in Years at Ways and Means Session at Capitol.

GREATER INDIVIDUAL EXEMPTION IS SOUGHT

Woman Demands She Be Questioned on Proposal When Not Queried.

(Associated Press.)

For the first time in years the House ways and means committee devoted practically an entire session yesterday to consideration of the direct tax on individual incomes without a single witness advocating reduction in the levies, although a recommendation was received that the exemption granted single persons should be increased from $1,500 to $3,500.

During the writing of the last two revenue laws the individual income rates, which directly affect the pocketbooks of millions of taxpayers, were the center of debate and yesterday was in marked contrast with the meeting two years ago when the levies were being considered.

The move for increased exemption for single persons was sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, represented by Lena M. Phillips, of New York City; Martha L. Connole, of East St. Louis, Ill., and Cornelia Adair, of Richmond, Va. Their appearance marked the first time in the memory of committee clerks that women had testified before a committee of Congress on revenue matters.

Married People Aided.

Miss Connole argude that the average married man or head of a family now enjoys a 130 per cent better position in the matter of exemptions than during the war and about 71 per cent better than before the war, while the exemption allowed single persons is only one-half of what it was before the war.

The injustice done single persons is emphasized by the fact that the Treasury has each year unnecessarily collected about $600,000,000 over and above the Government's needs, she said.

The witness also held that a number of single persons contribute to the family's support in some way and argued that most of them came within the lower income levels.

About 2,000,000 single persons pay an income tax, Miss Phillips testified, and their average tax does not exceed $2.

Costs More Than Tax Brings.

"It is obvious that it costs more to collect this tax than it brings to the Government," she contnued. "None of what they pay goes into the Federal Treasury and we think that this should be considered in bringing about a more just and fair exemption for this class of taxpayers."

After Miss Connole and Miss Phillips had completed their testimony, the former asked the committee if it had any questions. When none of the members spoke up, Miss Phillips insisted that "we want some questions," and then Miss Connole spoke up to say that if the committee did not ask any quesitons she would feel that no attention would be paid to her testimony.

"We assure you that we won't let you alone if you do that," she warned.

Isaac W. Frank, Pittsburgh, Pa., advocated that all incomes devoted by persons to philanthropic purposes be exempted from taxation.

"At least it would be more just," he said, "to increase the present exemption on charitable donations up to 50 per cent of the income instead of 15 per cent."

Banker Proposes Exemption.

Exemption in personal tax returns for income up to $300 derived as interest or dividends from banks or trust companies was proposed by R. C. Stevenson, South Bend, Ind., of the American Bankers Association. This is allowed in investors in building and loan organizations and C. Clinton James, of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations, said that his organization would not object. But he added it would oppose complete abolition of the exemption now allowed.

Before the committee considered the individual income tax, Clinton T. Roe, Long Island, New York, representing the New York Realty Board, expressed his views on real estate taxes, supporting revision of the present levies.

He was followed by Alfred L. Smith, of New York, representing the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce, who contended that taxes on installment plan sales are now collected twice. This phase was emphasized also by H. H. Cotton, Los Angeles, Calif., in connection with real estate sales.

Hearings on Tax Cut Held Unauthorized

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Criticism of the holding of tax reduction hearings by the ways and means committee of the National House of Representatives and of the proposed holding of hearings by the flood control committee before Congress convenes December 5, was voiced by Representative Zebulon Weaver here today on his return from Washington.

"These committees do not exist," Representative Weaver said. "The Sixty-ninth Congress has passed out of existence and the Seventieth has not yet been organized.

"If it is necessary to take early action on major legislative problems why didn't President Coolidge call Congress into extra session before December 5, so that solution of these problems could be arrived at in a legal manner?

"When Congress convenes its members will be asked to consider with only a few hours debate bills formulated by groups not authorized to draft them."

Mr. Weaver predicted a tax reduction of at least $300,000,000.

Plea for Rediscount Opinion Is Held Up

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mellon declared yesterday that he had refrained from asking the Attorney General for an opinion on the authority of the Federal Reserve Board to reduce the Chicago rediscount rate from 4 to 3½ per cent, which was opposed by the bank.

Although the Chicago Reserve Bank has not withdrawn its request for such an opinion, the Secretary said he understood it had agreed to let the case be held in abeyance. Under the law the Chicago bank can not ask the Attorney General direct for an opinion, because such a request must come through an executive department. Mellon added that so far the conferences of Federal reserve governors and agents and the reserve board had not touched on the Chicago rediscount rates.

Income Tax Law Index Urged by Advisory Group

Baffled Taxpayers Should Be Aided, Congress Committee Told—Consolidation of 64 Offices of Collectors With 36 Offices of Revenue Agents Proposed.

(Associated Press.)

Rearrangement of the income tax law with an index to guide the baffled taxpayers is one of the several widespread recommendations for simplification of the law placed before the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation in a confidential report from its advisory committee.

Other outstanding proposals in the report now under study by the committee are:

A new method for computing the credit allowed on account of earned income.

Consolidation of the 64 offices of collectors of internal revenue with the 36 offices of revenue agents.

Adoption of a new method for preventing evasion of surtaxes by incorporation.

Retention of the present rates and rules governing capital gains and losses.

Abandonment of practice allowing consolidated returns by corporations.

Authorization for release of Federal tax liens on the giving of a surety bond in an amount not more than twice the tax due.

The proposal for revising the present method of computing the earned income credit is the nearest approach to a change in rates in the advisory committee's report.

The present law provides for a tax credit of 25 per cent to the taxpayer on that part of his income which is earned. All incomes of $5,000 and less are considered earned. The credit may be taken only on earned income up to $20,000. The committee said this had caused considerable confusion. It recommended in lieu of the present method the following:

"In computing taxable net income allow a deduction equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the earned net income, subject to maximum and minimum limits equivalent to those fixed by the present act."

Under this system, the committee said, no substantial increase in the tax would be made on any one, while slight decreases would occur generally to the advantage of the married man with dependents. It is estimated about $29,000,000 would be saved taxpayers under this plan instead of about $25,000,000, as now.

Better service would be rendered taxpayers, it is said, by consolidation of the Internal Revenue Bureau field offices with one in each collection district, avoiding the necessity of visiting widely separated offices in connection with the assessment, collection and auditing of his taxes. About $2,000,000 would be saved the government.

The committee found that enforcement of the present law levying a tax of 50 per cent on the net income of a corporation which permits its gains and profits to accumulate for the purpose of preventing the imposition of the surtax upon its stockholders is "obscure and difficult of administration."

It suggested a provision which "will tend to give some incentive to corporations to make reasonable distributions without going to the extent of forcing unwise distributions." The principle was stated as follows:

"Allow the corporation a deduction in computing net income equal to, say, 20 per cent of the excess of dividends paid over dividends received, the deduction in no case to be more than, say, 25 per cent of the corporation's taxable net income before such deduction. In the computation, no account should be taken of stock dividends."

Several reasons were given for retaining, despite the big protest against it, the provision levying a maximum tax of 12½ per cent on capital gains and allowing tax reduction on account of capital net losses at 12½ per cent.

The capital net gains tax produced $109,912,033 more in 1925 than was allowed for capital net losses, the committee said. Also, it said "to eliminate the tax on capital transactions would shift the tax burden from those taking gains to those taking losses."

The proposal to release a tax lien on the giving of a bond is a new suggestion, but the committee argued that "if the taxpayer has no other resources from which to pay the tax, the lien may tend to deter quick collection."

Charles D. Hamel is chairman of the vadisory committee, which also includes Dr. T. S. Adams, A. A. Ballantine, George E. Holmes, George O. May and Dr. Thomas Walker Page.

M'NARY-HAUGEN FORCES SPLIT ON QUESTION OF CANDIDATES

a continuation of that sort of competition, the time will come eventually which finds every public office virtually placed on the auction block and knocked down to the highest bidder. The amount to be used in a campaign and the uses to which it is put constitute an issue that will be a leading one in 1928, of that we may be certain.

Taint-Free Candidate Wanted.

"Let us proceed in any consideration of the selection of presidential candidates with full knowledge that first qualifications demanded of candidates will be for friendliness to thorough farm relief and cleanliness from any taint of past campaign scandals. Let us not overlook the fact that one of our friends, now most prominently mentioned as a candidate, was defeated at Chicago in 1920 because of scandal raised over the use of his money by his friends at attempting to unduly influence the vote of the Miami delegation, in which effort hearings before the committee on privileges and elections disclosed they were caught red-handed."

If the test of a candidate is to lie wholly in his support of the McNary-Haugen bill, Senator Nye said, "let us not lose sight of the fact that there are candidacies of Western men who have not only expressed themselves favorable to this bill but have voted for it.

"Perhaps that is not the whole test of a candidate. If it is not, let us determine then wherein lies the strength of each available candidate. Does he have a ghost of a chance to carry his own State? How important is his own State to eventual success? These are only two of many questions which must be considered by us all."

After naming Lowden as the farm candidate, Representative Dickinson declared: "It will be a sad day for Eastern Republicans when they defeat a well-qualified man for nomination, on the ground that he happens to be a friend of the farmer."

Smith Keen, Says Dickinson.

If the Republican party "continues to disregard the demands of the farming section of the country," he said, and Smith should "personally indorse farm legislation and write his promise into his platform, you would have a repetition of the campaign of 1896, and chaos would reign in both political parties. A keen-minded leader would do this very thing, and Gov. Al Smith is as keen as they make them."

Recalling the slogan of Lincoln supporters in 1860, "Listen or Lose the West," Mr. Dickinson declared:

"The farmer is becoming suspicious of party pledges. He read both platforms in 1924 and they sounded good, and then after election the party leaders forgot all about them. Next year he will be more interested in candidates and their views rather than in platform promises.

"If the leadership of the Republican party stays in the East and the East continues to increase the minority by sending Democrats to the Senate, and insists on nominating its own candidates for the Westerner to vote for, and then upon calling him names when he demands something in his own right, the Western slogan will again be, 'Listen or Lose the West.'

Lowden Declared Popular.

"With Democracy, led by Gov. Al Smith, dividing the votes on religious and wet and dry issues in St. Louis and Kansas City, the Republican candidate must draw the farm vote of Missouri to win. Lowden can do it. With Gov. Al Smith carrying two or more large Eastern States where will the Republican party make up the loss? Only in the border States. What candidate can be selected to insure such results in Kentucky, Tennessee, Maryland, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Nebraska, New Mexico, Nevada and possibly Indiana? Lowden is the only man suggested that can do the trick. His popularity among the rural people is the best guarantee of success. With the Republican and Democratic governors of the Mississippi Valley States agreeing on economic questions, a readjustment of political alignment is in the making. Once the new alignment is made it will dictate the political history of this country for the next half century."

Mr. Dickinson declared there is no "warrant in fact" for statements that "any principle" of the farm relief measure has been abandoned. The St. Paul farm meeting last summer and that at St. Louis a few days ago wholly disprove such statements, he said. The Senate progressive bloc considers these meetings as Lowden maneuvers.

Jardine Proposal Opposed.

Incidentally, both Mr. Dickinson and Senator Nye disapproved Secretary Jardine's latest proposal, published a few days ago. Mr. Dickinson's main objection is that it provides for the same revolving fund, or what he calls a subsidy, instead of the equalization fee, which its supporters contend not only relieves the Government of any financial participation, but also serves as a compulsion to farmers to participate in the cooperative handling of crops.

The compulsory feature is essential, Senator Nye said, discussing the Jardine plan informally.

Adding further confusion to things, Senator Brookhart, of Mr. Dickinson's State, but associated with Senator Nye in the progressive bloc, issued a statement saying no farm relief bill could meet the farmers' problems.

"It will require a railroad bill to consolidate the railroads by condemnation of their stocks and bonds, and to provide for their operation in a little private corporation, earnings of which shall be fixed by law, and with power in Congress to recapture the stock at par."

All of the members of the progressive bloc agree with the senator that railroad rates are one of the West's major problems, but none, so far as known, subscribe to the Iowa senator's plan. Senator Nye has vaguely in mind a congressional resolution directing the Interstate Commerce Commission to pursue a certain method in prescribing Western rates, or something of the kind. Senator Borah is not very optimistic that Congress can do anything about it.

9 ARTICLES APPROVED BY RADIO CONVENTION

Has Been in Session for One Month; May Conclude by November 15.

(Associated Press.)

Exactly one month after its inauguration, the international radio conference had yesterday nine articles of the convention, six general radio regulations and two appendices to the latter, as the sum total of provisions approved for its new international wireless compact. The convention is expected finally to contain about 25 articles, the regulations probably amounting to about 40 articles with seventeen appendices.

All the articles so far approved by the conference in plenary session are general in character and do not contain controversial provisions except one sanctioned in the morning meeting in which rates for shipboard traffic were settled. Under this provision the usual charges for such radiograms would be 60 and 40 French gold centimes a word if originating from land or ship stations, respectively. The American delegation reserved the right not to subscribe to this provision, taking the attitude of having no jurisdiction in private radio operations.

Delegates asserted yesterday that speedier work on the part of the conference as a whole is to be expected in the future since its committees have been working rapidly and soon will have many articles to report to the plenary sessions. The committees' work has so far advanced, it is said, that it should be easily possible to conclude the conference by November 15.

Mall Heating Plant May Serve Triangle

Treasury Department officials said yesterday that the question of whether new Federal buildings in the Mall Triangle would have separate heating plants or whether a single heating plant for all of them would be constructed had not yet been decided.

In case a single plant is decided on, it will be located in the triangle and may supply heat not only for buildings in the triangle, but for those in the projected civic center north of Pennsylvania avenue and other public buildings contemplated for erection south of B street.

Grand Jury Hears Duvall Third Time

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—John L. Duvall, who resigned as Indianapolis mayor last Thursday, was before the Marion County grand jury again today—his third appearance of the week. The grand jury was believed to be continuing its probe of activities of the city council majority faction in connection with its investigation of political corruption charges.

Army Salvage Nets $783,997.

The Army has turned $783,997.87 into the Treasury from salvage sales of waste material and unserviceable property during the last fiscal year; $65,044.55 of this was from the sale of garbage, manure and dead animals. The figures represent net profit, as no funds are expended in connection with salvage.

SMOOT ARGUES TAX CUT SHOULD BE KEPT UNDER $300,000,000

Senator, in Philadelphia Talk, Shows Preference for Mellon Figure.

SPEAKER IS HECKLED; FORCED TO ASK QUIET

Finance Chairman Declares Congress May Exceed the Budget Estimates.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—An outside limit of $300,000,000 tax reduction was set tonight by Senator Smoot, of Utah, chairman of the Senate finance committee, in cautioning against any considerable tampering with the limit of $225,000,000 urged by Secretary Mellon.

No suggestion of the figure by Senator Smoot is taken as indicative that the administration will go that far above the proposal of the Secretary, however, in a compromise with the demands of Democrats for a total cut of $400,000,000 or $500,000,000.

Addressing a meeting of Philadelphia business men, the Utah senator also gave notice that the administration would sanction no revision of the tariff laws at this time nor would it give any consideration for cancellation of the World War debts nor to their revision, even of the pending French debt settlement.

Halted by Disorder.

Some of those in the audience apparently did not take kindly to Senator Smoot's address. There were many interruptions and toward the close of his speech, the Utah senator was forced to stop until quiet was restored.

"I thought I was speaking to a body of business men," said the senator when he resumed. "I really thought you had an interest in the affairs of your Government.

"I beg you to listen. I am vitally interested in reducing taxes. I am giving my heart and my strength to the solution of these problems. The only way that we can get at the problems of our Government is by public discussion so that Congress may understand the wishes of the people."

As for the means of reducing the Federal taxes, the veteran Senate finance chairman did take issue with Mr. Mellon. Although he did not specify in what regard, it is understood he would repeal the automobile levy and some of the remaining war-time excise taxes which the Treasury would retain.

Upholds Mellon Attitude.

"It is possible," he said significantly, "that a reduction of $300,000,000 may prove justifiable by the time the tax bill reaches the Senate. He defended vigorously, however, the estimates on which Secretary Mellon figured a surplus of only $274,000,000 for 1929 and he warned that many of the pending demands for special appropriations might even wipe that out.

"The Secretary," he said, "sets $225,000,000 as the limit with complete knowledge of the present facts. He makes it in contemplation of governmental expenditures upon the basis of the budget and does not take into account additional appropriations which Congress may deem advisable in the coming session. Possibly the Secretary's estimate is extra-conservative; it would not demonstrate sound business judgment if it were otherwise."

Defending the tariff act, Senator Smoot said it yielded more than $600,000,000 revenue last year and at the same time more than 65 per cent of the value of importations represented goods on the free list.

Terms given to France in the pending debt settlement which has not been ratified by either nation were as liberal, he declared, "as the taxpayers of this country would ever approve."

Senator Smoot proposed that those favoring cancellation of the World War debts persuade the present holders of the $10,000,000,000 outstanding Government bonds to give their bonds to the respective debtor nations.

Nevadan Proposed For I. C. C. Position

(Associated Press.)

J. F. Shaughnessy, of Carson City, Nev., was recommended to President Coolidge yesterday by Senator Oddie, of Nevada, for membership on the Interstate Commerce Commission in the event of a Democratic vacancy.

He was for several years on the Nevada State Railroad Commission.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING GIVEN NINE ADVANTAGES

Westinghouse Official Lists Instant Action, Intimacy and Flexibility.

BEST MEANS, HE HOLDS

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Newspapers offer the best means of advertising, J. C. McQuiston, advertising manager of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., said today in a luncheon talk to members of the advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The Westinghouse company, he said, had put all its general advertising funds into newspaper space for the fiscal year.

He listed nine reasons why he considered newspapers the best mediums:

The first, he said, is intimacy—enabling the company to give itself a local identity helpful to salesmen.

Second, flexibility—we can emphasize our products for a given industry in those sections where such industry predominates.

Third, cooperative tie-in advertising with local dealers.

Fourth, reader interest—nearly every worth-while American buys and reads his daily paper.

The fifth advantage he listed as instant action—today's shopping news is responsible for today's selling.

Sixth, telling the public the industry's story; the opportunity to reach the masses with messages of local import and at timely seasons.

Seventh, the advantage of both localizing and nationalizing advertising.

Eighth, provides a method of checking results, for the resultant sale is usually so definitely tied to the appearance of the advertisement as to tell whether the ad has paid its way.

Ninth, securing full support of the sales force.

Progress in Greek Loan Plans Is Seen

(Associated Press.)

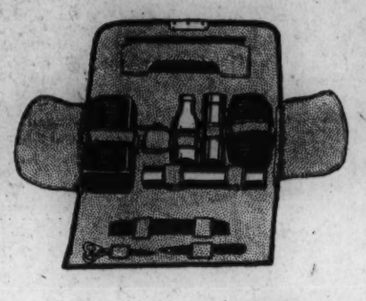

Negotiations between Undersecretary Mills and the Greek Minister for another loan to Greece are "progressing smoothly," it was said yesterday at the Treasury Department.

The Greek government is seeking to obtain an additional loan which it claims will enable it to fund the present $18,750,000 war loan and an additional $15,000,000 credit allowed in 1918.

Adventuring with Anne

If you have begun to think about Xmas—and, in this case, it is none too soon—you should see the framed portraits (sketched) which Underwood & Underwood, 1230 Connecticut avenue, is offering at a holiday price of $25.

The sittings for the portraits are made by their finest artists and a number of proofs submitted, to be printed later on antique vellum paper.

The frames, and there are several styles from which to choose, are of handwrought bronze, delicately chased and finished in antique gold or silver, with velvet easel backs.

Surely you could not find anywhere a lovelier or more personal gift.

The small hat is again in vogue.

Elsie Wiesell, 1639 Connecticut avenue, is showing quite a number of very tight, cap-shaped models (sketched above) featured this season by the Parisian designers; also hats less severe but equally smart with just the suggestion of a brim or tam crown.

There is the warmth and color of an Eastern bazaar in the shop which the Near East Relief has opened at 1334 Connecticut avenue.

Bright bits of pottery for your living room, heavy, hand-drawn linen for your table, laces of finest workmanship, and brilliant, hand-woven silks and embroideries. Rugs from Armenia and Turkey, Syria and Greece, inlaid brass from Palestine and Persian block prints. Carved olive wood and beaten silver.

Go in and see them. And while you are there, ask to be told the story of the Near East Relief and what the sale of these things means to the people who have made them.

Goldheim's, 1409 H street, are emphasizing fine handkerchiefs—some of hand-woven Belfast linen, hemstitched with rolled edge—others of silk, correctly colored.

The beauty of either is enhanced by a monogram—orders for which should be placed before December 1.

And, speaking of monograms, monogrammed pajamas are quite smart. Goldheim's are showing one model (as sketched) of soft, silken material with raglan shoulder, three-quarter length coat with girdle and three patched pockets. The contrasting black-trimmed jacket is emphasized by black trousers.

A colorful and unique tea room is The Venezia, at 1356 Connecticut avenue, under the management of Mrs. Morton Metcalf, with the decorations by Geneveve Hendrich, who, you may remember, installed the decorations in the summer White House.

Beneath the shadow of old Venetian palaces one may lunch or tea—or indulge in an occasional sundae or soda, waited on by gay little Italian peasant girls.

Clear, crisp air, brilliantly colored hillsides and the mountains—eternally lovely. November in the Shenandoah Valley!

Muhlenberg Hall, Woodstock, Va., just three hours by motor, from Washington, offers delightful accomodations for week-end parties or tourists; also weekly or monthly rates. Rooms with or without private bath. Write or wire for reservations.

A man is judged as much by the luggage he carries as by the clothes he wears.

So whether you are going South for the winter or merely planning to spend an occasional week-end with friends, stop at the Williard Shop, 1033 Connecticut avenue, and see the unusually smart bags and suitcases, hat boxes and even trunks which they are now displaying.

"She searched the world for treasure
And found it at her own doorstep."

There is now a little shop called The Loom, at 1361 Connecticut avenue, where you will find, woven on hand looms by Scotch weavers, gowns, suits and coats of such material as might have been produced by peasant hands in "Far Corners."

There is a little green door that leads into a place called Tallyho Tavern, 810 Seventeenth street, where one may order shrimp creole, perhaps, or an occasional lobster bisque from their constantly changing menu and where the coffee is such as Antoine, of New Orleans, himself might envy.

This coffee, by the way, is their own particular blend and may be bought by the pound. Try this and see how clever you are at making it.

For the Littlest Person up to 6 years, there is the Amerita Shop at 1929 Que street. Here one may buy for him—or her—anything from a woolly dog and a silver spoon to a most enchanting suit or frock. The little dress shown here is particularly dainty and exceedingly French.

Do you know the joy of finding a new and attractive place to lunch—or tea—or dine?

The Huguenot, 1359 Connecticut avenue, offers excellent food, delightfully served, and open fires before which to toast one's toes on a chill November day.

The sketch shown here is an exact copy of a sofa displayed at D. S. Pool's, on Eleventh street between G and H streets. A true reproduction of the old English

Colonial, exceedingly graceful as to line and upholstered in buff linen, it will add a charming note of hospitality to your fireside.

There are other things at Pool's which you should see—among them several softly shaded reading lamps, which would make very welcome Christmas gifts.

There is nothing which so makes or mars a room as the rugs you select.

Manoukian Bros., 1341 Connecticut avenue, have a large selection of Oriental rugs, rich in coloring, beautiful in design, which they are always glad to show you. One need not "know" Oriental rugs to appreciate their lasting beauty.

Only on the Rue de la Paix does one see anything remotely resembling the exquisite importations which are to be found at Beaucaire's, 1619 Connecticut avenue. Dresden lamps, incredibly lovely quaint figurines, delicate enamels, fragile Empire glass—any one of which should be a temptation to the discriminating Christmas shopper.

Nealon & Co., Room 202 Barr Bldg., make to order the loveliest frocks for little girls (one of which we have sketched for you); done entirely by hand and in the most exquisite taste. They also carry top clothes for girls to the age of 10 and for boys to the age of 8.

Liberty's, in London, offers nothing more alluring than the smocked frocks (sketch), which can be bought—or ordered at the Mimi Shop, 1728 Connecticut avenue. Dresses for girls up to 14. Suits for boys to 4.

KENTUCKY PARTIES SPLIT AS CAMPAIGN DRAWS TO A CLOSE

Sampson's Advocacy of Free Textbooks Likely to Have Big Result.

SOME HORSEMEN FAVOR OPPONENT OF BETTING

Poll Next Tuesday Looked To With Confidence by Both Candidates.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST,
(Staff Correspondent of The Post.)

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—It is universally agreed that the gubernatorial campaign, which is to end with election day next Tuesday, will split the political parties of this State to a degree hitherto unequalled. The question is not whether a voter is a Republican or a Democrat but whether he or she is for or against race track betting. Consequently there are numerous Republicans who will vote for J. C. W. Beckham, the Democratic nominee, while numerous Democrats will vote for Judge Flem D. Sampson, who heads the Republican ticket. This division of sentiment extends even to families, a conspicuous instance being the fact that although former Gov. Edwin P. Morrow is stumping the State for Sampson, two of his brothers will vote for Beckham. In fact, there are so many eddies in this whirling current of Kentucky politics that it is difficult to determine the direction of the stream.

The situation is not without its humorous side to an impartial observer. Already both sides are preparing to discount the result by predicting what may happen. Kentucky, like ancient Gaul, is divided into three parts—the eastern or mountain region, which is overwhelmingly Republican; the central or Blue Grass country, which is sometimes Democratic and sometimes Republican, and the western or "Pennyr'yall" section, where the Democrats are in supreme control. When the searcher after truth heats the Republicans express the hope that the Democrats will not stuff the ballot boxes in the west, while the Democrats remark that they hope the returns from the mountains will not be delayed until it is known how large a majority is needed to elect the Republican candidate, there is a mental impression that things are not exactly as they ought to be.

Elements of Doubt.

As a matter of fact, Kentucky has not been free from election scandals in the past. Members of both parties admit that there have been elements of doubt in many contests and it was only quite recently that the courts threw out the alleged results of the last mayoralty election and gave the municipal administration to the present incumbents. On the surface, however, every effort is to be made next Tuesday to keep the election on an honest basis.

Already the registration lists of the city have been purged of 51,000 names which had been properly challenged—24,000 Republicans, 21,000 Democrats and 6,000 Independents. In addition to this, a public proclamation has been jointly issued by Mayor J. T. O'Neal and W. J. Harrison, the Republican candidate, urging all citizens regardless of party affiliations to do all in their power to bring about an honest, peaceable and orderly election. This appeal is due to persistent rumors that the feeling engendered by the campaign is so high as to threaten trouble at the polls.

With confidence at concert pitch on both sides and without opportunity to make a canvass of all sections of the State, all that can be done in the way of summarizing the situation is to say that the betting odds slightly favor Beckham and to give the reasons advanced by the Beckham and Sampson adherents for the faith that is in them.

Beckham's Record Strong.

It is urged that the winning factors in Beckham's case are his admittedly fine record as a governor; his high character, his ability as an administrator, and, above all, that he has aroused a fervor in the State by his assertion that "a favored clique has been granted an exclusive privilege to commit a crime."

It must not be supposed, however, that because Beckham has rallied to his support a large proportion of the preachers and the churchgoers, he has, on the other hand, alienated all of the large class of Kentuckians who are interested these exceptions to what try. For instance, E. R. Bradley, the millionaire owner of the magnificent stock farm just outside Lexington, is for Beckham on the ground that the maintenance of present conditions will eventually bring horse racing and horse breeding into disrepute. Phil Chinn, whose name is known among horsemen everywhere, will also support the candidate who is pledged to repeal the pari-mutuel law. All that can be said respecting these exceptions to which seems to be a general rule, is that all signs fail in dry weather, and in Kentucky there has been a long drouth.

Representative Robsion, Sampson's campaign manager, sees nothing in the sky except Sampson's name written in letters a mile high, and he can give innumerable reasons to prove that Sampson is to be elected by a landslide. First and foremost, he contends that the antibetting issue in the campaign has been a failure because the people in the mountains, where Sampson is expected to get the majority which will put him in the governor's chair, have no horses, take no interest in horses, do not care whether anybody bets or not, and would not know a pari-mutuel betting machine if they saw one. On the other hand, he expects Beckham to lose thousands of votes not only among horsemen and race track habitues, but among business men who believe that the abolition of racing in Kentucky would play havoc with them in a financial sense.

In addition to this, Representative Robsion expects that Sampson's advocacy of free text books will prove a vital factor in the campaign, especially among the mountain people. Owing to the fact that Sampson has been this week in the mountain district, 200 miles from Louisville, The Post correspondent has not heard him speak, but reports are to the effect that his plea for the poor and needy scholars is most effectively presented.

May Have Wide Effect.

If it is true, as reported, that the Junior Order of American Mechanics, which is 30,000 strong in this State, had a demand for free textbooks in its platform, it may be that more people will be affected by this issue than will be influenced by a desire to aid the would-be destroyers of race track betting. In addition to this, much help is expected for Sampson from organized labor, from the negroes who have 100,000 votes in the State and have been thoroughly organized, and from the farmers who have been assured of a multiplicity of good roads.

Last but not least Sampson is expected to profit by the antagonism of Gov. Fields and the State administration to Beckham. There are 30,000 voters directly or indirectly engaged in the good roads department of the State government, and on this question Beckham has been conservative, while Sampson has strewn his promises in profusion through each county.

It must be admitted that if all the factors upon which Sampson's managers rely for victory can actually materialize they are too important to be ignored. Beckham may be the favorite in the betting, but on the show-down Sampson can offer logical reasons upon which to base his claim of victory.

Will Rogers Says Dollar Down Rate Is Much Too High

Special to The Washington Post.

Beverly Hills, Calif., Nov. 3.—Bureau of Something or Other in Washington announces that "America has reached the highest standard of living ever reached by any nation." Yes, and if they will just cut down on the original payments we have to make from a dollar to 50 cents we will show you some living.

It's an injustice to ask a hard-working people to pay a dollar down. It should be 50 cents down and 50 cents when they come to try and find it to take it back. Course we don't get meat as often as our forefathers, but we have our peanut butter and radio.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—You wait till Henry Ford's new car comes out. You ain't seen any high living yet.

LEADERS IN PHILIPPINES CONFER WITH COOLIDGE

CRITICIZED BY UNDERHILL

Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, and Senator Sergio Osmena, visiting here with a view to furthering the cause of Filipino independence, were presented to President Coolidge yesterday by Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis. Upon leaving the White House they would not disclose the nature of their discussion.

The White House took occasion to make known, however, that only general conditions in the islands were discussed and that the visitors did not make any recommendation as to a successor of the late Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood as governor general. The question of independence was not touched upon, it was said.

The Filipino leader was represented as expressing the hope that Gen. Wood's successor would be some one with whom he could cooperate.

Representative Underhill, of Massachusetts, who visited the White House after the Filipinos' visit, took occasion to refer to the recent legislative action in the islands liberating all lepers. Only the veto of the American vice governor general prevented their being freed. Underhill said he told the President, apropos of the Filipinos' visit, that the leper incident was a fine commentary on their claim that they now are capable of governing themselves.

Gov. Horace Towner of Porto Rico also was presented to the President by Secretary Davis.

GRAND JURY PRESSES INQUIRY IN OIL CASE

and was directed to a room in which there were several men. He agreed to hire himself and a car for $27 a day.

Blavuet told Burkinshaw that he drove Sinclair to and from the court and to the Metropolitan Club and various other places; that he did take his car to Le Roy place on several occasions.

Changed License Tag.

On at least one occasion, Blavuet said, he changed the license tag on his automobile, but added that no one had told him to do this; that he had acted because he had a private tag on the car and was apprehensive that he might get into difficulty with the authorities.

Reports reached the authorities that on several occasions the same car bearing different license tags on almost each occasion had been seen going into LeRoy place, which is a short street in a fashionable residential section.

Day went before the grand jury again yesterday but again refused to disclose any connection he might have with the principals in the Fall-Sinclair trial. While he claims constitutional immunity in making this refusal, District Attorney Gordon is preparing to take him before Chief Justice McCoy today for determination as to whether he is within his rights.

At the district attorney's office it was stated that Charles G. Ruddy, chief of the Burns operatives, had stated that he made his reports to Day. Ruddy was reticent about the whole affair and at one time cautioned some of his operatives to be careful in talking to newspaper men.

"If you don't talk any more than I am talking you will never get into trouble," retorted one of the operatives.

Eleven Jurors in Conference.

Eleven of the dismissed jury spent more than an hour yesterday in conference with District Attorney Gordon and his assistants, but it was decided to defer until today the calling of them before the grand jury. Some will be questioned then and the others tomorrow.

While the jurors were in the district attorney's office, Ruddy and four of his assistants were called in and lined up for the inspection of the jurors. Some of the jurymen identified one or two as persons they had seen following them about while the trial was going on.

Harry F. Sinclair has left Washington for his home in New York and Fall probably will return today to his ranch at Three Rivers, N. Mex., the sudden enlargement of which back in 1922 furnished the first lead to the long oil investigation.

Counsel for the two defendants and for the Government are to appear today before Justice Siddons to ask for the fixing of a day for a new trial. Late January probably will be selected.

New Manila Mayor Named by Gilmore

Manila, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Thomas Earnshaw, prominent Manila businessman, today was appointed mayor of Manila by Acting Governor General Gilmore. Earnshaw succeeds Miguel Romualdez, who now is on a tour of the world. He is a brother of Manuel Earnshaw, former resident commissioner of the Philippines.

RUMORED NEW COOLIDGE STATEMENT IS SCOUTED

Reports That He Will Amplify "Choose" Result in Calls to White House.

U. S. STEEL IS MENTIONED

(Associated Press.)

Mysterious rumors which have been floating into Washington during the last three days to the general effect that President Coolidge was about to amplify his statement that he did not choose to run in 1928 finally began to penetrate into the White House itself yesterday, but there was no indication that they had any foundation.

The reports have filtered in from New York, Chicago and other populous centers, always with the stipulation that Mr. Coolidge's action would be taken "after the close of the market." Some of those about the White House believed they were circulated in an effort to influence the market, while others contended their purpose was to influence Mr. Coolidge into making another statement.

The rumors gained such wide circulation here that finally they resulted in numerous telephone calls to the White House from business circles and members of Congress. The first report to reach the executive offices was from Wall Street sources, which declared that the President would announce after the closing of the stock market that he would consent to become a candidate after all.

The second report from a similar source said Mr. Coolidge would announce definitely in his Philadelphia speech November 17 before the Union League that he would not accept the nomination if it were tendered him. The third rumor credited the President with an intention of accepting the chairmanship of the United States Steel Corporation's board of directors upon the expiration of his present term.

The reports were conveyed to Mr. Coolidge in the usual way and there the matter dropped.

likewise was greatly unnerved and was at a loss to explain why an attempt should be made to kidnap his son.

Miss Atowes was badly battered about the face and was ordered to bed by the physician. If her condition permits she will be questioned again today by detectives.

Attention recently was attracted to the Kimmel baby when he was photographed in various athletic poses, hanging from a bar by his feet and performing other feats unusual for a baby of his age. His footprints were taken recently by Detective Sergt. Sandberg, headquarters Bertillon expert. A caption in one newspaper referred to him as "the wonder baby."

The investigation is being made by Headquarters Detective Frank Varney and Precinct Detectives Dennis Murphy, of the Tenth Precinct.

Janitor Is Convicted Of Dissection Murder

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Ludwig Lee, a janitor, was convicted by a jury today of the murder of Mrs. Selma Bennett, one of the two Brooklyn women whom he was accused of slaying and dismembering their bodies.

Parts of the bodies were found in bundles scattered around Brooklyn and lower Manhattan.

Prittwitz's Papers To Be Signed Today

Berlin, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Official ratification of the appointment of Dr. Friedrich Wilhelm von Prittwitz-Gaffron as German Ambassador to the United States awaits President von Hindenburg's formal confirmation tomorrow. While the foreign office declined to admit that the American Government's acceptance of Dr. von Prittwitz had been received, it was understood that notification to this effect had arrived from Washington, and that President von Hindenburg's signature would be affixed to the new ambassador's credentials Friday forenoon.

The ambassador, it is said, will return immediately to Rome, where he held the post of counselor of the German Embassy, to wind up his personal affairs and will proceed to Washington at an early date.

WOMAN, WITH HOARD OF $20,000, IS SLAIN

Police Find $14,000 in Her Home; May Have Been Overlooked.

Dubuque, Iowa, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—A search for gold, and for clews which might solve the slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth McKitrick, strangled at her home in Zwingle Wednesday, was initiated here today. The woman was found bound and gagged, and her home gave evidence of a search by some one familiar with the household and habits of the victim, who hoarded her money because she did not believe in banks.

Currency and gold totaling $1,400 was found in the home by officers, who believe she should have about $20,000 more secreted some place. Her wealth was estimated close to $150,000, most of it in farm lands.

Finger-print experts have been summoned from Waterloo. Pending their arrival Sheriff F. J. Kennedy has locked and guarded the room where the body was found.

The community is speculating as to the cause for the crime, other than robbery. Officers say it may be that the woman's slayers found the major portion of her hoard and escaped, believing they had all she possessed.

POLITICAL ILLS LAID TO HOME-RULE LACK

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Picturing Indiana as suffering from a breaking down of government under law, Meredith Nicholson, Hoosier author, told the Wisconsin State Teachers Association today that "the super-government of the Klan and the intimidation of law makers and government executives by the Antisaloon League had brought its inevitable result."

Asserting that "only America can destroy America," Mr. Nicholson viewed the "apathy toward government" and held that maintenance of local units of government—home rule, is essential to the political fabric.

"Much of the political apathy that is now so disturbing to observers of American conditions and tendencies is due to the failure of the small political units to cling to their rights," he continued. "Home rule was a battle cry almost from the beginning of civilization. The abandonment of local rights and duties has resulted in a weakening of the whole political fabric."

45,000 Locked Out in Germany.

Elberfeld, Germany, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The textile manufacturers have declared a total lockout of 45,000 workers. This is their response to a strike in which a large contingent of the Rheinish textile employes participated.

FARMERS DISAGREE.

With all the good will in the world, Congress is very apt to fail in its efforts to devise a practicable method of promoting the welfare of agriculture. The fault lies with the spokesmen of the farmers—that is, if these spokesmen are authentic representatives of agriculture. The conflict of opinion among these spokesmen is such as to make it impossible for any citizen to know exactly what ails agriculture, or to understand what the farmers want.

How can the public and Congress help agriculture when both the disease and the remedy are unknown, and when a hundred alleged "spokesmen" are shouting discordant statements ascribing all kinds of maladies to agriculture, and prescribing all sorts of cures?

Three hundred representatives of agriculture have met at St. Louis and have resolved that the McNary-Haugen bill must be enacted, without alteration. That would be an intelligible position for agriculture to take, and Congress could proceed to deal with the subject on that basis, if it could be shown that the farmers really want the McNary-Haugen bill. But other spokesmen of the farmers are equally emphatic in declaring that the McNary-Haugen bill is unsatisfactory and inadequate. Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, is one of these spokesmen. He has given out a statement in which he contends that the McNary-Haugen bill will not meet the situation. He insists that railroad rates are at the bottom of the farmer's troubles. He proposes to introduce a bill to force consolidation of the railroads and to place them in control of a small corporation, with power to reduce rates on agricultural products and to eliminate alleged discrimination against the farmers.

Senator Borah gave notice in the closing days of a recent session that no more legislation should pass unless farm relief were granted. He is regarded in some quarters as an eloquent spokesman for agriculture, but the St. Louis delegates denounced him and others, including President Coolidge, Senator Fess, Senator Reed of Missouri, Senator Bruce and Secretary Mellon.

The political outgivings of the St. Louis conference indicate that it was composed of politicians, and not farmers, and that the purpose of the conference was not to help the farmers, but to help Gov. Lowden to capture the nomination for the Presidency. Of course, this inference will be denied by the delegates, and some strength will be given to the disavowal by the fact that Democrats as well as Republicans participated in the conference. Very well; let it go at that. Let the hideous suggestion be withdrawn. Let it be admitted that the St. Louis delegates were farmers, first, last, and all the time, and not politicians in any sense. In that case they did their cause more harm than good by dabbling in politics.

What is the matter with the farmers of the United States that they are unable to deliver an intelligible message to their fellow citizens? Can it be that there is no farm disease at all, and that the hubbub is raised by politicians masked as farmers? Or is the farm malady so bad that it has distracted the farmers and caused them to resolve to disagree among themselves, at any cost?

What about this, Senator Capper? What about it, Senator Curtis?

PHILADELPHIA'S CAMPAIGN.

The voice in the wilderness asking for ways in which to increase public interest in politics is sure to obtain prolific response. Suggestions, serious and comic, are forthcoming, but one that appears novel at least and seems to be highly effective is to bring about the entry of football coaches into politics. The experiment is being tried in Philadelphia. "Bill" Roper, of Princeton, is Councilman W. W. Roper, of Philadelphia, and in the latter capacity he is a candidate for reelection in the municipal contest that will be concluded next week.

Time was when Mr. Roper was an independent. He was, in fact, about the only elected officer of that party in Philadelphia. In council he was his own party, and voted and acted as his fancy dictated. This fall there are other independents in the field, and Mr. Roper, probably disturbed by so much company, has gone into the organization fold. The recriminations and accusations in which Mr. Roper and his political enemies are engaging are spicy, and ought to add considerably to the entertainment of Philadelphia voters.

Such descriptive terms as "misfits," "four-flushers," "blatherskites," "windjammers," "snippers," "snipers" and "snoopers" have been exchanged during most of the campaign, but the really fervid oratory appears to be just beginning, with Mayor Kendrick on the one side and Mr. Roper on the other. In the course of a recent address Mr. Roper referred to Mayor Kendrick as a "jellyfish." In reply Mr. Roper was characterized as a "big nothing" and a "muckraker." This is a pretty fair start that promises an even warmer ending. As long as Mr. Roper remembers that he is speaking as a candidate for council it may be safe for Philadelphians to listen-in on the exchange, but if he should forget his dual character and become "Bill" Roper, Princeton coach, on the stump there should be real fireworks. A man who has devoted a decade or more to gridiron instruction ought to have a command of sulphurous language that a mere mayor might envy, but certainly can not hope to equal.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEES.

Volunteer vigilante associations have proved to be one of the most effective means ever devised with which to combat crime in sparsely settled regions. In Iowa, for instance, several years ago a number of men were picked to serve under the sheriff whenever emergencies should arise. Today this vigilante organization has a membership of 3,900 well-rganized and courageous men, every one a sharpshooter. In 1920 there occurred in Iowa 56 violent crimes, resulting in a total loss of $258,000. In 1924, with the vigilantes functioning, but four similar crimes were committed, resulting in a loss of $2,600. As a result insurance rates against bank robberies dropped to the minimum of $1 per thousand, whereas in nearby States rates were increased.

James E. Baum, deputy manager of the American Bankers Association, in a speech delivered before the national conference on the reduction of crime now in session in this city, advocated an extension of the vigilante system to urban territory. In large cities, he said, the plan never has been given a fair trial. It is feasible, however, provided business men will cooperate and be prepared to answer instantly a call of alarm.

If the vigilante plan can be extended to the cities no time should be lost in doing so. It has been demonstrated time and again in small towns that an organization of men prepared to shoot on sight discourages criminals far better than any other known means. In a small town the banker is known by every one in the community, and a bank robbery is an attack upon the town. The city man does not feel this way about crime, unless it concerns him personally, and it is probable that an urban vigilante association would be at best a half-hearted affair.

However, the idea is well worth a trial. Possibly, if the national conference on crime prevention would get behind it, the organization of urban vigilante associations could be effected. The community in which there is known to exist an organization of citizens fully armed and ready to shoot would be avoided by criminals. It is a primitive method of enforcing the law, but conditions being what they are today, it is justified.

UTILIZING HYPNOTISM.

The use of hypnotism as a substitute for anesthetics in a surgery case, as reported in press dispatches from Chicago, doubtless will revive a discussion in the medical profession that has raged at various times during the last 75 years. Hypnotic suggestion often has been used by physicians as a successful means of relieving pain and soothing nerves that have become jangled and out of tune, but instances of its application in the case of a major operation have been rare.

One of Chicago's well-known surgeons induced unconsciousness by hypnosis in a patient about to go under the knife for the removal of adhesions in the abdomen. The operation was performed in the presence of a number of the leading surgeons of the city, who vouched for its success. The patient felt no pain, and was under the hypnotic spell for one hour, although she imagined she had been asleep for a brief five minutes. Practitioners agree that patients frequently unconsciously resist anesthetics, but in the case in question there was complete relaxation.

Surgery may be on the eve of a great step forward. There are many instances where life might have been saved had the patient's heart been able to withstand the effects of the ether so essential, under existing practice, in deadening all sense of pain. Dr. Alfred P. Solomon, who performed this operation under such unusual circumstances, yet may be able to hold out the ray of hope to those who, suffering from some seemingly deadly malady, dare not submit themselves to an operation under ether. If he does this another name will be enrolled in the list of the world's benefactors.

Hypnotism has played an equally important part in judicial history. In a recent case in Berlin it was utilized in efforts to detect the perpetrators of a crime. The housekeeper of a distinguished German professor was arrested for his murder over a year ago, under circumstances that have completely baffled the police. The housekeeper steadfastly denied any knowledge of the crime, and no evidence having been discovered against her, she was released from arrest and surveillance. To relieve herself of the suspicion fastened upon her the woman demanded that she be hypnotized and again examined. Under that influence she told practically the same story, although severely cross-examined. Her mind, however, seemed to concentrate better on details concerning the things she had disclosed when in her normal state. The theory in criminology is that a person under the influence of hypnotism will always tell the truth. There might be a marked improvement in the prosecution of criminal cases in this country if the "third degree" were abandoned and hypnotism substituted.

THE BOYS CLUB.

There are 1,270 Washington boys enrolled in the Boys Club. It draws within its walls hundreds of youngsters who previously had no place in which to gather except the streets and vacant lots. It is the nature of the man-child to be gregarious. No one ever saw a single healthy young American willing to flock by himself. He joins a club or a gang every time. Clubs, when properly conducted, bring out all the best traits in the boy.

The Washington Boys Club has grown to be an "institution" famed for its success in the upbuilding of manly traits and in developing the natural talents of its members. Not only has the love of sports been diligently fostered, but trades are taught, respect for the laws is inculcated, and everything possible is done to make good citizens.

At present the club is quartered in an old house, 230 C street northwest. Formerly a very attractive residence, the ravages of time have brought dilapidation beyond possibility of repair. The adjoining "gym," however, is modern in every sense. The boys need a new home, and a drive is on for the necessary funds. President Coolidge was the first to respond to the call with his personal check toward the $125,000 that is required for the completion of the new building and the budget needs of the next two years.

The directors of the campaign for the building fund and the budget requirements are Frank R. Jelleff, Roy L. Newhouser, William L. Radcliffe, J. Phillip Herrmann, who is the treasurer; Francis V. Thompson, Maurice Judd and Frank Romer. The general committee contains the names of more than 50 of Washington's foremost citizens. All classes and all sects are interested in this movement. The subscription office is on the second floor of the National Press Building. The boy spirit that is in every man tells him what to do. C'mon!

PUBLIC UTILITIES.

Senator Norris is firmly fixed in the opinion that public utilities, such as power plants, should be operated by public officials in the interest of the public. In this regard the senator is of one mind with Interstate Commerce Commissioner Eastman, who was recently quoted in extenso as favoring "under certain conditions" governmental operation of the railroads. There may be other men, prominent in public life, who as firmly believe in public ownership and public operation of transportation lines, power plants and similar public utilities. On the other hand, there are others, well qualified to speak on the subject, who differ radically and emphatically with the views of Messrs Norris, Eastman and all other advocates of public ownership.

The annual convention of Public Service Commissioners of America was held in Dallas last month. The commissioners, by virtue of their knowledge of public utilities and their operation, may be regarded as competent to judge of the advantages or otherwise of governmental operation of utilities. These excerpts from the report of the convention might be pondered with profit:

> The losses due to extravagance, inefficiency and questionable methods of public operation of utilities are enormous. The best service is rendered when there is hope of reward and profits * * * the reward of labor is generally less in public employ * * * management and supervision are found to suffer with public administration. The low rates sometimes charged by publicly operated plants are not always due to low cost of production, but because upkeep and other costs are shifted from the consumer to the taxpayer. Often the bookkeeping methods of public plants fail to give the true results.

ONTARIO'S EXPERIMENT.

Following the entry of Canada into the World War most of the provinces of the Dominion enacted laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicants. Later Quebec took over the distribution of liquors as a provincial function. Quebec for several years was the only province in which the sale of alcoholic beverages was permitted. But subsequently others followed the lead of Quebec and six months ago Ontario reached the conclusion that regulation of the traffic might be made effective, while absolute prohibition is impossible.

The chairman of the Liquor Board of Ontario is D. B. Hanna. In commenting on the results that have followed the entry of the province into the business of liquor selling, Mr. Hanna says that prior to six months ago bootleggers flourished on all sides; that drug stores became little better than saloons; that illicit dealers in liquor were becoming a powerful and corrupting influence politically, and that otherwise law-abiding citizens regarded the law with contempt.

Now these same citizens are actively assisting the attempt to drive out the bootleggers and in closing the drug store saloons. There has been no increase in arrests for drunkenness, in spite of the fact that Ontario was visited during the summer by more foreign tourists than ever before in its history. The financial returns have been satisfactory.

Aside from the important fact that the profits of the liquor business have been diverted from the outlaw to the treasury of the province, public opinion, which was overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition a few years ago, has switched and today is at least equally favorable to the policy of government regulation and control.

If the provincial law should ever become unpopular with a majority of the electorate it can be amended or repealed in one session of parliament.

THE NEW YORK TUNNELS.

The problem of supplying the New York market has long been one of the most difficult that transportation agencies have faced. Restricted space within the city prevented the erection of huge freight terminals. The rivers which surround Manhattan Island limited actual and constant touch between the rest of the country and the metropolis. Conditions within the city worked against distribution. All of these considerations formed part of the movement that led to the construction of the New Jersey vehicular tunnels.

This great engineering improvement is ready to be placed at the disposal of the public, but doubts are arising as to its value unless it is sanely managed. It was thought that the opening of the tunnel would place New York City in direct touch with the rail terminals in Jersey City, Hoboken, Weehawken and other Jersey communities. It was estimated that with the tunnels in operation it would not only be possible to handle more business than all of the existing ferries combined, but that there would be no delays due to fog and other river conditions which have handicapped business men and residents of New York in the past.

All this would be true if it were not for the fact that the State officials in charge of the tunnels appear to be anxious to get back their investment in too great a hurry. The proposed charges for the use of the tube under the river are far above those on the ferries. The fee, which it is proposed to charge buses, would, it is said, result in a loss even if these vehicles were operated at capacity on every trip. Pleasure cars alone will be allowed a rate comparable to that charged on the ferries. The fundamental reason for building the tunnels was not to provide a means of travel for week-end motorists, but to advance commerce and trade in and out of New York. If that purpose is forgotten the tunnels will lose much of their usefulness.

The discrepancy in tax reduction estimates is due to the fact that some men use arithmetic and others votes to arrive at the answer.

The Soviet government, in seeking admission to the arms parley, is probably looking for information on how not to disarm.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Navy Yard Inefficiency.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: On our annual Navy Day all hands cheer for the biggest and best Navy in the world. The ships and the men who run them, the blue jackets and the Marines, all are entitled to our genuine praise. The Navy on land is the most incompetent branch of our Government service. The whole history of the management of navy yards, repairs, dry docks, ranges from puerile to putrid. A few years ago I had occasion to make a complete study of dry-dock building in the United States. Every dock built by the Government was a miserable failure of construction. Waste of time and money was appalling. And, with all their experience before them, the engineers responsible for the latest built docks made the worst blunders.

The revolving service of the Navy is the direct cause of the trouble. The custom of antiquity when men were quartered on sailing frigates, with odors of bilge water, boiling tar, and long distance from home, warranted a shift from sea to shore duty. No such condition exists today. An admiral lives in luxury aboard ship. Rarely five days from port, excellent service at hand, freed from the terrors of the Volstead act, he may partake of hospitality ungoverned by statute.

Why take this man from the deck of a ship and put him on land, where he is a stranger to the work to be done.

The management of a navy yard, repairs and construction, is distinctly a civilian's job. The experience of the past teaches that a naval officer should never be permitted to engage in construction work on land. Indeed, he should not be expected to know that side of life.

When steam power became an auxiliary of sail in the Navy, the tradition is that many of the old captains objected to having the chief engineer sit at the same mess table with other officers.

Men don't like to have their weaknesses exposed. A peculiar feature of our political life, men temporarily in charge of the Government, don't like to have its defects pointed out by any one outside the administration.

If the administration discovers a defect in the service, that is cause for joy. If an outsider explains the defect, it is suspected of being a harsh criticism. Secretary Wilbur will do well to look into the history of navy yard management and dry docks from Brooklyn to Pearl Harbor.

Nordic Christianity.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: The Post of this morning carries a news item to the effect that the Six Nations (Indian) had decided to abandon Christianity and to return to the religion of their forefathers. Herein consists the close of the most lamentable chapter in the story of the contact of Christianity with the nonwhite races of men.

As we look over the face of the world, we find no convincing instance where the gospel of Jesus has made any enduring conquest outside of the pale of the white race. This is most especially true of its Protestant form, which is practically confined to the Nordic blood. Although constant missionary endeavor has been exerted to evangelize the red man since Columbus first planted his Catholic Cross in the virgin soil of the New World, yet today, as of yore: Lo! the poor Indian seeks some far-off happy land, "where no thieves torment, no Christians thirst for gold."

The effort to evangelize the heathen, as conducted by the Nordic with his intolerant racial arrogance and exclusiveness, is being repudiated in China, India, Japan, and even in Africa and the scattered isles of the sea. The Afro-American who embraced Christianity wholesale is becoming offended almost to the point of apostasy, because of the unchristian conduct of white Christians.

As the reflective student reads of the resolution of these unsophisticated Indian tribes, queries of far-reaching import arise in his mind: Is Christianity to be confined to the white race and is Protestantism to be limited to the Nordic? Does this virile variety of the human family embody the basic essentials of Christianity, which consists in meekness, long suffering, nonresentfulness, tolerance, and forgiveness of spirit? Or has it merely organized the dynamic factors and thus made itself master of the world?

Is the religion of the lowly Nazarene adaptable to the needs of all kinds and conditions of men? Or can it be exemplified only by the strong and mighty?

Is Christianity destined to rise above and transcend demarcations of race and color? Or can Christianity be reconciled with caste of race? Is the intolerant and predominant Nordic who now dominates the Caucasian race, which, in turn, now dominates the world, the proper earthen vessel to contain and propagate the heavenly treasure of Christianity? Or will this holy prerogative fall upon some less proud and haughty race which this Nordic overlord now holds in despite?

Is Christianity to be the universal religion of mankind? If so, who is to universalize it, now that the Nordic seems to have failed?

Writer Complimented.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Having enjoyed the stories about the elephant contest which have been running in your paper for several weeks so immensely, I thought it the part of honesty to write and tell you that your contest editor should be commended for the amusing little stories he has been concocting daily. It must be a terribly hard matter to think up a new idea for each day, and his ingenuity is really commendable. With such a dry subject he has succeeded in creating a short tale of interest each day.

Please extend him my thanks for several hours of enjoyable reading.

Is Hegenberger Married?

Saying "No"

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN Chauncey M. Depew was asked to give his recipe for a long and happy life he said, "Don't sign any notes."

It was sage advice, but there comes a time in the life of almost every man whose signature is worth anything when he must sign a note or lend money outright or say "No."

Saying "No" is very difficult, for the one who asks the favor is a friend. Fortunately, there is a way to say it easily, if the friend has a habit of imposing on good nature. You can express a desire to sleep over the matter, and then, discretion being the better part of valor, you can write your answer and deliver it by mail or messenger.

To the one who asks you to sign a note with him you can say, "I assume that you have every intention of paying this note yourself and would make any sacrifice rather than leave me to hold the bag. That being true, you are requesting my signature only because the bank requires it. You are willing to protect the bank against loss, and willing to use me for that protection. Surely, then, you will be willing to afford me equal protection. You wish to borrow one hundred dollars. I know you have personal property worth that much. Just give me a mortgage on what you possess, or place it in my hands as a pledge, and I'll be glad to assume the role of guarantor for the bank."

If he isn't willing to do that you can refuse the favor with a clear conscience.

If he is a chronic borrower and seldom is able to pay back what he borrows you can say to him: "You ask me to lend you fifty dollars. You know that in all probability you never will repay it. You know that I will feel offended if you do not pay it, and that you, feeling ashamed, will dodge me forever after. In other words, the loan will end our friendship. That means you value our friendship at fifty dollars. You are willing to sell it at that price. Well, old man, if that is all our friendship is worth it isn't sufficient collateral for a loan and I can't afford to spend any money to perpetuate a friendship of so little value."

If you must lend money to friends or relatives just give it outright. That way you can at least enjoy feeling generous instead of feeling imposed upon and defrauded.

If the streets of heaven are of pure gold it is safe to assume the paving wasn't done by contract.

"The verge of war" is where statesmen now stand and cuss impotently because cannon fodder won't get excited.

Man isn't the only one whose hereafter is uncertain. A cotton seed never knows whether it will be hog lard or olive oil.

PRESS COMMENT.

The Good Old Days.

Colorado Springs Gazette: In Bible times the swine full of devils ran over a cliff instead of a pedestrian.

Horrible Thought.

Indianapolis Star: The chief danger is that some member of Congress will try to equal Mustapha Kemal's seven-day speech.

A Bigger Need.

Cincinnati Enquirer: There is a rumor the muff is coming back this winter, but we'll bet there are a lot of girls who wish it was woolen leggings instead.

China's Battle Field.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Lack of war news from China leads us to suppose that what fighting is being done takes place in those parts of China the foreigners allow the Chinese to use.

Bring on Fuller.

Topeka Capital: Massachusetts, which now has its first President since John Quincy Adams just a century ago, has a candidate for Vice President in Gov. Fuller. If he is elected the country may save a little money. When in Congress and as governor Gov. Fuller has refused to accept any salary.

Tags for Children.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle: Cleveland is considering a plan whereby all school children will be provided with metal tags similar to those worn by the soldiers in the World War, for purposes of identification in case of accident or getting lost. It looks like a good idea, one that might be followed by other cities.

Tough on Diplomats.

Atchison Globe: Mexico's hailing of Ambassador Morrow should make all diplomats ashamed of themselves. Mexico sees in the new American representative to that country a chance to patch up difficulties, because he is not a diplomat. But, of course, the diplomats will not feel ashamed. They will go right ahead muddying up the waters.

Explaining a Death Rate.

Louisville Courier Journal: An increase in the death rate among young, unmarried women between the ages of 18 to 27 in England is variously ascribed to cigarettes, scanty clothing and competition with men in business, without any data in the vital statistics to indicate the habits, apparel or occupation of those who succumbed. It might be pertinent that there are enormously more young unmarried women in England since the war.

Detroit vs. Chicago.

Los Angeles Times: Looks as if Chicago would have to pass its bloody crown to Detroit. The reputation of the Illinois city as an arena of homicide and slaughter has been gained under false pretenses. According to police statistics, Detroit had 225 murders last year, which is twice as many as were bumped off violently in Chicago. Up to the first of the present month there had been 94 illicit killings in Detroit and only 55 in Chicago. Unless Chicago is in position to annex Herrin she will soon be outclassed as a center of murderous devastation. There is more shooting in Chicago but it is not as accurate as in Detroit. The score in the Michigan metropolis is almost as heavy as in New York, although the latter city is four times as vast in population. Those who would seek the sanguinary capital of the Nation must cast their eyes toward Michigan.

THE ENLARGED HOSIERY SERVICE

New Sports Hosiery Section
One of the divisions of our Enlarged Hosiery Section—where one finds Morley (English) hosiery, W & L French imports, net lisle hose, Jacquard-patterned wool, silk-and-wool and rayon-and-wool hose, short, cuffed sports socks and fine lisle hosiery.

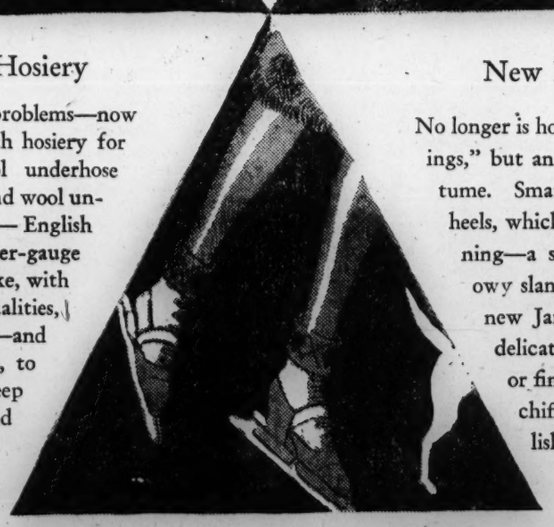

New Jane Wandl and Granite Section
Adjoining the Women's Shoe Section, third floor—offers better facilities for matching shoes—and carries Jane Wandl and Granite hose, exclusive with us, famous for fine quality and shaping and the garter blocks which prevent so many needless runs. Also finer grades of hosiery for evening wear.

Best Fashion Makers
You will find the best fashion hosiery makers have contributed their finest to make our Hosiery Section exceptionally fine in merchandise. Exclusive Jane Wandl, Granite, McCallum, Gordon, Onyx, Pointex, Morley and W & L French imports offer you the finest.

Newly Enlarged Hosiery Service
Our newly enlarged Hosiery Service on the first and third floors is now arranged to better serve you and offers better facilities for your comfort and ease in selecting hosiery. You will find our famous and exclusive Granite hosiery—the popular Pointex hosiery—sports hose and our other fine makes so grouped to make hosiery shopping a real pleasure. Some of the many attractive features of our rearranged section are suggested here and a few of the many smart hose are illustrated.
Hosiery Section. First and Third Floors.

New Onyx Pointex Section
The new Onyx Pointex Section—a division of our Enlarged Hosiery Service—offers a complete line of sizes, styles and new shades in the popular Pointex hose—with the famous slenderizing pointed heel. In all-silk chiffon and service weights, medium and service weights with lisle tops.

New Types of Hosiery
There have been hosiery problems—now solved—in new long-length hosiery for tall people—French wool underhose for chilly, wintry days—and wool underhose, in extra sizes—English sleeping socks—new finer-gauge service hose in Granite make, with just as long wearing-qualities, but a finer appearance—and short, cuffed sports socks, to wear over silk hose to keep one warm for skating and other sports this winter.

New Fashion Notes
No longer is hosiery just a "pair of stockings," but an essential part of the costume. Smartness concentrates in the heels, which may be metallic for evening—a slenderizing Vee—a shadowy slanteel heel—a slim point—a new Jane Wandl narrow heel—a delicately etched Fleur de Lys—or fine open clocks may dart up chiffon-sheer hosiery—and net lisle "goes in for sports."

SENTIMENT cannot be purchased on the open market. It must be reflected in something that is regal in luxury and exclusive in its individuality.
INDIVIDUALITY
THIS idea of sentiment is carefully preserved in every piece, wherever it is possible to embrace regal luxury and utility with exclusive individuality. From the richest, most expensive gem creation down to the simpler, but useful, art pieces and ornaments—Whitmore's have ever aimed to produce individuality.
This attitude has been appreciated for a long time by Washington's most discriminating patronage—Whitmore's patronage. You, too, will appreciate it.
At this time our stock is more complete than ever—cases and counters resplendent with gift suggestions of the more exclusive kind. We suggest your visit without a feeling of obligation of any nature.

NEW WATER SUPPLY GIVEN ARLINGTON AS RAINSTORM BREAKS

Celebration of Tapping Dalecarlia Reservoir Ended Without Speeches.

FIRE CHIEF, IN HIP BOOTS, SETS OFF FIREWORKS

Silver Cups Are Awarded as Prizes for Best Floats Entered in Civic Parade.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With one of the largest parades ever staged by the citizens of Arlington County, the turning on of water into the county from Dalecarlia Reservoir was celebrated yesterday. The parade from Peace Monument at 12 o'clock, passing along Pennsylvania avenue, entered the county from the Highway Bridge, headed by Washington police. The parade passed through all sections of the county, reaching the athletic field two hours later.

Arriving there the Ballston Band played while hundreds flocked around the tables enjoying the barbecue until the storm broke and in a downpour of rain more than 5,000 persons, who were out to aid in the celebration, were forced to seek shelter.

Owing to the storm, the program was ended for the afternoon, it being impossible to have any speaking.

Determined that the rain should not stop the evening program, it started at 7 o'clock with the fireworks in a heavy downpour of rain. C. C. Donaldson, president of the Cherrydale Fire Department, assisted by Jack Spates, chief of the department, in hip boots and rubber coats, fired off the display while hundreds looked on from closed automobiles.

Following the fireworks the costume dance was held in the garage of the Washington-Maryland-Virgina Coach Co. in Lyon Village. The building was decorated with hundreds of colored lights, cut flowers and ribbons.

Representative R. Walton Moore and John R. Saunders, attorney general of Virginia, who were to have been principal speakers in the afternoon, were present.

General Chairman Walter U. Varney at the opening of the dance announced as the prize winners in the parade the following: For the best school float, James Monroe School, first; Woodrow Wilson School, second; best decorated fire chief car, Cherrydale, first; Potomac, second; best commercial float, Arlington County Master Plumbers Association, first; Arlington Dairy, second; best civic association float, Lyon Park Citizens Association, first; Arlington County Civic Federation, second; best decorated private automobile, R. C. Ballenger, first; Thomas J. Crack, second; best semipublic float, Arlington County Health Department, first; Arlington County Chapter American Red Cross, second.

The awards were silver loving cups given by the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce and H. Harris & Co., of Washington. The judges were Dr. Edward McCarthy, C. W. Fitch and Judge Harry R. Thomas.

informed of progress and, finally, of the result.

London advices forecast possible British intervention through diplomatic pressure to prevent execution of the contract, under express stipulations of a treaty in force between Great Britain and Abyssinia, it was said, no such agreement could be made, and, moreover, construction of a similar engineering contract had been under discussion between the British and Ethipoian governments for some time.

Asked specifically today whether the British government had been advised of negotiations here, Dr. Yuttner replied in the negative. So far as he knew, he said, the Abyssinian government regarded the matter as entirely its own affair, holding there was no inhibition, either through treaty or other media, to award of the contract wherever the country's interests might be best served.

Woman Hurt By Taxicab.

After the taxicab he was operating had knocked down and critically injured Mrs. Mary E. Lattin, 54 years old, 727 Fern street northwest, police of the Tenth Precinct arrested Victor Leese, 106 Second street northwest, and charged him with reckless driving. The accident occurred at Georgia avenue and Rock Creek Church road northwest. Mrs. Lattin was taken to Garfield Hospital and treated for a fractured collar bone, four broken ribs, possible internal injuries and shock.

Study Lays Majority Of Crimes to Bachelors

Bachelors are much more likely to commit crime than married men, according to a report read at the National Crime Commission conference last night by Solon Rose, of the Detroit Bureau of Government Research.

A study of the cases of 200,000 prisoners arrested over a seven-year period, Rose said, showed that the arrest rate for single men was three times that of the rate for married men.

The number of single men arrested for vagrancy was eleven times greater than the number of married men arrested on that charge; the number for robbery six times greater; the number for intoxication three times greater; the number for gambling, disorderly conduct and petit larceny three times greater, and the number for immorality two and a half times greater.

U. S. CLEARING HOUSE IS URGED FOR CRIME

court from being enlightening and clarifying. It should obviate the camouflage that is so often created in a courtroom by the skill and histrionic ability of the counsel.

"We must trust somebody in the supervision of the trial, and that somebody must be and should be the judge. The procedure and rules of evidence should not be such that the lawyers can weave a web to trip the trial judge, which an upper court by reason of technical rules would have to set aside. Neither the English judges nor the judges of the Federal court are restricted in the aid which they can give the jury to enable it to understand the real issues and to weigh evidence intelligently."

The truth is, he said, that the American people in many States have distrusted the judges and preferred to let the juries wander about through a "wilderness of evidence" that often leads to a defeat of justice.

Would Cut Jury Exemptions.

After denouncing the methods whereby jurors of weak intelligence and little experience are selected, the Chief Justice continued:

"Exemptions from jury service ought to be cut down, and society ought to be able to secure a jury that approaches the issues with a sense of its obligation to enforce the law without fear or favor, and with intelligence enough to learn from the judge what the law is and to weigh the evidence with reference to its violation."

At the afternoon session Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, prominent psychiatrist of Massachusetts, told of the law in that State which requires an unprejudiced mental examination of certain accused persons before they are tried. As the result of this examination, he said, many mental defectives are placed in hospitals instead of in prisons, and both they and the public are benefitted. There is a possibility, he said, that the prisoner will be cured; if he can not be cured, he is kept at the hospital for life, if necessary. If this were not done, he said, the mentally defective prisoner might serve a term in prison and then go out and commit more violence. The Massachusetts system, he said, has virtually done away with conflicting testimony by opposing mental experts.

Frankwood E. Williams, medical director, of the national committee for mental hygiene, told of the great aid that the psychiatrist can give the judge.

Antagonism Between Professions.

Dr. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, who presided over the session, declared there exists a veiled antagonism between lawyers and medical men where insane patients are concerned.

Judge Andrew Bruce, of Northwestern University, who spoke for the legal profession, declared the psychiatrist and the lawyer are getting together on this subject more and more every day.

He expressed the hope, though, that the psychiatrists of the country would bring about some sort of uniform definition of mental diseases. In Massachusetts, he said, a man with dementia praecox is regarded as being "plumb, plain crazy," but in Illinois this is far from the case.

Armistice Day Plans Of Negroes Perfected

Plans for Armistice Day celebration under auspices of the National Memorial Association were perfected last night by the executive committee of that organization at 923 R street northwest. Colored patriotic organizations and service men will participate in a meeting on the night of November 11 at the Nineteenth Street Baptist Church.

Col. James A. Moss and Dr. Charles S. Morris indicated to the committee their intention to be present and speak. Ferdinand D. Lee was placed in general charge of arrangements.

BOY, BRANDED "YELLOW," HERO-MEDAL RECIPIENT

Enforced School Fights Not to Be Tolerated, Says New York Superintendent.

LAD'S MOTHER TO SUE

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The activities of principals of New York public schools who "enforced discipline" by compelling pupils to engage in boxing matches will not be tolerated, William J. O'Shea, superintendent of schools, declared today.

O'Shea's statement was made when he ordered an immediate investigation into the report that William M. Rainey, principal of Public School, No. 9, Brooklyn, forced Ralph Esposito, 15, to engage in a boxing bout with another pupil against Esposito's wishes.

Principal Rainey appeared in court yesterday on a disorderly conduct charge filed by the Esposito boy. The boy charged that Rainey had called him "yellow" and threatened to send for his mother unless he entered the ring with another boy. The charge was dismissed by the police magistrate. The lad's mother has announced that she will file a damage suit against the principal.

In defense of his action Rainey said today:

"This boxing game of mine has worked out beautifully. It has cleaned up some of the old-time tough gangs, too. I give them boxing gloves and send them into the ring, two by two, to pound each other."

Refuting the principal's charge that he was "yellow," the Esposito lad today proudly exhibited a medal for heroism, awarded him by the hero commission of St. Louis, Mo., two years ago for having saved the life of one of his playmates.

SCHOOLS ARE DELUGED WITH STRANGE GIFTS

Fertilizer and Speedographs Accepted by Board—Matting Offer Refused.

Army blankets, pillow cases, eraser cleaners, "speedographs," and even an allotment of fertilizer, are among the strange array of gifts the Board of Education accepted this week from philanthropically inclined parent-teacher organizations, it was revealed yesterday at the Franklin Administration Building.

Since the board ruled that all gifts to the schools must have its official acceptance, it literally has been deluged with offers from organizations throughout the city. Regardless of their value, such offers are inevitably turned down if the gifts in question involve maintenance or upkeep expense.

An offer of matting to cover the hallway of the Raymond School was declined because the board deemed it "insanitary." At the same sitting, however, the board accepted a piano for the Hine Junior High School; a steriopticon, for the Johnson School and a "speedograph" for the Blair-Hayes School.

Business Courtesy Urged by Speaker

Courtesy in business was stressed last night in a talk before the student body of the Southern Brothers Business University by K. J. Morris, principal of the Hyattsville High School.

"One of the greatest needs in modern business is courtesy and courtesy is amazingly absent in the conduct of young business men and women," the speaker told the 500 students. "It is as important for the young business man or woman to know how to courteously answer the phone as it is to understand the principles of business. Modern youth must develop an habitual courtesy if it would reach the highest peak of success in business. It will not only yield financial return, but will create a new and desirable atmosphere around all transactions."

still. As one began breaking up the outfit a bullet whizzed past from the woods nearby. The officers returned the fire, but retired around the hillside and awaited the return of the other two. At their return the five officers advanced on the still and again started to demolish it. They were instantly greeted by a volley of shots from the woods. The officers fired into the thicket and advanced toward their assailants, who came out to meet them. One of the four attackers fired point blank with a shotgun, striking two of the officers, causing minor wounds.

The moonshiners then turned and ran, pursued by the officers. Deputy Sheriff Smith, in hot pursuit, was shot through the chest, after which the chase was abandoned and the wounded men were brought to Fredericksburg.

The scene of the shooting is in a secluded section of Spotsylvania County, where a number of stills have been captured recently. Smith's condition tonight was critical and his family has been summoned to his bedside.

ning to suffer tonight from floods caused by heavy rain.

Waterbury itself suffered unestimated damage, cellars were flooded, roads washed from curb to curb, and a freshet in the Bunker Hill section flooded the lower floors of several houses.

At Torrington, the Naugatuck River overflowed and inundated the business section of the town. Heavy damage was done to merchandise.

Cellars along the Mad River, which runs through Winsted, were flooded and many streets were covered with water.

At New Hartford, it was reported that the west branch of the Farmington River was rising a foot an hour and that the Colebrook River was rising at the same rate.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Rail and highway lines in eastern New York were being broken tonight under the rush of streams swollen by more than 24 hours of almost continuous rain. Trains were at first delayed, then marked from schedules as flood waters cut through embankments and highways were covered at several points, blocking vehicular traffic.

The main street of New Lebanon was under water tonight. Children were taken from the school on rafts.

All traffic on the New York Central Railroad was blocked for an hour while debris from a large landslide was removed from the rails south of Poughkeepsie.

Seaplane Speed Mark Sought by Bernardi

Venice, Italy, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Maj. Mario de Bernardi, the Italian aviator who won the Schneider Cup in the United States in 1926, will attempt tomorrow to break the world seaplane record over the Venice course, where the Schneider Cup for 1927 was won by the British a few weeks ago.

Bernardi is confident that he will be able to break the British record of 281 miles an hour made by Flight Lieut. S. N. Webster. In a tryout on October 23, Bernardi was unofficially timed at better than 303 miles an hour.

New Antiseptic Held Entirely Nonirritant

London, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The success of a new antiseptic, "almost nonpoisonous and non-irritant even to the most delicate membrane" was described by Sir Alfred Mond at a luncheon today.

Sir Alfred related the discovery of the antiseptic by a chemist in the South Staffordshire laboratories of the Mond Gas Co. after years of research. The discovery was a coal tar product of exceptional antiseptic properties, he said.

60 SEATS DONATED FOR POIRET LECTURE

Columbia Hospital Women's Board Recipient; Many Boxes Sold.

More than 60 seats have been donated by the Hecht Co. to the women's board of Columbia Hospital for the lecture of Paul Poiret, French couturier, who will deliver an address on women's fashions at 4:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon in the National Theater. It is hoped that approximately $500 will be raised by the hospital as a result of the lecture, tickets for which are now being sold.

Mrs. Walter Tuckerman is chairman of the committee in charge of selling seats, and has herself bought one of the boxes for the occasion. A second box has been sold to Mrs. George Hewitt Myers. It was announced at a meeting yesterday that the following members of the Columbia Hospital Women's Board will occupy boxes at the lecture: Mrs. Myron Whitney, Mrs. J. Spaulding Flannery, Mrs. Robert N. Stanfield, Mrs. H. B. Learned, Mrs. Robert Fleming, Mrs. Sidney F. Tallaferro, Mrs. Thomas Bradley, Mrs. Harry A. Kite and Mrs. Barry Mohun.

Three new modes will be created by Poiret before the audience on Tuesday afternoon, it is announced, being draped upon living mannequins. This is Poiret's first visit to Washington in seven years. Mrs. H. B. Learned will speak over radio station WMAL at 8:30 o'clock Friday night and will describe Poiret's career and his object in coming to America.

CAPITAL LAWYER DIES AT BIER OF ACTRESS

Lowery A. Waters, Washington attorney and one of the managers of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in this city, died Wednesday in Baltimore at the home of the late Miss Pauline Welch, actress and divorced wife of "Bud" Fisher, cartoonist, to which he had been summoned after her death. He had been a friend of the actress for some time.

Mr. Waters had been anxious over Miss Welch's illness of pneumonia, and recently called up the house to learn of her condition. Notified of her death he hurried from Washington to her home, and collapsed a short time after viewing the body. He was put to bed by relatives of Miss Welch, but grew rapidly worse, dying within a few hours.

The coroner gave a certificate of death by cardiac failure following convalescence from another illness. The body was sent last night to Mr. Waters' home, The Portner Apartments, in this city.

Stage Profession To Get Million Bibles

New York, Nov. 3.—A brand new Bible for every chorus girl is one of the objects that prompted the New York Bible Society to place an order for a million copies of the Scriptures, the largest ever made, according to the Rev. George William Carter, general secretary of the society.

"Every member of the theatrical profession who would like to have a Bible is going to have one," he said today.

"Some time ago we inserted an advertisement in a stage publication stating that free Bibles awaited every one who wanted one. The response was sufficient to have us go into the matter on a more extensive scale."

ROUMANIAN CRISIS STRUGGLE TO BREAK GRIP OF BRATIANO

Nation Is Quiet, Despite Tales of Violence Sent Abroad, as Parties Maneuver.

PEASANT LEADERS CALL FOR A FREE ELECTION

Premier Assailed as Being Dictator, but Carol Is Hardly Mentioned.

(Special Cable Dispatch)

Bucharest, Nov. 3 (Via courier through censor's lines).—While prosaic facts, which in not a single instance have approached the sensational, have been bottled up by a most asinine censorship, the outside world has been supplied with sensational rumors regarding happenings here.

Unquestionably Roumania and the government are passing through a crisis which has lasted ever since King Ferdinand died, and no likelihood of a solution can be found even now.

At a time when the outside world is being informed via Vienna, Budapest and Belgrade that martial law has been declared, troops are occupying government buildings, extra guards are being placed around the 6-year-old King Michael, and all supposed precautionary measures are being taken against a revolution, the object of which is to place former Crown Prince Carol on the throne, Roumania is continuing without a visible ripple in its humdrum existence.

Fall Elections the Aim.

What really happened is merely that the opposition parties have been making capital of the "legality of the king and regency" to force the Bratiano government to declare new free elections and return a "government by the people" instead of what is described as an invisible dictatorship.

The National Peasant party, headed by the intrepid leader, M. Maniu, is the only party that has refused to cooperate with Premier Bratiano's so-called reconciliation policy. It has openly protested against the illegality of the present regime, including the king and regency, and by such refusal wields an effective weapon against the Roumanian premier. The country now is hearing the first guns of a political battle in which the issue is not Prince Carol but the Bratiano regime.

Ever since the elections, shortly before the death of King Ferdinand, the National Peasant party, instead of inclining an ear to the overtures of M. Bratiano, has been stripping for action. A big congress of the National Peasant party has been scheduled for November 21 at Albaiulia, the historic city where, after the war, Ferdinand and Marie were crowned King and Queen of greater Roumania.

Opposition Seizes Chance.

The possibilities that the congress might produce riots and otherwise embarrass the government through irresponsible elements stampeding for Prince Carol, has been distressing M. Bratiano for some time and the cabinet is seeking any excuse by which it could be prohibited. The arrest of Manoilescu while carrying documents from Prince Carol gave the government opposition parties a long-awaited opportunity to protest against the illegal procedure to Premier Bratiano. When the protest was registered in parliament it gave M. Maniu a further opportunity to review all the acts of the Bratiano government, from the time the original crown council disowned Prince Carol to the present.

Despite M. Bratiano's declaration that no change of kings is legally possible, M. Maniu shot a broadside, characterizing M. Bratiano as a dictator existing against the will of the people, using the army to win elections, and precipitating into the country a state of "political, economic and moral chaos." Owing to the economic crisis, lack of credit and money and paralysis of trade and industry—even agricultural production is below normal—and the inability of the railroads to transport commodities for export, Premier Bratiano is unpopular. Practically every one with whom the correspondent has spoken, even former friends of the premier, is too disgusted and willing to accept any change, even of a monarch, in hope of relief.

Not Committed to Carol.

But even M. Maniu who protests against the "illegality of Premier Bratiano" has refused to say he even would consider as possible Prince Carol's return.

The attitude of Queen Marie is an unknown factor, but it is generally believed that she and M. Bratiano are less friendly than heretofore. She confided to friends at the coronation that she hoped to be empress and when this honor was denied to her, those in intimate court circles say the failure to be chosen a regent was a great blow to her pride and prestige. Already the failure to receive the honors to which she formerly was accustomed to was painful. No longer is Queen Marie given a special train; neither do crowds wait outside to cheer her when she appears. Recently, when her birthday was celebrated, the government sent a delegation of second raters to congratulate her instead of appearing in a body before her.

Premier Brtiano is trying hard to transfer the honors and popularity once hers upon the queen mother, Helene, who is quiet and almost meek, with the result that society is depicting the situation as mutual jealousy to justify the reports circulated abroad. The government continues to place every conceivable obstacle in the way of newspaper men, even putting up the bars on the day parliament discussed the Manoilescu arrest.

BLADENSBURG MAN SHOT; WIFE IS HELD

floor and his wife kneeling over her husband.

"My God, Sarah, why did you shoot me?" Hartley asked of his wife, according to Gasch, who summoned the Casualty Hospital ambulance and notified Maryland police.

Gasch said Hartley repeatedly asked for an explanation of the shooting, but Mrs. Hartley only kept rubbing his wound, Gasch said. Gasch quoted Hartley as saying he had been playing with his two children, Doris, 11 years old, and Robert Alfred, jr., 8 years old, when the shooting occurred. Hartley, according to Gasch, said he had taken his pistol and flashlight, which he invariably carries in his automobile, into his wife's home, where he had gone for dinner and a "reconciliation" and placed them in the pantry in the kitchen.

Hartley, according to Gasch, said he was playing with the children when the shot was fired, the bullet striking him under the left shoulder blade, grazing his lung, severing his spinal cord and lodging between the ribs on the right side of his back.

Hartley was taken to Casualty Hospital and treated by Dr. Lawrence Murphy and later transferred to Emergency Hospital. Physicians there said his condition might result in his death.

Mrs. Hartley, in adding to her story to police, said Hartley had come into her home about 7 o'clock and talked "reconciliation." Her husband left the house for a few minutes. Mrs. Hartley, told police, upon her husband's return, suggested reading the papers in an effort to locate an apartment in Washington, and then, suddenly, her husband started a quarrel. Mrs. Hartley said her husband, from whom she had been separated for more than a year, reached for his pistol and threatened her life. She said she grabbed the pistol from his hands.

Mrs. Hartley told detectives she pointed the gun at Hartley, but was "surprised" when it went off. She was extremely nervous when questioned by Maryland County Policemen James Moran and John Hunt, at the House of Detention.

Mrs. May McFarland, sister of the injured man, last night said her brother had been invited to take dinner with his wife, as had been his custom during the past month.

"My brother, who has been living apart from his wife for the past year or so, has been courting his wife all over again in an effort to get together," Mrs. McFarland said. "He wanted to live together again for the children's sake."

Police plan to question the two children of the wounded man today in an effort to unravel the shooting. No charge will be placed against Mrs. Hartley for the time being, Maryland police said.

Man Is Found Dead In Gas-Filled Room

Benjamin M. Irish, 36 years old, 125 C street northeast, was found dead yesterday afternoon in the bathroom of his apartment. Gas was flowing from an open jet.

When his wife returned home at 5 o'clock the apartment was filled with gas fumes and the bathroom door was locked. She called Nicholas Carbelas, who lives on the floor below her, and he burst open the door. Dr. Weitz, of Casualty Hospital, pronounced Mr. Irish dead. Mrs. Irish stated her husband had been out of work for a month.

ARTS BOARD TO GET CIGAR STORE PLANS

Cooperation Is Assured After Lusk Confers With Officials of Company.

Before construction of the two-story United Cigar Store Building at the northeast corner of Fourteenth and E streets northwest begins, the plans will be submitted for critical suggestions as to its architectural features by the Fine Arts Commission.

Action to this effect was assured yesterday, following a conference with officials of the United Cigar Stores of America, in New York, with Rufus S. Lusk representing the public and private buildings committee of the Washington Board of Trade.

Razing of the buildings on the site is expected to begin Monday and, according to word received from Lusk, the plans will be submitted to the Fine Arts Commission today so that if any alterations are necessary the changes can be made and not delay the building schedule.

Motorbus Valuation Hearings Postponed

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday postponed until December 21 the pending public hearing on valuation of the motorbus lines of the Washington Rapid Transit Co.

This action followed refusal of the District Commissioners to detail three municipal officials to aid the utilities commission in the appraisal. The hearing originally had been set for November 21.

Man Hurt in Auto Crash.

Earl Dixon, 25 years old, 1436 Foxall road northwest, was injured early yesterday morning when the taxicab in which he was riding was in a collision with another car driven by Albert B. Sunday, 3502 M street northwest, at Sixteenth and T streets northwest. Dixon was taken to Garfield Hospital and treated for cuts and later taken home. Claude Shanks, 713 South Fairfax street, Alexandria, Va., was the driver of the taxi.

CRITICISM IS TRACED TO GROWTH OF TRADE

Ambassador to Peru Tells of Bitterness Against This Country.

The United States' achievement of first place among nations trading in Peru has caused a large part of the bitterness against this country and is responsible for most of the criticism to which North Americans are subject, Ambassador Miles Poindexter said in an address last night in the Washington University Club.

The American envoy to Peru, who will sail October 10 from New York for Lima, spoke on the beauties and economic wealth of Peru and its advantages for tourists. He described the wide variety of Peru's climatic and geographical conditions and of the vast unexplored and uninhabited regions on the eastern side of the Andes Mountains. Mr. Poindexter described a journey he made into the interior wherein he was forced to travel many weeks by mule and in canoes through the regions of the upper Amazon River.

He told of the rebirth of the Peruvian nation under the leadership of President Leguia and described the important role now being played by North American capital and engineers in the development of Peruvian national resources.

Woman Under Arrest On Dry Law Charge

Mrs. Anna Quisenberry, 2724 Eleventh street northwest, was arrested yesterday by policemen of the Tenth Precinct on a charge of selling and possessing a small quantity of alleged whisky. She was later released on a $1,000 bond. Policemen E. C. Rhue, O. W. Mansfield and D. J. Murphy made the arrest.

Richard Coleman, 45 years old, colored, 906 Third street northwest, also was arrested yesterday for selling whisky and held at the First Precinct. Policemen G. R. Browning and E. A. Mumper arrested him.

Eleventh Hour Solutions Swamp Elephant Editor

Post Contest for $2,000 Prize Closed at Midnight as Puzzlers Hurry to Enter Last-Minute Calculations on Weights.

"Follow the green line!" cried the elephant puzzle editor of The Washington Post, but his voice was lost in the uproar.

The line of green chalk which he had carefully traced from the door of his office to his desk became blurred, confused, blotched and eradicated finally beneath scores of impatient feet. A constant stream of visitors poured into the office. The young assistant, breathless and excited, acted to perfection the role of a modern street car conductor.

"Right this way now! Step up front, please! No crowding! Plenty of room up front! Move up front, please! No, madam, I don't know anything about it. This way to the elephant puzzle. This way please!"

"Thank heaven the day of the hatpin is passing," gratefully mumbled the puzzle editor, as he was elbowed aside by a stout woman, whose wide-brimmed hat swept his nose.

"Are you the puzzle editor?" squeaked the tame voice of a little man, overshadowed by amazons.

"He's an elephant, isn't he, mother?" asserted a small boy, confidently poking the editor with a stick of candy.

"No, dear. He's human, though you wouldn't think it to look at him."

"Tickets please," barked the young assistant.

"Seat 37, Row T, center aisle," interrupted a man who looked like a prize-fighter.

The young assistant was nonplussed. As he was about to stammer some reply, an umbrella tip hit him in the stomach.

"My gracious! What a ruffian!" observed the stout woman, watching him writhe about. "Don't kick him, Henry!" she advised her little boy. "He might strike you back; he's that rude!"

"Hey, puzzle editor, do I get that $2,000?"

"Are you the puzz——"

"Wait, please, wait!" shouted the puzzle editor. "This isn't a circus, and I'm not an elephant. I don't care what people say. Just hand in your solutions and leave quietly by that door. It's useless to ask who has won the $2,000 prize. We won't know for at least a week, maybe longer. Don't call me by telephone, and don't crowd into my office if you have any sympathy for a hard-working man. When the winner of the puzzle is known I'll let you all know. Trust me. Don't mob me. Just wait quietly at home for the results to come in."

His eloquent plea proved more effective than football tactics. In half an hour the office was nearly empty. But the solutions continued to pour in, morning, noon and night. At a late hour, while Washington slept, a light shining in an upper room of The Post Building like a beacon of hope announced to milkmen, taxicab drivers and revelers reutrning homeward that the puzzle editor was pursuing feverishly his elephant puzzle solutions.

The contest ended at midnight last night.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau.
Washington, Thursday, November 3—8 p. m. orecast—For the District of Columbia, clearing Friday; Saturday fair; not much change in temperature; fresh northwest and west winds; diminishing Friday.

For Maryland and Virginia, clearing Friday; Saturday fair; not much change in temperature; strong northwest and west winds, diminishing Friday.

A disturbance that developed over Virginia and the Carolinas during Thursday night is now centered as a storm of marked intensity over New Jersey, and moving north-northeastward, Atlantic City, 29.32 inches. Pressure is quite low southward to the Bahamas, and southeastward beyond Bermuda, and the tropical disturbance has probably merged with the general storm area. Disturbances of minor intensity are centered over northern Manitoba and over western Ontario. Pressure is abnormally high over and east of Newfoundland, St. Johns, 30.52 inches, and it remains high from the north Pacific coast southeastward to Texas. There have been general rains within the last 24 hours in the Atlantic and east Gulf States, the Appalachian region, and the upper Ohio Valley, and local rains in the north Pacific States, the northern Rocky Mountain region, and the upper lake region. Heavy rains are reported from Connecticut, New Jersey, and eastern New York. The weather has become considerably colder in the interior of the Atlantic and east Gulf States, while there has been a reaction to somewhat higher temperature in the Plateau region, the southern Plains States, and in the lower Missouri and middle Mississippi Valleys.

The coast disturbance will move northnortheastward over New England and eastern New York, and rain will continue Friday in the north Atlantic States, western New York, and possibly along the middle Atlantic coast. Otherwise generally fair weather will prevail east of the Mississippi River during the next two days. There will be little change in temperature, except that colder weather will prevail Friday in northern New England and along the middle Atlantic coast.

Storm warnings are displayed from Cape Hatteras to Eastport, Maine.

Y. W. C. A. DRIVE NETS $9,648 ON FIRST DAY

Miss Kate White's Team Makes High Mark, With Collection of $406.

Subscriptions aggregating $9,648 were collected in the first day's campaign of the Young Woman's Christian Association to raise $60,000 for next year's maintenance of activities at its six centers here, it was reported yesterday.

Two metings were held yesterday at which results were reported. At the first meeting a luncheon atended by twelve of the twenty teams, Dr. Frank W. Ballou was the principal speaker. He compared the association to "bridge builders." Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe presided. At this meeting $8,819 was reported as collected, the highest team, captained by Miss Kate White, collecting $406.

At the meeting of business and professional women's teams in the evening, the amount reported as collected was $829, the highest collection being $202 by team B. Another meeting will be held today at 1 o'clock.

Fair, Normally Cool Weather Predicted

No cold wave will materialize following the inclement weather of yesterday, the Weather Bureau announced last night, and instead the city is promised fair and pleasant weather for the next two or three days—in fact, as far into the future as the weather man can see.

"The cold weather is all here," was the Weather Bureau's announcement. By that it was meant that all the cold that was on the way has arrived. Fair weather will return, hand in hand with normal temperatures for this time of year. It will not be as warm as it has been. But it will not be cold, and there is doubt if the nights will bring frost.

Blood Transfusion Apparatus Stolen

Dr. William P. Burns, with offices at 766 Rock Creek Church road, yesterday reported the theft Wednesday of a blood transfusion apparatus from his automobile which was parked before his office.

Dr. Burns stated he had the apparatus in his automobile and had stopped at his office en route to give a patient a transfusion when the theft occurred. The transfusion was given yesterday instead.

When your Child has Croup

RUBBED on throat and chest, the effect of Vicks in relieving spasmodic croup is two fold:

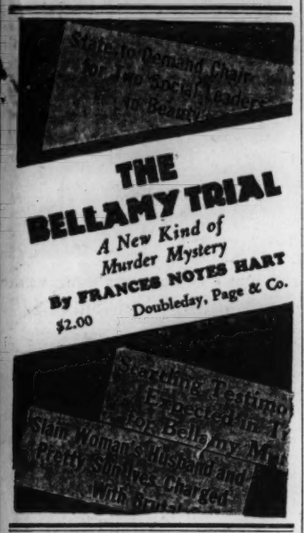

(1) Its medicated vapors, released by body heat, reach air passages direct;

(2) At the same time it stimulates the skin, thus helping the inhaled vapors ease the difficult breathing.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

APULIA MARRIAGE TOMORROW DRAWS ROYALTY TO NAPLES

Spanish and Italian Kings, Leaders of Bourbon and Savoy Gather.

FORMAL STATE DINNER IS HELD FOR BRIDE

Princess Anne to Become a Duchess; Is Daughter of Exiled Duke.

Naples, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—This ancient city over which the Italians, Spaniards and French fought for centuries right up to the nineteenth, tonight had forgotten all past feuds in anticipation of a royal wedding Saturday. On that day the tall daughter of the pretender of the French throne will become the bride of the even taller Duke of Apulia, first cousin once removed of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

King Alphonso of Spain was already in the city with his suite tonight and tomorrow Victor Emmanuel will arrive. Saturday will see virtually all the heads of the various branches of the French Bourbon and Italy Savoy families and of some other royal houses gathered for the celebration of civil and religious ceremonies. Ambassadors, high political, diplomatic, military and naval authorities in all the glory of full dress regalia, will be present.

The bride, Anne Helen Marie, stately and graceful girl of just over 21, is the daughter of the Duke of Guise, who, on the death of his brother, the Duke of Orleans, in 1926, chose to go into exile from France as required by a law passed in 1886, although the present republican government assured him the law would remain a dead letter as long as he did not engage in political activities. This offer was made out of the duke's unselfish and unflagging work for the Red Cross and the French army at the front—the law forbids any member of the former ruling house to serve in the army itself—and for carrying out several delicate diplomatic missions to Balkan countries during the war.

Princess Feted in Paris.

The Duke of Guise and his young son, Prince Henry, now are barred from French soil, but the Duchess and the bride of Saturday are allowed to come and go freely. In fact, Princess Anne, just prior to coming to Italy, was feted by aristocratic society of Paris and placed a wreath on the tomb of the French Unknown Soldier before quitting the French capital.

The bride and bridegroom are second cousins, the duke's mother being a princess of Bourboun and Orleans. The bridegroom, whose first name is Amedeus, passed his twenty-ninth birthday just a few days ago. He and his brother, Almone, were reared and educated mainly in England, spending their vacations in London at the home of Gen. Bagnani, who was then Italian military attache, and whose wife is a Canadian.

The brothers spent a long time in an Anglo-Saxon environment, but beyond giving them a fluent command of the English language, it did not curb the ardor of their royal Latin temperaments.

The bridegroom is gay and debonair, the toast of all vacationists at Lido, near Venice, which is his favorite holiday spot. The duke's democratic airs and his love of a good time recall the memory of King Victor Emmanuel II or even the unrelated Edward VIII of England.

The young duke distinguished himself as an aviator in Tripoli, being praised for his conduct there by no less a person than the national bard, Gabriel D'Annunzio. Despite his youth, the duke did his bit during the war, and since then has lived the life of a country gentleman, practicing all forms of sport.

The bridegroom's father, the Duke of Aosta, was for eight years—1896 to 1904—heir presumptive to the Italian throne. Crown Prince Humbert, who will be on hand for the wedding, was not born until a later date.

In fact, if the King and Queen of Italy had had daughters only, the Duke of Apulia would be in line for succession.

Festivities Are Started.

Actual festivities in connection with the wedding began tonight with a formal state dinner of 120 covers to introduce the future Duchess of Apulia to local nobility and society. At a great reception tomorrow the festivities will be continued.

The civil marriage ceremony Saturday will take place in the royal palace of San Ferdinando, which belonged to the bourbons who reigned over the kingdom of the two Sicilies until Garibaldi conquered it in 1860. President Tittono, of the senate, will act as registrar and Minister of Colonies Federzoni will act as crown notary. After the civil ceremony the whole imposing party will repair across a magnificent big square to the historic church of San Francesco di Paola, where the religious ceremony will be performed by Cardinal Ascalesi, Archbishop of Naples, amid a splendid floral setting and with an elaborate musical program, on which rehearsals have been conducted for weeks.

Parent-Teacher Unit Seeks Special Fares

The Central High School Parent-Teacher Association yesterday placed itself on record in favor of half fare for children riding street cars to and from school, in a resolution adopted at a meeting in the school. The resolution was an echo of similar action taken by the Public School Association the night before.

The meeting was adjourned early to permit parents to confer with teachers. Announcement was made that Dr. Grace Richmond will address the next meeting December 8. Assistant Superintendent of Schools Stephen E. Kramer, former principal of Central, also will speak.

Beauty Parlor Again Sued.

Emile, Inc., which operates a beauty and hairdressing parlor at 1221 Connecticut avenue northwest, was sued again yesterday in Circuit Court for $50,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been received by a patron, who says she underwent treatment for removal of hair from her face. The plaintiff is Sylvia Dorfman, 4524 Fourth street northwest. Attorney T. Morris Wampler appeared for her. Six other suits are already on file.

Wife Dogs Foot Step, Mate Replies to Suit

George H. Bannar, publisher of race track news, whose wife, Mrs. Winnifred E. Bannar, sued him for an absolute divorce, denied the charges of misconduct yesterday in Equity Court through his counsel, Raymond Neudecker. He also denied his business brings him into contact with women and he says his wife has never once objected to the nature of his business but on the contrary, he alleges, she has at times displayed an energetic interest in gambling on horse races.

Mrs. Bannar works hard about eight hours a day shadowing her husband, dogging his foot steps and vexing and annoying him, according to his allegations. The court is asked to dismiss her bill.

Brenizer Wins Excavation Contract.

Bids of Warren F. Brenizer, local contractor, for excavating the Commerce and Internal Revenue Buildings sites were reported the lowest, following the openig of bids by Treasury Department officials yesterday. The Commerce bid was $14,250 and the Internal Revenue bid $10,400.

Is this an Important Question?

enthusiastically

Two million women say . . . "YES!"

"WHAT kind of bread shall I buy?" Is this an important question?

Is the sparkle of your children's eyes important? Your husband's energy? Your own freshness, vitality?

There is no more astounding miracle in all Nature than the body's use of food—the transformation of a prosaic plate of toast into the energy that drives a man all morning at top speed—that fans the flame of life in growing bodies into a rosy glow.

And the food that can furnish more of that energy than any other is—bread.

That is why more and more Washington women are seeing to it that their families get plenty of bread—and the best bread.

And naturally they choose Corby's Mother's Bread. They know it so well!

Corby's Mother's Bread has been the stand-by of the whole city for just about thirty years. No other loaf that could be bought is made like it. Firm, fine-grained slices, with their delicious "homey" flavor tempt the appetites of all the family.

Corby's Mother's Bread is made with the finest shortening that can be bought, with plenty of milk, with sugar of the very grade you use for table service.

Then this loaf is "slow-baked" to give it the character of the finest home-made bread.

No wonder it meets the needs of growing bodies more perfectly!

No wonder it is richer in flavor—more delicious.

Rich, golden brown loaves come from the sunny, airy, Corby kitchens—ready to go to your grocer warm from each baking, for Washington women like their bread fresh.

If you have never served Corby's Mother's Bread, give this delicious loaf to your family this very day.

The Judge behind the counter

If anyone can judge good foods, it's the grocer. He tries them all.

When he tells you, "These are especially good oranges, Mrs. Jones"—it means something.

When he says, "Have you tried this loaf? Many of my customers think it's the finest bread they've ever tasted"—it's news worth listening to.

Ask your grocer about Corby's Mother's Bread—and try it yourself today!

THE WIFE and CO.

Names and situations in this story are fictitious.

THE STORY SO FAR.

Molly Anderson is engaged to Bob Brownell, who works in the same office. Molly is secretary to the boss, Mr. Frazier. She and another typist, Mary Holmquist (nicknamed "little Swedie"), examine, at lunch time, a linen envelope from Frazier's private file, filled with letters from women grafters. Little Swedie says she believes in marrying for money, but says she yet may marry for love.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XX.

"I MET an awfully swell fellow the other night," little Swedie said.

Molly showed the interest all women feel in love affairs.

"Yes, he's a regular Ramon Navarro—kind of like Adolphe Menjou, you know," Mary Holmquist went on. "Black eyes and a little mustache and a dandy dresser. But Molly, I'm afraid he's poor!" Her bosom heaved, regretfully. "Still, I never saw a fellow just like him."

"Does he like you?"

"I think so. He was at a party. His girl hung onto him kind of close, but he kept looking at me, and once in a while he'd come and drop a word or two." She giggled. "I told him, 'My parents would be mad if they saw me at this party!'"

"Why did you say that?" Molly inquired.

"I wanted him to think I was rich—I said the chauffeur was a good scout, though, and wouldn't tell papa!" She laughed again. "I'll say he won't tell papa! The chauffeur was a motorman—my boy friend took me home on the street car!" It was apparent that she enjoyed this reminiscence. "The boy friend I was with, he's a clerk. Good kid, but he hasn't got a sou."

"I don't see why you wanted him to think you were rich," said Molly. They were going up the steps to the office.

"Well, a girl has to put up some kind of a bluff, don't she?"

"But the other people at the party—they'd give you away."

"Oh, I didn't know any of 'em," Mary said, contentedly. "They just called up my boy friend and asked him to bring a girl. They don't know him, either."

"Then why did they call him up?"

"Good heavens, child—haven't you had any experience?" The blonde girl stared at Molly. "My boy friend, he's a friend of a fellow who couldn't come, so the other fellow recommended this fellow—my friend, I mean, and he brought me. That's the way people always do."

They had reentered the office, and now they paused for a moment beside Molly's desk while Mary finished her story.

"This new sheik is going to meet me Sunday at Fourteenth and F streets. Lord, I wish I could get a new dress! But I'm almost sunk with the payments on my fur coat and all." The blonde girl turned away, and a moment later was briskly tapping upon the keys of her typewriter.

Molly resumed her task at Mr. Frazier's files. Her first move was to bind the tape around the linen envelope, and stow it safely away. She breathed a sigh of relief as she did so.

Thereafter, as a sort of penance, she handled all the other letters one by one, without reading any of them. It was a severe trial, but she went through with it.

On Friday night Bob Brownell worked late again, in order that he might be free Saturday afternoon.

At 2 o'clock then, on the half-holiday, he drove up to Mrs. Potter's door in his little roadster and Molly, who had been waiting on the stair, came tripping out.

Something in the aching jealousy she had felt when Mary Holmquist was teasing Bob into good humor, something in the echo of Mr. Frazier's words—that Bob was not doing so well—that perhaps she had been quarreling with him, something in a vague thought that she may have been a little unkind to him, made her very tender today, and melting.

After cautiously sounding her out, Brownell perceived her mood and immediately he was happy. Driving through the city streets with only one hand was difficult, but he managed it. Molly sat so close that there was ample room for another passenger to her right.

"Bob," she said, as they reached Chevy Chase Circle, "did you know that Mr. Frazier is an orphan?"

"I can see how he might be, at his age," responded the youth, gravely.

"You know what I mean, Bobsie—he was always and orphan. He was brought up in an orphanage."

"The deuce!" said Brownell, much interested. "How did you find out?"

Molly faltered. It had not been her intention to tell of her investigation of Mr. Frazier's mail, nor her adventure with little Swedie and the linen envelope, but finally she did so, in full.

"And," she concluded, "as soon as Mary had found her own letter she lost interest and didn't look at another solitary one!"

"Did you look at any more?"

"Just one—the one about the girl in the fur coat and the blue hat that I told you about."

Brownell thought it over. "That wasn't right, Molly. It wasn't fair to read his letters."

"I know, and I didn't want to do it, but Mary made me." She nestled her shoulder against his side, more firmly. "She didn't get to see the letters about the orphanage, though—I read those by myself. Was I terribly wicked?"

"It wasn't right," he said again. "I wouldn't have done it, Molly. Still, it's done now—no use worrying about it. To think," he mused, "that Frazier started at zero—it is pretty near zero, to be a kid with no father or mother. Now look what he's got!" Taking off his hat he dropped it to the floor of the car. "My poor old dad's a doctor, back home—gets up at all hours of the night to go and give pills to people, and can't collect his bills. You know how people are about doctors—think they're great when there's measles in the house, and forget all about 'em when everybody's well. What does your father do, Molly?"

The girl flushed. "I never told you about daddy. He—he doesn't do anything much."

Brownell looked at her, questioningly.

"He's a dear, good soul, but he lost all the jobs he ever had, and now he does not look around any more. Mama runs a little notion store, and daddy sweeps up for her, and does errands sometimes. They just about make ends meet—mama hasn't had a new dress in two years. That's why I came to Washington. I just had to get out and make some money—I wanted pretty things so, and I'd never get a chance back home. It's only a little town."

Her lover tightened his fingers about her upper arm. "We won't make any failure like that," said he. "I made a rotten start, Mollykins, buying that ring—but I did it because I loved you so. You'll have nice dresses, and furs and hats—you watch me!"

He drove on into the country, his young brow frowning with determination. Molly laid her head upon his shoulder. "I was mean about the ring," she said.

"No; I had it coming to me. Still, I'm glad you've got the diamond. It won't wear out, will it, Mollykins?" He slowed down in order to kiss her.

Straightening up just in time to save the car from entering a ditch beside the road, he continued: "My dad wanted me to go to college, but I'd have to work my way, and when I got through, where'd I be? Just a green kid hunting a job—and I could be green and hunt a job without going to college. Dad was all broken up when I came to Washington—thought I was passing up my chance in life—but he's proud of me now; says I'm making a better living than he ever made, and he went through college and medical school both, and has worked like thunder for 30 years."

He smoothed her cheek with his finger tips, absently. "Dad and mother get along all right on less than I'm making," he added.

"But people nowadays need more," Molly said.

"Why do they?"

"Because—because—why, I guess it's because everybody else has so much. We couldn't get along on just a tiny salary, honey boy—you'd be ashamed of me if I dressed the way my mama does."

"I would not," he declared.

"Yes, you would—and besides, you couldn't dress decently yourself. And you couldn't have this roadster. Bobsie dear, isn't life hard?"

"It's only hard if we make it hard," said he. "Still, I'll hit old Frazier for a raise Monday, when he comes back, and I think I'll get it. Molly, if I do get it, will you marry me without waiting for the 500?"

It wasn't the first time he made the proposal. Molly sighed.

"Bobsie," said she, "I love you more than anything, almost. But we can't keep house without chairs to sit in, can we?"

"We could rent a place furnished," he suggested."

"And pay the landlord's furniture bills? No, sir! Honey boy, don't you love me enough to wait for me?"

There was only one possible answer, and he gave it. "Of course I do." He tightened the arm that was around her. "But it looks like such a long wait, sweetheart."

"It really won't be long," Molly told him, patting his cheek.

It must have been that the gods who watch over young lovers were kind that day, and with pleasant mischief turned Molly into a prophet. At any rate, she told the truth more precisely than she knew, when she said "It really won't be long."

A letter came to Bob by special delivery on the very next morning, and Bob came charging up the stair to Mrs. Potter's flat just as Molly was going out to breakfast.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.

The Parent Counselor

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

Youth's Contributing Day—Bring Up Father.

DEAR Dr. Dean: I am nearly sixteen and live in a small town. Our gang has good times in a good way. There are twelve of us and when we hike we wear white sailor pants. My father dislikes them terribly.

Several times I have found holes in them, suspiciously like cut ones. Not accusing my father, I sewed them up neatly and wore them.

One day, when returning from a hike, father met me and was furious. He said: "Take off those sailor pants and hand them here!" He grabbed them and tore them in two. When the pants were clean and white I wore a smart little blouse and tie and looked quite neat. I hate to be the only girl in the gang wearing knickers. What shall I do about it?

Here's another question: One day my girl friend and I were at a dance. A very popular fellow asked me to go riding with three other couples. It was 12 o'clock, and I knew that if I went home and told my father, he wouldn't let me go.

On returning at 1:30 my father stepped up to the car and gave the fellows a bawling out. He was so furious, he grabbed up a long iron bar and said he would kill them. I was frightened, so I yelled, "Run, boys, run!" They jumped into their car and sped away.

The following day I saw the boys again and one said: "If it hadn't been for you, because I respect you, I would have knocked your father cold." Oh, what shall I do, I simply can't get along with father?

DISCOURAGED DAUGHTER.

There are two parts to your letter, my dear. One proves that father needs a course in girl psychology, an appreciation of the fact that there is no difference between sailor pants and knickers and an understanding that the fine relationship which should exist between father and daughter may be completely and permanently ruined—with great loss of love, respect and life's satisfactions for both—when father misunderstands his daughter and daughter disregards the conventions. To go riding at midnight knowing your father would be worried (and he should be) shows poor judgment. In your father's exhibition of temper he advertises himself and you. As for the "brave" lad who would "knock your father cold" the less said about him the better. His remark classifies him. Avoid him.

Triangle, Jr.

This age-old social quantity which I call Triangle, Jr., is composed of boy, father, girl. When a parent is unreasonable in little things the girl gets into a frame of mind where she will lose her head in a situation which requires head work. A recognition on the part of this particular father of the phychology of the white pants and less nonsense on the part of this particular girl in early morning escapades with the sex which traditionally has a first lien on pants would clear this particular situation.

The hiking club may have no leadership, symbolisms and methods of the Camp Fire Girl movement. "Gang" to a girl of 15 has different meaning than to a girl of early adolescence.

Many years of public and private practice have taught me that the conflict between parents and daughters usually boils down to eight points: "My parents object if I have boy friends," "my parents do not trust me enough to keep out of the room when I have a young man calling," "I work for a living, so why shouldn't I have more freedom to go out nights," "my father is so strict, and won't let me go with the gang," "everything I propose my parents are against," "mother persists in reading my diary," "my mother reads all my letters," "I want to go out nights."

This triangle, boy-father-girl, must be recognized, studied and solved. It's 100 per cent more decent and normal and far more solvable than the other eternal triangle of two women and one man. If you have a triangular problem in your home you will desire further information and a little moisture on a square piece of paper costing 2 cents will bring it to you.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER.

Spunky Stuff.

I am a freshman in college and I developed a business of renting myself out at parties, fancy dinners and dances as a general utility girl. I take care of wraps, canes and so forth, keep my eye open for gate crashers, do anything helpful to a hostess who wants brains as well as brawn. "We," that is, my brain and brawn, earn $5 an evening. Pretty good, eh?

FRESHIE.

Answer—"We" is right.

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

STRANGE enough, I look forward to the coming of Friday morning, with its waiting variety of fish recipes, of which one or more may be sent forth to our friends. Yesterday, waiting by the side of a fish stall in a market, where I had gone for the purpose of looking over the fish situation and possibly for an inspiration of some order, I could not but recall the porpoises that chase each other through the blue South Atlantic, and the schools of tiny flying fish skimming over the water and so obviously flying for their lives from some greater brother below the clapping waves.

Soon our ship was to put in at the wide mouth of the harbor at Havana, with old Moro Castle looming above us. Not that I should have relished swimming in those clear blue waters through which our ship cut her way with such ease, for it was obviously alive with swimming things, but somewhow there is a majesty about this world below the surface of the ocean, where life must go on much as it goes on in our own realm, filled with petty grievances, with hunger and need of partaking of food as best it may be procured, and with little disturbance—even family quarrels. The purpoises jumped so high and the whales drifted about in the water so masterfully. It made me rather sorry for those great white or grayly colored fish lying in the food stall yesterday—made me sorry that any of them need have come from the freedom of their environment to grace our food stalls and supply us with food. And yet, in spite of my pity, I do like Friday, with its possibilities in the fish dish line.

Plain white fish is to answer our need today—we may buy halibut or haddock or cod. It is to be barbecued, and I think we shall find the dish appetizing. Here, first of all, is, as usual, the menu.

Menu for Friday.

Cooks Kettle Soup
Barbecued Fish Creamed Cabbage
Hot Biscuit
Preserved Fruit
Spiced Cookies
Tea

Cooks Kettle Soup.

Put into a large pot two pounds of brisket of beef and when it has simmered for an hour add two onions, a cupful of peas, a cupful of beans, one of carrots and one of celery, all chopped fine. Add one can of solid pack tomatoes, a green pepper chopped fine and a fourth cup of rice that has been thoroughly washed. Last of all add a small can of corn and cook for two hours. Serve piping hot. (Delicious).

Barbecued Fish.

Have ready one-pound of cold fish that has been boiled and cleared of the bones. Put a piece of butter the size of an egg in a saucepan and add to it a tablespoon of oil, one of vinegar, a small onion, sliced, three tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup and (if available) three of wine. Cook the onion in the mixture until done but not brown, add the fish in as large flakes as possible, heat through and serve at once after adding salt and pepper to taste.

Spiced Cookies.

1 quart flour.
4 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
½ teaspoonful salt.
4 tablespoonfuls lard.
Sift these and rub together.
3 cupfuls sugar.
2 teaspoonfuls allspice.
1 teaspoonful ginger.
3 teaspoonfuls cinnamon.
½ teaspoonful pound clove.

Blend the first mixture, mix the second and combine the two. Break into the whole three eggs and add a cup of sweet milk. Mix well. Turn onto floured board, knead and roll three-eighth of an inch thick. Cut and bake a half hour in a moderate oven.

With these cookies, in place of preserved fruit, we may serve apple snow—the recipe for which we shall repeat today.

Apple Snow.

Six apples grated and pressed through a sieve, a half cupful fine sugar, one teaspoonful lemon extract, the whites of six eggs whipped, six tablespoonfuls fine sugar. Beat the apple to a froth, add the beaten eggs to which the two tablespoonfuls sugar have been added, whip the whole well, place in serving dish, chill and garnish with jelly.

BEAUTY AND YOU

By VIOLA PARIS

QUERIES ANSWERED.

DEAR Viola Paris: What can I do for little pock marks on my forehead? LUCY L.

Answer—It is not easy—sometimes not even possible— to remove these if they are true pock marks. There are medical dermatologists who can do wonders, but the treatment is both lengthy and costly. Perhaps, however, this reader means the little marks that are left after a case of acne. These are a natural result of an annoying evil; but they can usually be overcome with patience. It is necessary to use a fairly strong astringent each time after cleaning the face. At night, an astringent pore cream must be left on the skin. I could recommend sponging the area with ether once each day. This is both cleansing and astringent in a marked degree.

Dear Viola Paris—My skin is rather dry, and I need a powder base. I have used vanishing cream, but I fear it is enlarging the pores on my nose. What is good to use around the eyes for lines? Will cleansing cream cause hair to grow? 18-YEAR-OLD PEGGY.

Answer—I rather doubt that your young skin needs a powder base. But at any rate, don't continue the vanishing cream. It will clog the pores and only make your skin the drier. If you will cleanse your skin thoroughly and then use a simple lotion, you will have no need of putting on a cream before powdering. A good cleansing cream or oil which is not dense and which dissolves on application will not grow hair. Of course, every bit of the preparation should be removed after it has done its work. For lines around the eyes, I suggest smoothing in a little lanoline each night at bedtime. Readers have asked me what sort of lanoline, and my reply is—just the lanoline which any druggist can supply in tube form.

Dear Viola Paris: I am 13 years old, 5 feet tall and weigh 97 pounds. Am I too fat? What can I do to reduce my legs? My hair is getting coarse. What shall I do for it?

BROWN EYED.

Answer—No; I don't think you are too fat. And even if to your eyes you look a bit plump, remember that you are very young and are still growing. Don't worry about your legs, except to give them an abundance of exercise. Skipping rope, dancing, kicking, running, brisk walking, all these are splendid for you. Are you taking a gymnasium course at school?

Dear Viola Paris: I have moles that spoil the appearance of my hands. Is there any way of removing them except by electrolysis? G. E. O.

Answer—No; none that I could take the responsibility of recommending. Why not go to a good electrolysist? The method is quick and efficient. Your doctor could recommend one to you.

No. 7. With this hand I should not want to play with Spades the Trump unless my partner had five Spades; and if I doubled, my partner might bid Spades with but four small. With the adverse Heart suit stopped twice, it would be much wiser for West to bid No Trump. The second Heart stopper is the important card.

No. 8. With this hand I would double. After all I have said about not doubling when weak in the only Major the partner can bid, it must seem inconsistent for me to advise a double with the weak spade singleton in this hand. But it is because of that same singleton that I am unwilling to bid No Trump. I would be willing to chance a No Trump, the adverse suit being stopped twice, if I knew that my partner had at least four Spades, so I have a satisfactory refuge if my partner make the Spade answer that I expect. If my partner answer with either Minor, I will let it stand, hoping that it may mean a Minor game.

Bidding the hand this way may result unfortunately. East may have the Spades stopped once, without having four of the suit, and consequently may make a Minor answer, and yet there may be game at No Trump and not at the Minor he names; but the probability of that is not sufficient to offset the danger of a No Trump with a hand that contains a worthless singleton. I have seen so many games lost by this bid that I can not overemphasize the importance of avoiding it.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

The Ball and Chain.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am a girl of 19 and have been going with a fellow for a year and a half. He is 27. When we first started to go out I used to see him at least four times a week, now its been cut down to two or three times. His folks and relatives live out of town and he has been going there quite often. I told him if he went again, Sunday, I wouldn't go out with him again as he has been leaving every Snuday for the past few weeks. I met his folks once and haven't seen or heard from them since. That doesn't bother me. Now, if he goes away Sunday shall I keep my promise and not see him? He tells me everything will be all right in the end, and I have always forgiven him. My folks and every one else tell me I am foolish for letting him go away so much. Only last night he told me he may go home Sunday. I told him to keep in mind that I wouldn't go with him again.

Please Miss McDonald tell me what to do as I love only him.

Thanking you in return, I remain

IN LOVE.

I will be looking anxiously for your advice.

Your friends are very unwise in advising you to make demands upon any man, in any circumstances.

Love dies more often at the hands of force than in any other way. If the man loved you, your place would be so well defined in his consciousness that no word from you would be needed to emphasize it. If he does not love you no word of yours can change him.

It is natural for a man to join his family for Sunday and when he can see you three times a week there seems little excuse for objections—even if you were engaged.

Be wise dear child, and let your lover never feel the bounds that bind him. It is the clanking of the ball and chain that irks.

I suggest you plan activities for Sundays that will interest you and that you be as mysterious as possible concerning them. Be too tired on Monday night for dates, instead of too gloomy. Do not let any man's goings and comings make or mar your life—even after you marry him. Go and come a bit yourself. And stop rattling the ball and chain.

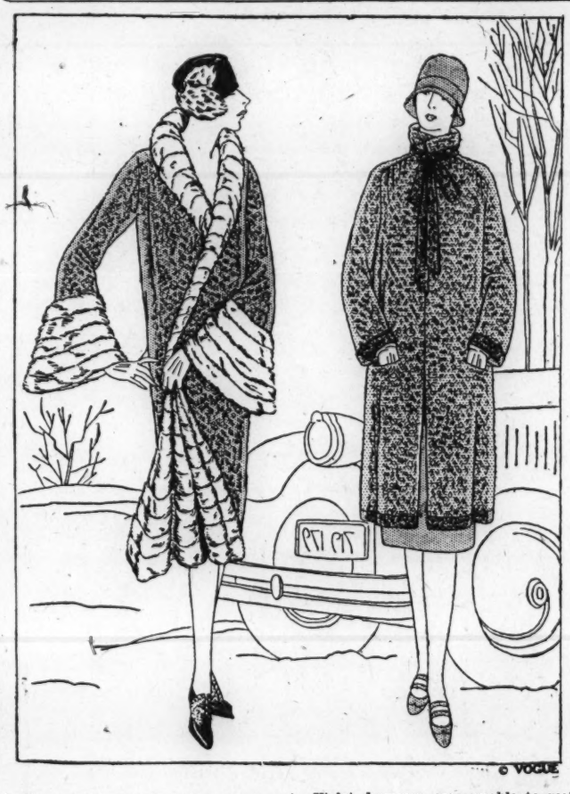

Men Are Inventors Of Kitchen Articles

London, Oct. 3 (A. P.).—Women do not invent for themselves. They leave that to the men.

The most interesting exhibits at the International Exhibition of Inventions are household devices for women's use invented by men.

A former army major is the inventor of a sink basket which permits easy removal of the refuse. Other men have invented a saucepan lid which rings when the contents of the saucepan reach a certain temperature; an egg-holder in which the egg can be boiled, eliminating the trouble of "fishing" for it with a spoon, and a collapsible clothes-airer in which a lamp can be placed. The latter utensil was the idea of a Somerset clergyman.

© VOGUE

THIS is the first time that Joan and Violet have met since they were on a house-party together last summer. Now they have motored to a football game and, although they have both started from the city, Joan had the foresight to see and know that her best fur coat, however new and beautiful, would look terribly out of place at a football game. She has wisely chosen to wear her little American broadtail coat, and very smart it is, too. It is beige, and a darker beige finishes the hem and cuffs, while around the neck, like a ribbon, there is again the darker beige broadtail tied in a loose bow knot. The raglan shoulders are a youthful smart note in this coat that may not pass unmentioned.

Violet, however, was unable to resist the temptation of displaying her black caracul and gray squirrel coat. In reality this is a very handsome coat, but, of course, it is essentially formal and one could hardly imagine anything less appropriate to wear to a football game. Just to make a bad situation worse, unhappy Violet has chosen a little black satin toque that is trimmed with scarlet breast feathers. If she were going to a wedding, she would not be more "dressy." When she left her apartment, she was in one of those high good humors that sometimes come when one is pleased with what one is wearing, but now she is miserable and never again will she make this mistake.

Conduct and Common Sense

By ANNE SINGLETON

DEBUTANTE DANCES.

A LADY writes to says she wishes to give a party, or parties, to bring out her daughter, and asks my advice. One of her plans was to have an afternoon reception for a large number of her acquaintances, ask the other debutantes of the season to assist in receiving, and after the reception was over to have a dinner for the young people, followed by a dance. Another plan was to have a tea just for ladies of all ages and a dance a few days later for debutantes and young men.

I think she had better have a general reception, such as she was arranging, for the larger circle of her acquaintances, male and female, and consider that enough for one day. She can, if she pleases, invite other debutantes to receive with her daughter, but after they have performed that rather trying and fatiguing duty, I should think they would be glad to refresh themselves with tea and then go home. Receptions of this sort usually last from 4 to 6, with a few stragglers loitering till 7.

When giving the dance (a few days later) it might be nice to have a dinner party of debutantes and young men, chaperoned, of course, by the father and mother of the girl, and then ask all of the young single and married people with whom one was intimate to come in at 10 o'clock or so for the ball. In this way you take in all your friends in one way or another.

Refreshments for the reception are simple—tea, chocolate, all sorts of sandwiches and cakes, salad, if you choose; ice cream, if you choose. Neither of these last are very often seen except at weddings. Refreshments for supper at a dance usually consist of bouillon, scrambled eggs and sausages, cold meats and salad, ices and cakes, black coffee.

I was not asked for any dinner menu, so refrained from giving one.

How Many Can You Answer?

Each question counts ten. If you answer eight correctly, your intelligence rating is 80 per cent. Actual tests reveal that eight out of ten correct is college standard; six out of ten correct is high school standard; four out of ten correct is grammar school standard. Less than four correct is uneducated standard.

1. Was Jenny Lind celebrated as a woman sharpshooter, actress or singer?
2. Who are the new baseball champions of the world?
3. Of what university is Lawson Robertson the track and field coach?
4. Give the name of one of the pre-Raphaelite painters.
5. From what is macaroni made?
6. With what product is the name Bessemer primarily associated?
7. Is anthropology the study of bees, of man as an animal, of the flora and fungi of America or of the interaction of mind and body in insects?

9. What is the eastern terminus of the Trans-Siberian Railroad?
10. Why was Don R. Mellett, Canton (Ohio) publisher, killed?

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Autumn, the Artist.

Autumn has a magic brush.
In her last few hours,
She can give a lovely flush
To the garden flowers.

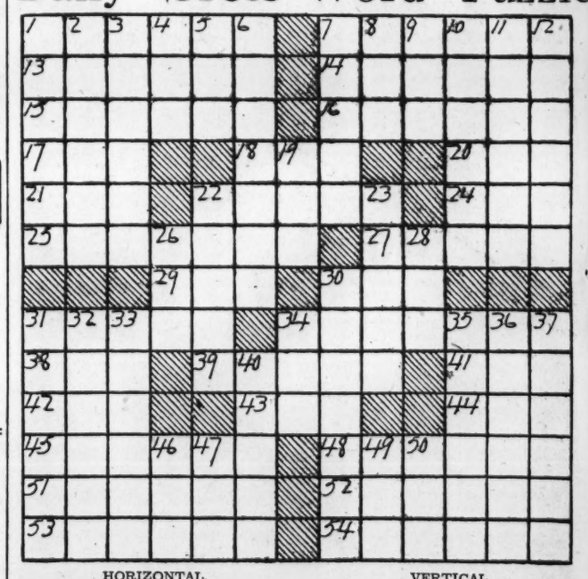

Lavish with her paints is she,
And she spreads them deep.
Nothing in her work we see
Commonplace or cheap.

As an artist she bestows
Vivid hues and true
To the humblest plant that grows
Just for man to view.

Only man adulterates
Paints and calls them fair.
Autumn, as an artist, rates
Excellent, everywhere.

MODISH MITZI

Mitzi Buys Her Christmas Gifts.

By Jay V. Jay.

There's an argument taking place. Mitzi wants to buy the feather fancy that hangs from a ribbon choker. It's for a Christmas present. But for whom? asks Polly. For Aunt Polly? For Cousin Nettie? For Dad? No, simply for a Christmas present. It's so new, so stunning and so desirable it should be bought and what better excuse than for Christmas? The envelope purse with the gold modernistic ornaments and the large feather fan likewise. For this shopping tour both Mitzi and Polly have chosen hats with the side turned up in front. This did not just happen—it happened because hats are smart turned up over one eye.

At first Mitzi thought it was a lighter but it's a vanity case with a mirror, powder, rouge and lipstick disguised in it cleverly. It really pays to do one's Christmas shoping early for how else would she have discovered this, or the evening headdress of pearls and rhinestones. Mitzi feels that she has made a good start.

As Mitzi goes over her new purchases she wonders just who to give them to. There's only one person who would like them—only one person who feels they are exactly right and that's—Mitzi. Well, after all, if she keeps them there is lots of time to shop for more—didn't she begin to do her Christmas shopping early for some reason.

Tomorrow—Evening Gowns.

MANY GOOD GAINS MARK STOCKS' FURTHER RALLY

All Groups Participate in an Upward Movement; 18 New Highs Scored.

OILS AGAIN ARE STRONG

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Nov. 3.—The recovery gained more momentum in today's active stock market session, many issues scoring impressive gains. The ability of the market to throw off so effectively the selling pressure which depressed prices all last week caused a decided change in sentiment in the financial district, and where nothing but bearishness had prevailed until recently, today many of the large brokerage houses came out definitely as favoring the constructive side of the market.

The official call money rate held at 3½ per cent, but on the outside funds were obtainable at 3¼ per cent, and in some cases as low as 3 per cent. Otherwise there was no news of importance affecting stocks marketwise.

All groups participated in today's upward movement of stocks, although in several groups there were individual laggers and in some cases, for special reasons, substantial recessions occurred. Net gains among the active stocks extended to 8½ points, with appreciations of 2 to 4 points thickly spread through the list.

Standard investment shares formed the backbone of the day's market, although the oils made a splendid group showing. Industrial leaders like United States Steel, General Motors, General Electric and the first class rails did well on the upside. In the carrier group Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Atchison, Southern Railway and New York Central were the pacemakers, and their net gains extended to 4 points.

High spots in the market included Eastman Kodak, up for a net gain of 8½ points; Woolworth, 3⅛; Ward Baking, 2⅛; United Drug, 6¼; Texas & Pacific, 5½; Norfolk & Southern, 5⅛; Norfolk & Western, 2½; Producers & Refiners, 2; Pan-American Petroleum, 3¼; Pan-American B, 2⅝; Marland Oil, 2⅜; California Petroleum, 2⅞; Phillips Petroleum, 1⅝; National Surety, 4⅞; Macy, 5; International Harvester, 3⅝; International Business Machine, 2⅝; Commercial Solvents, 5; American Home Products, 3; Bayuk Cigar, 2½; Atlantic Refining, 2; Atlantic Coast Line, 3½, and Bangor & Aroostook, 3½.

The list of stocks which gained was long and varied and far outnumbered those with reactionary tendencies. There were sizable declines, however, in, among others, Foundation, Remington-Rand, Lambert, Gimbel Bros. and Radio. The last named began to sell off after it had established a new high for all time.

Eighteen stocks reached new highs and six new lows. The former were: Southern Railway, Midland Steel Products preferred, Victor Talking Machine, American Linseed common and preferred, Hupp Motors, Radio, United States Leather "A" and preferred, American Railway Express, Adams Express, Artloom preferred, Public Service New Jersey 7 preferred, Cluett Peabody preferred, Calumet & Arizona, Purity Baking "A" and "B" and American Home Products

The lows were scored by American Piano, N. Y. and Harlem, Electric Refrigeration, Cuban Dominican Sugar, Remington-Rand and Foundation.

Heavy trading in Hupp was a feature. Accompanying the rise the report was circulated that bankers interested in Studebaker were buying the stock, with a merger in view. This report, however, was denied all around.

The pool in radio had things its own way most of the day and the stock at one stage sold ¾ point above its previous record high price. Apparently stock held by the General Electric and other large holders did not come to the market during the first phase of the advance, and that has encouraged operations on the long side. The price slid off rapidly in the late dealings, however, and closed ¾ net lower.

Moving into new high ground, Calumet & Arizona was the feature of the copper group, extending its already sharp advance in spectacular fashion and closing 3¾ net higher. Aside from better feeling prevailing toward the red metal shares as a group, there was little to explain the spirited rise here, except possible recognition of the fact that the stock as a $6 dividend payer was somewhat out of line.

Guilders, mounting more than 2 points to a new record at 40.31 cents, 11 points above par, featured foreign exchange dealings. Sterling was a shade higher; francs likewise firmed and pesetas rose 5 points. Scandinavian rates were easier, particularly the Swedish kroner.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Rallies from an early decline in the cotton market were followed by renewed weakness today. After selling off early to 20.70, January advanced to 21.08 and closed at 20.76, compared with 20.92 at the close the previous day. The general market closed barely steady, at a net decline of 14 to 30 points, late months being relatively easy.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 8 points. Buying came in on reports of unfavorable weather, but demand seemed less active than had been anticipated by previous buyers and the market eased off rather sharply in early trading. Unfavorable trade advices from Manchester and an easier turn in the Liverpool market after the local opening, probably increased the disposition of longs to take profits after the sharp advance yesterday, and before the decline was checked prices showed net losses of 20 to 30 points.

December sold off to 20.65 and May to 20.98, but at these figures the market was steadied by a renewal of trade buying and there were advances during midday, accompanied by reports of an improved spot demand in the South and a generally firm spot basis.

Trade interests were among buyers on the rally which carried prices up to 21.02 for December and 21.33 for May, or about 13 to 16 points net higher on the winter and spring months. Much of the demand was attributed to covering, however, and the market eased late in the afternoon under a renewal of realizing, while the reports of an improved spot demand in the South were followed by an increased volume of hedge selling here.

Last prices were within 6 or 8 points of the early low level. July and October contracts were relatively easy during the entire day under liquidation or a little selling which, in the case of October contracts, was said to be based partly on belief that differences between old and new crop months would probably widen later in the season.

Private cables reported local and continental buying in Liverpool on bullish advices from the American markets with the advance checked by Manchester selling.

Port receipts today, 58,007. United States port stocks, 2,301,849. Exports, 50,047, making 2,296,459 so far this season.

Feats and Facts
AMONG the attributes of Commodus, Emperor of Rome, was his skill and accuracy with the javelin. On one occasion he ordered one hundred lions, which had been trapped and captured in months of snaring, released into the Roman arena at the same time, and he slew the entire hundred with one hundred throws of the javelin.
Accuracy is a quality which is necessary in the investment business, and the fact that several of the employes of Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. have been with the organization twenty-five years and more, gives them a special knowledge of the mechanics of the First Mortgage business and insures the investors, purchasing notes through this house, accurate service in every particular.
This fact should influence you in making your next investment in First Mortgages. This service is waiting for you.

OIL COMPANIES' BONDS DEVELOP GOOD DEMAND

General Market Remains Quiet—Few Utilities Issues Strong.

FOREIGN LOANS ARE FIRM

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Quiet continued to rule over the bond market today, as traders awaited the details of the Government's November 15 refinancing program, announcement of which is expected Monday. Current easy money conditions tended to restrict offerings, and prices generally were firm.

The growing volume of new issues apparently is exerting little effect on the listed market, although there is some talk of congestion. Prompt oversubscription of the $45,000,000 Cities Service Power & Light 5½s was reported, however, indicating no fundamental change in the market for new bonds.

A feature of the day's trading was a brisk demand for mortgages of oil companies, presumably on the gradual improvement in the industry. Simms 6s and General Asphalt 6s gained more than a point, Pure Oil 5½s reached a new high for the year and Standard of New York 4½s duplicated their previous top.

A few of the public utilities also displayed strength, especially Brooklyn Union Gas 5½s, which gained 4 points in sympathy with the strength of the stock into which it is convertible. Half the gain was lost toward the close, however, when realizing developed. Philadelphia Co. 5½s duplicated their year's maximum.

The railway group, which has furnished much of the leadership in recent markets, was neglected, and little transpired in the industrial group.

Firm tendencies marked the foreign department, in which trading was on an unusually broad scale. French and Belgian issues were in the forefront. New foreign financing reported on the way includes a loan of $10,000,000 to the Communal Bank of Norway, $10,000,000 to the Latvian government, and $5,000,000 to the Danish Mortgage Bank.

Heavy selling developed in the Treasury list and in Fourth Liberty 4¼s, recessions running as high as 5-32 in Treasury 4s, 4¼s and 3¾s. The 3⅜s again sold at their high record price of 101⅞.

COTTONSEED OIL MARKET.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—COTTONSEED OIL—Prime crude, 9.25; prime summer yellow spot, 10.70; December closed, 10.82, January 10.92, March, 11.08, May 11.25.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—With reports at hand telling of ocean charters for 36,000,000 bushels of wheat from Vancouver, November-January shipment, wheat values here hardened today. Early declines more than overcome. Closing quotations on wheat were firm, ⅛ cent to ⅝ cent net higher, corn ¼ cent to ⅜ cent up, oats showing ¼@⅜ cent to ⅝ cent advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

At first the wheat market here was bearishly affected in connection with talk current that before the close of lake navigation a large amount of domestic spring wheat is likely to come to Chicago and that liberal stocks accumulated here will remain all winter. These predictions were based on chances that Canada will supply foreign buyers with low priced wheat, and that the Argentine crop will begin to move about January 1.

Announcement that two cargoes of Duluth spring wheat had been sold today for shipment to Chicago tended further to handicap friends of higher prices here, and so likewise did selling of 250,000 bushels of wheat to be put into store in Chicago. An additional bearish factor was an estimate that domestic winter wheat acreage is 11 per cent larger than last year. Nevertheless, resistance to selling pressure developed and with Winnipeg prices showing upturns the market here finished at about the day's top level.

Corn moved up with wheat, country offerings of old corn were quite small. Oats displayed independent strength as a result of excellent cash demand with receipts light.

Provisions were responsive to an upward trend in the hog market.

Cash grain:

WHEAT—No. 2, hard, 1.25@1.26; No. 3 hard, 1.24.

CORN—No. 3 mixed, 80¼; No. 2 yellow, 83¾@84; No. 3 yellow, 81½@82¼.

OATS—No. 2 white, 50¼@52; No. 3 white, 47½@51.

RYE—No. 1, 1.02¼; No. 2, 1.01½@1.03½.

What's Behind Your Stock?

Kraft Cheese Co.

The Kraft Cheese Co. was incorporated in 1924 as a consolidation of J. L. Kraft & Brothers of Chicago, the Kraft Brothers Cheese Co. of Wisconsin, and several other producers of various creamery products. The company specializes in the manufacture of sterilized cheese which is put up in tinfoil and cans, owning and operating under lease 28 plants located in Illinois, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York and several other States.

Earnings data are available only since 1924. In the fiscal year ended March, 1925, earnings per share on the common stock amounted to $3.76. This figure was increased to $4.27 per share in the following fiscal year. During the calendar year 1926, per share common stock earnings amounted to $3.22.

At the time of last report the company was in good financial condition with a working capital of slightly over $8,000,000. There is no funded indebtedness, the only capital obligation being the common stock of which 347,515 shares are outstanding. The par value of these shares is $25. Dividends were inaugurated by the present company in 1925 at a $1.50 annual rate. In addition to these cash dividends, regular stock dividends amounting to 6 per cent per year are being paid.

WASHINGTON: FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1927. 15

HAGEN BEATS ARMOUR IN QUEST FOR PRO TITLE; TECH HIGH FAVORED TO DEFEAT CENTRAL TODAY

Ancient Rivals To Clash in 25th Game

Elevens Risk Chances for Title in School Grid Classic.

Central Weakened by Loss of Center and Quarter Back.

By ARTHUR A. HEYWOOD.

A HIGH SCHOOL football feud that has extended through 24 yearly games will have its twenty-fifth renewal this afternoon when Tech and Central meet at Wilson Stadium, at 3:15 o'clock, in what promises to be the most colorful scholastic gridiron clash of the season. On its outcome will practically hinge the winner of the high school football championship.

Tech, conceded the general favorite, should it win today, will have only Business remaining in its path to undisputed possession of the title. On the other hand, Central would still have Eastern and Western challenging its right to the title.

The Central squad will enter the battle today stirred to the highest emotional pitch, and inspired teams of the past, in high school circles as well as the colleges, have scored great victories. Central is confident of victory, and a team which believes it can not be beaten is hard to down.

While Central is rejoicing over the return of Joe Dinkin, star tackle to the squad, it will miss Kermit Smith, at center, and Herbert White, a substitute quarter back. Smith, who had the misfortune to break his left shoulder early in the year, broke his right shoulder in scrimmage Wednesday night.

Johnston will start at his post and be required to play probably the entire game. White was lost through ineligibility.

Climaxed by a rousing chapel meeting this morning, Central students will to do or die, the same as the team. The Central band will be in uniform and their efforts will be aided by students with 1,500 megaphones, donated by the "C" Club.

On the outcome of the game today, for Central, rests a number of "ifs." Excluding the mention of the proverbial breaks of the game which enter into every hard-fought contest, Central can look confidently to victory if it shows an alert and successful defense against Tech's aerial attack; if Rhoades and Ross, Central ends, will dive in and pile up the three Tech men who will run interference on end runs, and if the Central forward wall will out-

TECH SEEKING TIE IN LONG GRID FEUD

Has Won 9 Games and Lost 10 to Central in 25 Years.

By MIKE KELLEY,
(Central High School Coach.)

CONTINUING a rivalry that had its inception 25 years ago, in 1902, when Central triumphed over Tech by a score of 23 to 6, teams from these schools are once again awaiting Referee Magoffin's whistle today in what constitutes "the battle of the century" among local gridiron enthusiasts, regardless of the standing of either team in the high school series.

In this period of years 24 games have been played and the results, as shown below, indicate the keen competition that has existed. Central holds a one-game margin of victories, having won ten and lost nine, with five games being tied, while Tech's record is nine victories and ten losses. And in total points scored against each other we find the surprising fact that the result is even, both having run up 145 points.

The worst trimming handed out was the Central victory of 1917, which ended 33 to 0, but Tech balances this by a 33-to-5 defeat of Central in 1907. In only 4 of the 24 contests indulged in by these old rivals have more than two touchdowns been scored by the winner, showing the comparatively even merits of both squads.

This year's classic finds Tech the favorite in the pregame dope since Hardell's squad was nominated early in the season as the team most likely to win titular honors and has come through its first two series games in good style. Central, though being tied by Business, has a synthetic win to its credit by virtue of a forfeit of the

Dundee Fails To Appear For Bout

Hudkins Fight Is Canceled When Manager is Denied $60,000.

Challenger, in Ring, Walks Out, Claiming Welter Title.

WRIGLEY FIELD, Los Angeles, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Ace Hudkins, of Nebraska, claimed the welterweight championship of the world tonight when Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, failed to show up for their scheduled ten-round battle for the crown.

Pandemonium reigned at the ringside when the crowd realized that the fight for which it had paid $10 for ringside seats was not going to come off.

Rumor flew thick and fast as to the cause of the fiasco. Some said Promoter Dick Donald had not paid what was claimed to be Dundee's guarantee under the contract. Others declared that differences over referee had broken up the program. After a long delay following the two preliminaries, Hudkins came into the ring, sat there for 15 minutes and left when Dundee did not show up.

Ring attendants reported that Dundee had arrived in the dressing room and was taping his hands preparatory to filling his engagement. This was told to Clyde Hudkins, but the latter was obdurate and led his fighting brother, protesting, back down the aisle while the crowd stood up waiting for the next development.

Max Waxman, manager of Dundee, declared that the titleholder would not enter the ring in his title bout tonight with Hudkins unless he was paid the $60,000 which Promoter Dick Donald, in a contract, guaranteed him. Waxman said he could produce Dundee within fifteen minutes of the time the money was paid him.

Septh W. P. Strehlinger, commissioner of the State Athletic Commission, declared that the only contract on file with that body was one guaranteeing Dundee only a percentage of the gate. This, he said, conformed with the rules of the commission whereby no fighter could be made a guarantee.

If such a contract as Waxman describes exists, Strehlinger said, it was on the side between Dundee's manager and Donald.

At 10:30 Hudkins, preceded by a floral horseshoe and two policemen, came down the aisle and into the ring where he sat down to await the arrival of Dundee. Hudkins left the ring a few minutes later.

After further delay Tom Kennedy, of Los Angeles, one of Hudkins' handlers, announced that Dundee had not arrived at the field and that the Nebraskan claimed the welterweight title.

As Kennedy made his statement, Ace Hudkins, with his ring togs discarded and fully clad in street garb, stood behind him and nodded assent. Then he left the ring for the second time, but still the crowd held its places in the stands.

A crowd, estimated at upward of 25,000 people, was in the stands and the ringside chairs on the field, loudly demanding its money back when the scheduled main even of the evening failed to materialize, one band of the disgruntled customers started smashing chairs, and as they showed every sign of becoming ugly, riot squads of police were rushed to the ringside.

King Pins to Oppose Baltimoreans Here

The King Pin All-Stars will enter the intercity bowling match with Baltimore on the King Pin drives Saturday night determined to avenge the defeat they suffered in the Monumental City early in October when the Marylanders bettered the local quintet by about 100 pins.

Determined that he has one of the best combinations that can be selected from local bowling ranks "Bill" Wood will send the same five into action as saw service in the first meeting. Dutch Weidman will lead off followed by Joe Toomey, while Howard Campbell will be found in anchor position just behind Logan. Al Work, the only member of this aggregation not on the King Pin Club in the District League, will take care of the pivot position.

The Baltimoreans will present three familiar figures of former years in Ruppel, Lang and Von Dreele, the latter hailed as the champion of Maryland. Two new faces, however, will be seen in the Smith boys. Judging from the workouts the Baltimore artists have held on the King Pin alleys during the past two weeks, the local quintet has its work cut out in order to be returned victors of the n atch.

Reigh Count Futurity Choice In Field of 21 in Stake Today

Hertz Colt to Be Tested by Crack Array of 2-Year-Olds in Race With $73,000 Value at Pimlico; Diavolo Highly Regarded.

Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 3.—With 21 of the best juveniles of the year named through the entry box for the Pimlico Futurity, the greatest of fall prizes for the 2-year-olds, the sixth renewal tomorrow promises to be one of the greatest since the initial running in 1921 when it was won by Benjamin Block's Morvich, unbeaten as a 2-year-old. Should all go to the post in the mile test the Futurity will have a gross value of $73,930.

Mrs. John D. Hertz' Reigh Count but a short time ago seemed to stand out over the other eligibles but as the time of the running approaches, the conviction is forced that the son of Sun Reigh and Contessina is facing his hardest task.

He could have won the Futurity at Belmont Park had he been ridden out by Garner. It was his stablemate, Anita Peabody, that won. When he was the victor in the Kennedy Jockey Club

NOTRE DAME RECORD IS MENACED

Powerful Minnesota Team Will Invade South Bend.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—New plays for Saturday were given final polishing today on Western Conference gridirons, and three squads, Ohio State, Minnesota and Illinois, left for the enemy's territory late tonight, accompanied by thousands of rooters.

Not since Knute Rockne took charge of Notre Dame's football destinies in 1918 have the colors of the Gold and Blue been lowered on the home field at South Bend, but few teams with such power as the Minnesota squad of this fall have made the attempt.

For the last two years Notre Dame has defeated Minnesota, and this game ends the three-year contract between the schools.

Coach Wilce, of Ohio State, expects the same line-up that defeated Chicago to make a brave showing against Princeton Saturday. Approximately 3,500 supporters are heading east for the Tiger game.

The big parade, however, is organizing at Ann Arbor, where 12,000 followers of Michigan's football hopes are preparing to accompany the Wolverines to Chicago tomorrow. Louis Gilbert's arm has healed, and he was out practicing drop-kicks today.

Coach Stagg has given the Chicago Team a brand new set of plays for use against Michigan. Judging from the week's practice, Stagg has planned to meet passes with more passes, matching Louis Gilbert with Vin Libby.

Coach Hanley, of Northwestern, is now worrying over the loss of an all-conference guard, Justin Dart, on the eve of the Purdue game. Purdue's famous cripple, Capt. "Cotton" Wilcox, seems ready for his first great effort against a conference opponent Saturday. Northwestern will make the Purdue trip its big outpouring of the season by taking the 125-piece band.

The return of Capt. Reitsch, and Ken Deimling to practice on the Illinois squad cheered the Illini, who are looking for a tough test against Iowa. Coach Ingwersen gave his Iowa regulars a long defensive drill today.

EAGLES VS. RENROCS.

Renroc A. C. will play the Anacostia Eagle Juniors Sunday on Fairlawn field at 3 o'clock. Due to rain, yesterday's workout was wiped out and the Eagle squad will drill today at Nicholas avenue and U street southeast, at 7:30 o'clock. Players are requested to report.

CARDS UNDER NEW LEADER IN 1928

Owner Says O'Farrell May Not Manage; McKechnie Hinted.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Bob O'Farrell may not manage the St. Louis Cards in 1928, although he probably will remain in Cardinal uniform, President Sam Breadon announced today.

"I do not want to spoil a good catcher by keeping on his shoulders the responsibilities of management," Breadon said. "Perhaps the management worries had something to do with O'Farrell having an unfortunate year.

"Measured by results, which is the only fair thing to do, you must consider O'Farrell a successful manager, for he led the team through all its troubles and won more games than the club won in 1926.

"But spoiling a great catcher, the best in the business, is an expensive way of having a leader. It is easy to get a manager. There are plenty of them. But it is difficult, almost impossible to get a star player to replace one who is lost. For that reason I am uncertain as to whether I want O'Farrell to again have the worries of a manager."

Bill McKechnie, O'Farrell's assistant last season, has been mentioned as O'Farrell's possible successor.

Sauber Will Referee In Basketball Games

Ranks of football officals in the District of Columbia have been augmented by the decision of Nate Sauber, former star of the Yankees, to forsake the game as a player and assume officials' duties as a member of the Central Board of Basketball Referees.

Rated among the outstanding players ever produced in Washington until he was forced by an injury to abandon the game, Sauber has turned to officiating with the assurance that he will be assigned to many important games including high school and college contests.

Little Works G. U. Eleven In Rain

Coach Guards Against Slippery Field by Long Drill.

Lafayette, With Stars in Shape, Invades Tomorrow.

THE rainy and unpleasant weather yesterday afternoon failed to dampen the ardor and spirit of the Georgetown University football team, as it prepared for its game with the Lafayette Leopards tomorrow at the American League Park.

Coach Lou Little took advantage of the wet weather to have his players become acquainted with the slippery ball, and devoted a large share of the afternoon's light practice to handling and falling on the ball.

Physically, the Hilltop squad looks to be in fine shape for its most important game of the season, an assumption that was later verified by Trainer Harry Crowley. Philip McLean, regular half back, is the only player of the squad on the injured list. McLean's bruised hip has been responding to treatment slowly, but he is expected to be in the line-up that faces Lafayette at the opening whistle.

Lafayette, fully recuperated from the many injuries that hindered the team from presenting its full strength at any one time, brings here an eleven of great potential power that seeks to regain its lost prestige at the expense of the Hill-toppers.

Slowly and gradually the Maroon players, that started Lafayette off in impressive manner, are resuming their old places in the line and back field.

Capt. Cothran, Wilson, Atkinson and Thompson, regulars from last year, who have been out with injuries, are expected to be among the eleven that take the field against Georgetown.

Coach Herbert McCracken has not decided definitely on his starting back field, as he has experimented with several different combinations during the past week. However, indications are that Schellenberger, Chimenti, Wilson and Guest, who have been displaying great effectiveness as an offensive unit, will start tomorrow on the Maroon back field.

The Maroon squad of 35 players will reach the Capital this afternoon, and will hold a light workout at American League Park.

American U. Primed For St. John's Game

American University Eleven is being put through its final paces in preparation for the contest next Saturday morning with St. John's College at Annapolis.

The game will be played at 10:30 in the morning in order that both players and rooters will have the opportunity of attending the Navy-West Virginia Wesleyan game in the afternoon.

Coach Springston has his charges in good shape, but realized they are going up against stiff opposition in the strong St. John's Eleven. The fighting Methodists, however, he believes are in trim to put up a real battle, in spite of the recent loss of several of their regulars from the line-up.

Naming of Barnard Pleasing to Landis

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's $65,000-a-year commissioner, is delighted with the selection of Ernest S. Barnard, of Cleveland, as the new president of the American League.

"Barnard is a thorough baseball man and should make the American League an excellent executive," he said.

Howard U. Drilling For Wilberforce

The Howard Bisons are putting on the finishing touches in preparation for the hardest game on the annual schedule, that with Wilberforce at the university stadium Saturday afternoon. The Bisons, following their early disbandment, have not won a game this year. In many years previous they had not lost a game. It is the belief of their backers that the tide will turn Saturday and the reorganized team will hit its stride.

Coach Watson is making headway with fresh material in strengthening the Bison line, which has been the vulnerable point in all of the games of the year. Five regulars, including Coles, are out of the game either by reason of injuries or on account of scholastic failures. But there has been a revival of Howard spirit in recent days that gives promise of a hard-fought contest for the week-end.

Capital Star Eliminated, 4 and 3

Sarazen Defeated by Turnesa; Golden and Espinosa Win.

Hagen Amasses Lead Early, Ending Match With 4 Birdies.

CEDAR CREST COUNTRY CLUB, Dallas, Tex., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—In a classic battle of champions, Walter Hagen conquered Tommy Armour today for a semifinalist position in his fight to regain for the fifth time the titular laurels of the Professional Golfers Association.

Hagen, the defending pro champion, demonstrated once more his abilities when under fire in eliminating the American and Canadian open champion, 4 up and 3 to play.

Tomorrow "The Haig" will match strokes against Al Espinosa, the wily Chicagoan, who defeated Morte Dutra, of Tacoma, Wash. Dutra went down gamely, losing his match one down on the thirty-sixth green after a sensational rally in which he won seven holes in a row.

Joe Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., and John Golden, of Paterson, N. J., are the other semifinalists. Turnesa eliminated Gene Sarazen, of New York, former open champion, 3 and 2, and Golden turned back Frances Gallet, of Wauwatosa, Wis., 4 and 2. Golden traded the lead all day with Gallet and finally pulled ahead on the last nine holes.

Hagen triumphed over Armour by getting an early lead and hanging on doggedly, matching the open champion shot for shot and finally running him out of holes by halving the sixteenth when he was dormie three.

The break in the match came on the fourth green in the morning round when Armour stymied himself after taking the third to be one up. On the fourth green Armour and Hagen both had fairly easy putts for four, but Armour was away and above the cup. His putt missed the cup and rolled behind Hagen's ball for a dead stymie, which he failed to pitch over.

The break cost Tommy any chance he might have had of beating the deadly Hagen, for Armour found a trap on the next hole and was unable to beat the birdie two, which Walter achieved at No. 6 with a 30-foot putt. Armour continued to be wild at the seventh, hooking to the rough behind trees, "muffing" his out in the foliage and taking a five to give Hagen his fourth straight hole and make him three up.

Taking full advantage of this moment of unsteadiness Hagen played unbeatable golf the remainder of the match, counteracting any momentary lapses in his game with streaks of inspired brilliance which kept Tommy down under. Armour worked the count against him to one hole by winning the ninth and twelfth, but Hagen birdied the thirteenth to go two up, halved the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth, and then birdied the seventeenth and eighteenth, to finish the morning round four up.

In the afternoon Armour reduced his hardship to two holes by winning the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth with pars, but Hagen won the twenty-seventh and thirtieth to go four up again and they both shot four birdies in a row to finish the match at the thirty-third.

One of the largest galleries that ever saw a match in Texas followed the Hagen-Armour match and at times formed a circle of humanity from the tee to the green and back again.

Turnesa, like Hagen, won his match by running his opponents out of holes. Sarazen succeeded in squaring the match several times, but was unable to gain a lead on Turnesa at any time. Turnesa had a 75 in the morning round and was headed for a 74 in the afternoon, while Sarazen had to be satisfied with 76 in the morning and had a chance for the same figure in the afternoon.

Dutra was one up at the twenty-second, but Espinosa won the next three to go two up. Dutra won the twenty-sixth, and the, halved the next, entering the back nine with the Chicagoan one up. The twenty-ninth and thirtieth were Dutra's, and he was one up.

Espinosa squared it at the thirty-second, but Dutra shot a par three at the thirty-third and was one up again. Espinosa squared it again at the next hole, and they halved in fours at the thirty-fifth. Dutra found a trap on the thirty-sixth and the match ended.

Golden and Gallet were fairly even all day. They finished all square in the morning and traded holes most of the afternoon. Golden finally forged to the front by winning the thirty-first, thirty-second, thirty-third and thirty-fourth holes.

Dutra, in his match with Espinosa, was 6 down at the sixteenth tee in the morning, but he shot a birdie, a par and a birdie to regain three holes. Starting the afternoon round he collected three more birdies and forced Espinosa to concede a hole before the Chicago veteran could check him.

Any unlimited team in the District or Maryland wishing games with the Soldier quint can call Manager Purcell at Adams 711-W or write 321 Shepherd street northwest.

Palace Pros Report For Training Monday

A call to report for start of training Monday in New York City was issued to seven members of the Washington Basketball Club last night by owner George P. Marshall, who announced his plans over long distance telephone from the Metropolis. The local office immediately sent telegrams conveying the owner's orders to the following players:

Russell (Rusty) Saunders, forward, of Trenton, N. J.; Elmer Ripley, guard of Staten Island, N. Y.; Harry (Chick) Passon, forward, of Philadelphia; Gaza Chizmadia, center, of Perth 9mboy, N. J.; Jude Boesman, center, of Portsmouth, Ohio, and Austin Weiss, forward and guard, of Lititz, Pa. The orders also told them to report to Manager Kennedy at the club's New York headquarters, the Hotel Alamac.

Phil Scott Confident Of Defeating Hansen

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Phil Scott, the towering British heavyweight champion, is so confident of taking the measure of Knute Hansen, the "melancholy Dane," in their 10-round match at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, that he already is planning his American campaign for next year.

This is Scott's first bout in the United States, but he expects it to pave the way for him to meet other heavyweight contenders in the elimination tournament to pick another opponent for Gene Tunney. He will return to England for the holiday season, but will come back to take up the fistic trail later in the winter or spring.

Like Tunney, Scott first learned to box in the army. He was only 20 when he entered the professional ring, seven years ago.

The Britisher said today he will scale about "fourteen stone," or around 196 pounds, for his bout with Hansen. Scott is a slight favorite, but the Wisconsin Dane, fast and a hard hitter, even if lacking in aggressiveness, is expected to give the invader a good test.

Tigers Drill on Ohio Passes; Harvard Fit for Penn Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Scrimmage on soggy fields and forward passing a slippery pigskin formed the extent of workout by Eastern college elevens today.

Preparing for the important intersectional fray with Ohio State, Coach Roper had the scrubs throwing Buckeye spirals against the Princeton varsity. The Tiger regulars displayed a fast defensive and broke up the aerial attack.

Joe Caldwell, first-string guard, was on the injured list, and his condition may prevent him from playing Saturday. Jack French replaced him on the line. Ohio State, en route East, will work out in the stadium tomorrow.

Harvard tapered off an intensive practice period with passing and kicking assaults. The invasion against Pennsylvania for the first time in close to a quarter of a century found the Crimson 40 strong and without a hospital list. The squad will practice at Franklin Field tomorrow.

The University of Pennsylvania Eleven pitched camp at Absecon, N. J., this afternoon and had a brief session handling a slippery ball. The squad will not indulge in any hard scrimmage prior to the Harvard battle but the coaches had the players down for plenty of "skull" practice.

For the first time this season Eli football practice was held indoors at the armory near the practice field. Yale expects an easy game and the second team will bear the brunt of the work against Maryland Saturday.

The University of Pittsburgh held a

Money-Making Industries Take Sports as Playmate

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Having been chided now and again by readers of romantic temperament for referring to our great system of professional athletics as the sport industry, I have been making some inquiries to ascertain whether the emoluments are sufficiently large as to be regarded as of more importance than the games.

It is the contention of those who love their prize fights and their ball games for their spiritual qualities that gate receipts should be mentioned only incidentally, because a dollar sign, followed by a box-car number, occurring in a description of, say, a rousing combat between two classic bodies in the ring, constitutes a false note and a distraction sufficient to impair the true believer's enjoyment of the story.

There is apprehension also because constant emphasis on matters of finance might tweak the interests of the newspaper business offices and move the efficiency men upstairs to demand equal treatment for the sport industry and the dry goods, gents ready to wear and general house furnishings industry.

Inasmuch as it would not be feasible to write about a semi-annual sale of remnants or aluminum kettles with the same spirited feeling that inspires a story about a heavyweight championship reunion, the tendency would be to eliminate the sport page and there are those who believe this would be a calamitous arrangement.

Nevertheless I am still inclined to think that the sport industry is more an industry than a sport at present, even though there is disagreement over

PRINCE OF WALES WINS PIMLICO STAKE IN A DRIVE

One Hour Fails In Stretch Battle

Happy Argo Dislikes Slow Track in $5,000 Race.

Festic Wins by Head in Furious Duel With Bayou.

Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 3.—The McLean Stable's Prince of Wales, the swift-running son of High Time—Sand Pocket, took down the first of the Pimlico weight-for-age prizes today when he was first home in that 6-furlong feature. The prize was worth $4,950 to the winner and it was the 2-year-old filly One Hour, owned by A. C. Schwartz, that raced to the place, just saving that part of the purse from H. P. Whitney's Macaw. Others in the field were Princess Tina, Canter and Happy Argo, and they followed in the order named.

A rain during the morning hours brought a change in the track condition and the footing was slow, while overcast skies and a drop in the temperature caused some falling off in the attendance, though it was surprisingly large considering these conditions.

What'll I Do and Extreme were withdrawn from the weight-for-age feature and an effort was made to have Happy Argo excluded on account of the track condition. His performance suggested that the course was not at all to his liking and there was reason for the request.

Little time was lost at the barrier and Milton sent the six away to a walk-up start on the first attempt. Sande had Happy Argo first to show before the others but he was soon outrun by his 2-year-old stable mate, One Hour, which had the inside position.

Callahan sent her along at her best pace and when Princess Tina joined her a pair of 2-year-old fillies were showing the way to the older sprinters. But Prince of Wales was close after them and galloping strongly. Happy Argo had dropped back badly and Macaw was not showing the speed that was so confidently expected.

Princess Tina was first to weaken and as she dropped back Prince of Wales moved up on One Hour and at the same time Sande shook up Happy Argo and attempted to send him through on the rail. For an instant it seemed that the English sprinter would come through, but he floundered slightly in the going and dropped back again, this time to stay beaten.

One Hour made a good turn into the straight but by this time Prince of Wales was close after her and wearing her down at every stride. The filly fought along gamely but the McLean colt was not to be denied and he was the winner by a length.

In the meantime, Macaw, after losing much ground by having been taken around the field, came with a great rush and in another stride he would have displaced One Hour for second. Princess Tina was three lengths farther back and then came Canter, which had cut no figure in the running, with Happy Argo last of the six.

Eleven fencers accepted the issue for the two miles of the Catonsville steeplechase that was offered as the introductory number of the afternoon, and the issue proved to be a thrilling contest throughout the entire journey, only two of the eleven failing to complete the course. Mantonian, racing for H. T. Archibald and ridden by G. Smoot, was the first to reach the finishing mark, just a length and one-half to the fore of the Queen City Stable's Irish Jig, with Manifold finishing in third place before Tribute. Irish Jig and Manifold both arrived from Canada recently, and the former appeared to have been the best in the actual running, but losing an immense lot of ground tardied him somewhat in failing to get to the front end.

The mile and 70 yard affair, second on the program, was conditioned for 3-year-olds and upward and called for horses that are either maidens or winners of one race. Festic, the W. L. S. Martin color bearer, was the one most in demand for the test, and strong support found him backed into an odds-on choice, and he gallantly upheld the post of honor when, in a terrific drive, he was able to emerge victrious to get a head decision over Bayou, with Czarist proving the better of the other four that decided the issue.

In the early running Festic caused his admirers deep concern by trailing the field and Callahan experienced some difficulty in getting his mount settled fully in his stride. Once settled Festic gained fast and coming to the outside for the final test he passed his rivals steadily and was up in the last few jumps to get the verdict.

Fourteen juveniles that race under claiming conditions supplied the entertainment for the 6 furlong sprint that occupied the third position on the program and in a sinew-straining drive Angry Mood, an outsider in the wagering and sporting the colors of E. K. Bryson, was the one to get the judges' verdict at the end of the journey to earn the major share of the purse by a scant nose over Loveken, with Thymon, another at long odds, breaking into the money division by getting a close decision over Blue Flag. The first two were factors from the very beginning and it was eminent that they would divide the main shares of the purse between them.

The Jefferson Livingston color bearer, Izetta, the favored one for the mile and 70 yard dash that was fourth on the card, made good for the talent and incidentally increased the list of winning favorites during the afternoon to three when she accounted for the number in a drive to score by a little better that a length from the outsider Ebuford who came from well back of the leaders to snare the place prize, while Know Me Gnome drove into third position before Culpeper.

The Pikesville, the second best offering of the afternoon, an event framed for juveniles to test their speed over the six furlong route, resulted in another score for the Salubria Stable's Modification when she was first to reach the end of the journey and just a head to the good of Edward Riley Bradley's Black Beetle, while Inquisitor was up in the last stride to nose Hogan's Alley out of third money.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MANTONIAN, $6.30, $4.20, $3.60; IRISH JIG, $4.80, $3.80; MANIFOLD, $22.60.

MANTONIAN kept in the first flight from the start and displaying good jumping ability responded with good speed when called on, moved into command just before reaching the final fence and was under severe urging to stall off IRISH JIG. Latter, held under stiff restraint for the first mile and one-half, took the overland route and closed with a rush. MANIFOLD, outpaced for the first turn of the field, closed with good courage.

FESTIC WINNNG SECOND RACE BY A HEAD.

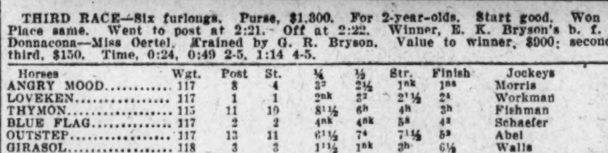

SECOND RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 1:49. Off at 1:50. Winner, W. L. Smartin's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FESTIC, $3.60, $2.60, $2.30; BAYOU, $3.60, $2.90; CZARIST, $3.30.

FESTIC, slow to get settled in his stride, was forced to go to the outside of his opposition to find racing room, circled his field rounding the far turn, closed with good courage for the final issue and was up in the closing strides. BAYOU, placed forwardly, raced THE PINE into defeat and held on with determination when the drive came. CZARIST saved ground all the way, but faltered after making his effort.

ANGRY MOOD SMILES ON BACKERS IN THIRD RACE.

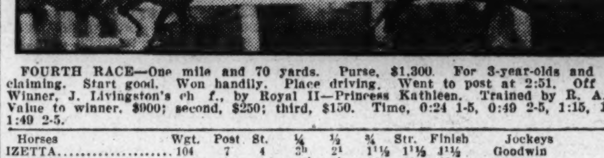

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 2:21. Off at 2:22. Winner, E. K. Bryson's b. f. (2), by Donnacona—Miss Oertel. Trained by G. R. Bryson. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ANGRY MOOD, $17.40, $9.40, $5.00; LOVEKEN, $6.40, $4.90; THYMON, $5.10.

ANGRY MOOD, performing in her best style, was sent into a contending position at once, raced GIRASOL into defeat and, holding on in tenacious fashion for the final drive, just managed to stall off LOVEKEN. Latter followed in near pursuit of the leaders while racing next to the inner rail, came to the outside when straightened away in the home stretch and just failed to get up. THYMON improved his position rapidly and finished stoutly, although bearing out at the end.

IZETTA WINS LIKE A LADY IN FOURTH EVENT.

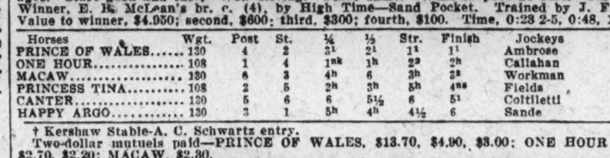

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won handily. Place driving. Went to post at 2:51. Off at 2:52. Winner, J. Livingston's ch f., by Royal II—Princess Kathleen. Trained by R. A. Smith. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:15, 1:42 3-5, 1:49 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—IZETTA, $3.90, $2.90, $2.40; EBUFORD, $8.10, $5.60; KNOW ME GNOME, $5.80.

IZETTA, sent into a prominent position, was kept under pressure from the start, took command with a rush rounding the far turn and was placed to punishment to hold her advantage. EBUFORD, slow to get going, worked his way into contention on the outside, swerved down in behind the winner a furlong out and finished gamely. KNOW ME GNOME was unable to keep pace when challenged and had to be hard urged to stall off CULPEPER.

PRINCE OF WALES AHEAD OF ONE HOUR IN FEATURE.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $4,000 added. The Pimlico Weight For Age. For all ages. Start good and fast. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 3:26. Off at 3:27. Winner, E. B. McLean's br. c. (4), by High Time—Sand Pocket. Trained by J. F. Schorr. Value to winner, $4,950; second, $600; third, $300; fourth, $100. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48, 1:13 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRINCE OF WALES, $13.70, $4.90, $3.00; ONE HOUR (entry), $2.70, $2.20; MACAW, $2.30.

PRINCE OF WALES, hustled along from the start, closed with excellent speed when called on for the final issue, wore ONE HOUR down and was under urging to the end. ONE HOUR raced PRINCESS TINA into defeat early, saved ground and held on gamely to outstay MACAW. Latter was steered extremely wide throughout the journey and covered much more ground than any of the others to finish with high speed.

MODIFICATION RUNS LIKE EXTREMIST IN SIXTH.

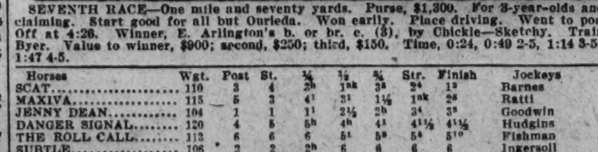

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For 2-year-olds. The Pikesville. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 3:57. Off at 3:58. Winner, Salubria Stable's b. f. (2), by High Time—Light Wine. Trained by W. Martin. Value to winner, $900; second, $304; third, $186. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:14 3-5.

Horses	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	Str.	Finish	Jockeys	Straight
MODIFICATION	108	6	5	3^{h}	3^{h}	$1^{½}$	1^{h}	Callahan	$2.45

REIGH OLGA	111	3	2	4^{nk}	4^{h}	6	6	Lang	5.60

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MODIFICATION, $6.90, $3.30, $2.50; BLACK BEETLE, $3.80, $2.90; INQUISITOR, $3.20.

MODIFICATION, rated in near attendance of the leaders, gained fast when set down and, closing fast, disposed of the pacemakers and just managed to stall off BLACK BEETLE. Latter broke tardily, moved into contention on the inside rounding the far turn, was taken to the outside and was wearing the winner down at every stride. INQUISITOR, outrun early, finished with good speed and outgamed HOGAN'S ALLEY. Latter was tiptoed along for the entire trip.

SCAT SHOWS UP IN FRONT IN LAST RACE OF DAY.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good for all but Ourieda. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:26. Winner, E. Arlington's b. or br. c. (3), by Chickle—Sketchy. Trained by F. Byer. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:42 3-5, 1:47 4-5.

Horses	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	¾	Str.	Finish	Jockeys	Straight
SCAT	110	3	4	3^{h}	1^{nk}	3^{3}	2^{4}	1^{2}	Barnes	$6.60

SUBTLE	106	2	2	2^{h}	6	6	6	6	Ingersoll	66.50
OURIEDA	110	7	Left at post						Abel	14.95

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SCAT, $15.20, $7.10, $3.80; MAXIVA, $6.20, $3.30; JENNY DEAN, $2.50.

SCAT, racing in his best form and kept within striking distance of the leaders, finished in determined fashion for the final issue, shook off MAXIVA and came away into an easy lead at the end. MAXIVA, forwardly placed, raced JENNY DEAN into defeat, but tired when the real test came. JENNY DEAN raced well for six furlongs and quit. DANGER SIGNAL was under pressure throughout, but was anchored under her high weight.

Vacation Wins Empire Closing Day Feature

Empire City, N. Y., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The New York racing season came to a close here today, under very poor weather and track conditions. It rained hard all day and the track was a sea of mud. James Butler was much in the limelight today. His horses accounted for two of the races, including the feature event, the Ardsley Handicap, a gallop for 2-year-olds over the mile and 70 yards. Vacation, with 100 pounds, was returned the winner, leading practically all the way. Mivada was second and Sunfire, favorite, third. The race was worth $3,630. Vacation rushed right to the front and led all the way to win by a length over Mivada, who in turn beat the favorite Sunfire half a length.

REIGH COUNT CHOICE TO WIN IN FUTURITY

stakes it gave a line on his quality over the mile route. He has been brought up to the Pimlico Futurity magnificently by Trainer Mitchell. He is ready, but there are others in the big field that have also developed brilliantly and are just as fit as the Hertz stable's hope. For this reason the renewal promises to be a great one.

The Wheatley Stable is represented by Diavolo, a real route traveler, and the filly Nixie, which proved her quality at Aqueduct by beating the colts in the Junior Champion. Twitter is to carry the silks of H. P. Whitney and she is another filly of high quality that is ready to run. It was hoped that Victorian would be the Whitney choice, but he is hardly up to the effort.

Then there are A. H. Cosden's Vito and Walter M. Jeffords' Mateau, two that have proved themselves. Petee Wrack is sure to improve over his recent showing, as is Excalibur. Eugene S. is another. Oh Say has earned the right to consideration and it is possible to name others that make the field a notable one.

Threatened rain may change the track conditions before post time, but it would take considerable bad weather to affect the going seriously.

* Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LITTLE GIPSY, $3.20, $3.00, $2.60; CROOKED WORK, $8.00, $6.00; BOB JOHNSTON, $5.80.

LITTLE GIPSY, hard hustled to draw clear after first quarter, raced into a good lead, but began tiring in the drive and was rapidly succumbing to CROOKED WORK. Latter followed fairly close up and making a fast finish, was racing best at the end. BOB JOHNSTON closed a big gap in first five furlongs and held on resolutely thereafter.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For maiden 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 2:28. Off at 2:30. Winner, C. L. Whiting's b. c. (2), by Tom McTaggart—Eastertide. Trained by E. Davis. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:14 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FRED BUELL, $4.40, $3.80, $2.80; BASHFUL BEAU, $19.80, $11.00; MILAN, $4.40.

FRED BUELL, taken into the lead at once, displayed good speed and, coming out for the firmest footing in stretch, stalled off BASHFUL BEAU without need of severe pressure. Latter, showing improvement, improved his position fast early part and, after going wide for stretch, made a game finish. MILAN raced forwardly throughout and held on well.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 2:54. Off at 2:55. Winner, J. N. Camden's b. f. (3), by Light Brigade—Plausible. Trained by R. Goose. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:48, 1:13 3-5, 1:39 2-5, 1:46.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLATTERY, $3.20, $2.40, out; MARLBORO, $4.20, out; no show mutuels sold.

FLATTERY followed under strong restraint first five furlongs and when pocketed by PATRICIA MARIAN appeared to bother latter getting through on the last turn and, wearing down MARLBORO quickly, won with speed to spare. MARLBORO, rated in front, responded weakly entering stretch, then began tiring and was no match for winner. PATRICIA MARIAN, carried wide first turn, worked her way up fast on the outside, kept the winner in tight quarters on late turns and flattened out in the drive after meeting interference.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,600. For fillies and mares all ages. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 3:17. Off at 3:18. Winner, B. O. Hickman's b. f. (2), by Golden Maxim—Hasty Chick. Trained by D. Lehan. Value to winner, $1,200; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:18 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MYTH, $41.80, $12.20, $5.00; COLOR BLIND, $4.00, $2.60; HUSH DEAR, $3.60.

MYTH, under good handling and kept forward under steadying restraint to the stretch, went to the leaders fast when ready and, holding on resolutely, stalled off COLOR BLIND. Latter, away well, but unable to keep up early part, suffered from blocking during early stretch, and although finishing best, was in tight quarters and with a clear course might have won. HUSH DEAR, taken up repeatedly early part, finished fast on outside.

FIFTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,500. For 2-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 3:42. Off at 3:44. Winner, C. T. Worthington's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—WILLIAM PENN, $10.40, $5.80, $4.60; OLD FELLOW, $6.60, $4.60; WILLIAM T (field), $5.40.

WILLIAM PENN raced into a good lead in the first half mile and, saving ground while under rating to stretch, drew out under hustling tactics final three sixteenths. OLD FELLOW, vigorously handled throughout, worked his way up gradually on outside and, coming wide in stretch, held on resolutely. WILLIAM T, forward from the start, came with better speed on last turn, but tired in drive

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:10. Off at 4:11. Winner, C. H. Trotter's ch. m. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LUCKY DRIFT, $7.00, $5.20, $3.00; DUENNA, $15.40, $7.40; EDNA GLENN, $5.00.

LUCKY DRIFT, going in her best form and rated to the stretch, easily disposed of EDNA GLENN and, taking a big lead quickly, held it to the end. DUENNA, saving ground early part, came around the outside with a good rush in stretch. EDNA GLENN made the pace under hustling tactics and, tiring badly ... stretch, barely outstayed PARTING WAYS.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-fourth miles. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:40. Off at 4:43. Winner, Gallaher & Combs' b. g. * Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PETER PRIM, $7.40, $5.00, $3.80; MAGIC LIGHT, $16.60, $8.40; LONGCHAMPS, $2.80.

PETER PRIM, under a well-judged ride, followed not far back and always clear the first six furlongs and, moving with MAGIC LIGHT, took a good lead entering stretch and was never menaced thereafter. MAGIC LIGHT, losing much ground when working way up early part, made a resolute finish. LONGCHAMPS, also forced wide most of the trip, hung on gamely in the drive.

COLLYER'S COMMENTS on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

REIGH COUNT.

Mrs. J. D. Hert's big train is the star special in the $40,000 Pimlico Futurity this afternoon. His hollow victory in the Kentucky jockey stakes of one mile at Louisville, makes him stand out as the best 2-year-old of the waning year. Victory today will give him undisputed claim to the championship. A well-balanced field will go to the post with him. VITO, of the Waterbury-Cosden entry, and GLADE and EXCALIBUR, of the Greentree stable, probably will be the runner up.

In the opening spasm, H. P. Whitney's VICTORIAN appears a stand out. This one was rated as a high-class 2-year-old in the spring and has not been to the post for some time. His recent trials here indicate he is ready to fly. BALKO, a much improved youngster, may be the trouble maker. MARSH VIOLET holds the others safe.

TURQUOISE is sent to me as a real sleeper in the second event. LAMPUS, though well weighted, is likely to give him a hard battle. WHISKERY is the class of the quintet entered in the third and he will have to be doing his best to stall off GAFFSMAN at the weights. SNOBBISH, favored by a muddy track, appears the one to be "it" in the fourth. RHYME and REASON raced well at Empire. SISTER SHIP is the long overdue sister of the noted Crusader. May be this is the spot for her.

The Seagrams have WANDERING MINSTREL in the sixth and they tell me they are going to shoot. LAMORTE promises to make him travel. STORM KING looks like peaches and cream in the seventh.

Over at Latonia, the good thing is PERCENTAGE in the Havlin Hotel Handicap, fifth on the card. That last race of his was good enough to make him beat BROAD AXE, DUNMORE and all the rest of them.

In the opening spasm I can't see anything but CHIEF UNCAS. DAWN OF TOMORROW, if she gets in, may make it interesting for him. You can write your own ticket on the second. In the third, the judge whispers DIVORCEE for whatever that indicates.

CANBERRA is worth another shot in the fourth. Might have been a trifle short the other day. MARCONI catches my eye in the sixth. MYRTLE DEE, as fast as the wind, is making its first start in a long while. STEP ALONG is bound to go well here. More anon.

LATONIA.

Chief Uncas, Dawn of Tomorrow, Seminola.
Black Cyclone, Trifle, Irish Ruins.
Divorcee, Kakiedoodles, Open Go Shut.
Canberra, Storm Signal, Miss Furbelow.
Percentage, Broad Axe, Runmore.
Marconi, Myrtle Dee, Step Along.
Parole II, The Engineer, Revolver.
Best—Percentage.
Collyer's system horse—Wandering Minstrel.
Best parlay—Percentage, Reigh Count, Canberra, all to win.

PIMLICO.

Victoria, Balko, Marsh Violet.
Turquoise, Lampus, Harry Hellman.
Whiskery, Gaffsman, Banton.
Snobbish, Rhyme and Reason, Sister Ship.
Reigh Count, Waterbury-Cosden entry, Green Tree entry.
Wandering Minstrel, Lamorte, Fine Champagne.
Storm King, Needle Gun, Centrifugal.
Best—Reigh Count.

PRINCE OF WALES WINS PIMLICO STAKE IN [illegible]

OneHourFails In Stretch Battle

Happy Argo Dislikes Slow Track in $5,000 Race.

Festic Wins by Head in Furious Duel With Bayou.

Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 3.—The McLean Stable's Prince of Wales, the swift-running son of High Time—Sand Pocket, took down the first of the Pimlico weight-for-age prizes today when he was first home in that 6-furlong feature. The prize was worth $4,950 to the winner and it was the 2-year-old filly One Hour, owned by A. C. Schwartz, that raced to the place, just saving that part of the purse from H. P. Whitney's Macaw. Others in the field were Princess Tina, Canter and Happy Argo, and they followed in the order named.

A rain during the morning hours brought a change in the track condition and the footing was slow, while overcast skies and a drop in the temperature caused some falling off in the attendance, though it was surprisingly large considering these conditions.

What'll I Do and Extreme were withdrawn from the weight-for-age feature and an effort was made to have Happy Argo excluded on account of the track condition. His performance suggested that the course was not at all to his liking and there was reason for the request.

Little time was lost at the barrier and Milton sent the six away to a walk-up start on the first attempt. Sande had Happy Argo first to show before the others but he was soon outrun by his 2-year-old stable mate, One Hour, which had the inside position.

Callahan sent her along at her best pace and when Princess Tina joined her a pair of 2-year-old fillies were showing the way to the older sprinters. But Prince of Wales was close after them and galloping strongly. Happy Argo had dropped back badly and Macaw was not showing the speed that was so confidently expected.

Princess Tina was first to weaken and as she dropped back Prince of Wales moved up on One Hour and at the same time Sande shook up Happy Argo and attempted to send him through on the rail. For an instant it seemed that the English sprinter would come through, but he floundered slightly in the going and dropped back again, this time to stay beaten.

One Hour made a good turn into the straight but by this time Prince of Wales was close after her and wearing her down at every stride. The filly fought along gamely but the McLean colt was not to be denied and he was the winner by a length.

In the meantime, Macaw, after losing much ground by having been taken around the field, came with a great rush and in another stride he would have displaced One Hour for second. Princess Tina was three lengths farther back and then came Canter, which had cut no figure in the running, with Happy Argo last of the six.

Eleven fencers accepted the issue for the two miles of the Catonsville steeplechase that was offered as the introductory number of the afternoon, and the issue proved to be a thrilling contest throughout the entire journey, only two of the eleven failing to complete the course. Mantonian, racing for H. T. Archibald and ridden by G. Smoot, was the first to reach the finishing mark, just a length and one-half to the fore of the Queen City Stable's Irish Jig, with Manifold finishing in third place before Tribute. Irish Jig and Manifold both arrived from Canada recently, and the former appeared to have been the best in the actual running, but losing an immense lot of ground tardied him somewhat in failing to get to the front end.

The mile and 70 yard affair, second on the program, was conditioned for 3-year-olds and upward and called for horses that are either maidens or winners of one race. Festic, the W. L. S. Martin color bearer, was the one most in demand for the test, and strong support found him backed into an odds-on choice, and he gallantly upheld the post of honor when, in a terrific drive, he was able to emerge victrious to get a head decision over Bayou, with Czarist proving the better of the other four that decided the issue.

In the early running Festic caused his admirers deep concern by trailing the field and Callahan experienced some difficulty in getting his mount settled fully in his stride. Once settled Festic gained fast and coming to the outside for the final test he passed his rivals steadily and was up in the last few jumps to get the verdict.

Fourteen juveniles that race under claiming conditions supplied the entertainment for the 6 furlong sprint that occupied the third position on the program and in a sinew-straining drive Angry Mood, an outsider in the wagering and sporting the colors of E. K. Bryson, was the one to get the judges' verdict at the end of the journey to earn the major share of the purse by a scant nose over Loveken, with Thymon, another at long odds, breaking into the money division by getting a close decision over Blue Flag. The first two were factors from the very beginning and it was eminent that they would divide the main shares of the purse between them.

The Jefferson Livingston color bearer, Izetta, the favored one for the mile and 70 yard dash that was fourth on the card, made good for the talent and incidentally increased the list of winning favorites during the afternoon to three when she accounted for the number in a drive to score by a little better that a length from the outsider Ebuford who came from well back of the leaders to snare the place prize, while Know Me Gnome drove into third position before Culpeper.

The Pikesville, the second best offering of the afternoon, an event framed for juveniles to test their speed over the six furlong route, resulted in another score for the Salubria Stable's Modification when she was first to reach the end of the journey and just a head to the good of Edward Riley Bradley's Black Beetle, while Inquisitor was up in the last stride to nose Hogan's Alley out of third money.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MANTONIAN, $6.30, $4.20, $3.80; IRISH JIG, $4.80, $3.80; MANIFOLD, $22.60.

MANTONIAN kept in the first flight from the start and displaying good jumping ability responded with good speed when called on, moved into command just before reaching the final fence and was under severe urging to stall off IRISH JIG. Latter, held under stiff restraint for the first mile and one-half, took the overland route and closed with a rush. MANIFOLD, outpaced for the first turn of the field, closed with good courage.

FESTIC WINNNG SECOND RACE BY A HEAD.

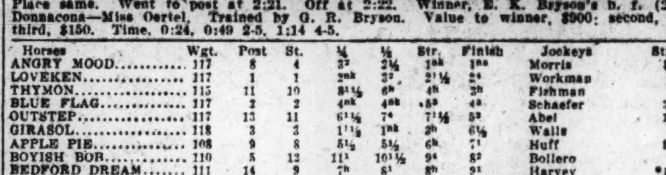

SECOND RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 1:40. Off at 1:50. Winner, W. L. Smartis's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FESTIC, $3.60, $2.60, $2.30; BAYOU, $3.60, $2.00; CZARIST, $3.30.

FESTIC, slow to get settled in his stride, was forced to go to the outside of his opposition to find racing room, circled his field rounding the far turn, closed with good courage for the final issue and was up in the closing strides. BAYOU, placed forwardly, raced THE PINE into defeat and held on with determination when the drive came. CZARIST saved ground all the way, but faltered after making his effort.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ANGRY MOOD, $17.40, $9.40, $5.00; LOVEKEN, $6.40, $4.90; THYMON, $5.10.

ANGRY MOOD, performing in her best style, was sent into a contending position at once, raced GIRASOL into defeat and, holding on in tenacious fashion for the final drive, just managed to stall off LOVEKEN. Latter followed in near pursuit of the leaders while racing next to the inner rail, came to the outside when straightened away in the home stretch and just failed to get up. THYMON improved his position rapidly and finished stoutly, although bearing out at the end.

IZETTA WINS LIKE A LADY IN FOURTH EVENT.

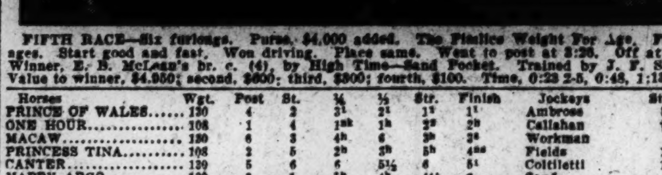

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won handily. Place driving. Went to post at 2:51. Off at 2:52. Winner, J. Livingston's ch f., by Royal II—Princess Kathleen. Trained by R. A. Smith. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:15, 1:42 3-5, 1:49 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—IZETTA, $3.90, $2.90, $2.40; EBUFORD, $5.10, $5.60; KNOW ME GNOME, $5.80.

IZETTA, sent into a prominent position, was kept under pressure from the start, took command with a rush rounding the far turn and was placed to punishment to hold her advantage. EBUFORD, slow to get going, worked his way into contention on the outside, swerved down in behind the winner a furlong out and finished gamely. KNOW ME GNOME was unable to keep pace when challenged and had to be hard urged to stall off CULPEPER.

PRINCE OF WALES AHEAD OF ONE HOUR IN FEATURE.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $4,000 added. The Pimlico Weight For Age. For all ages. Start good and fast. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 3:26. Off at 3:27. Winner, E. B. McLean's br. c. (4), by High Time—Sand Pocket. Trained by J. F. Schorr. Value to winner, $4,950; second, $600; third, $300; fourth, $100. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48, 1:13 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRINCE OF WALES, $13.70, $4.90, $3.00; ONE HOUR (entry), $2.70, $2.20; MACAW, $2.30.

PRINCE OF WALES, hustled along from the start, closed with excellent speed when called on for the final issue, wore ONE HOUR down and was under urging to the end. ONE HOUR raced PRINCESS TINA into defeat early, saved ground and held on gamely to outstay MACAW. Latter was steered extremely wide throughout the journey and covered much more ground than any of the others to finish with high speed.

MODIFICATION RUNS LIKE EXTREMIST IN SIXTH.

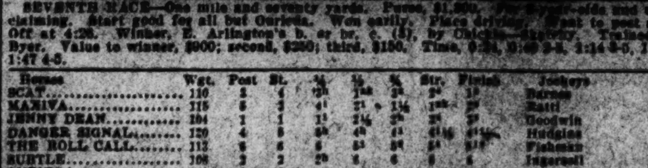

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For 2-year-olds. The Pikesville. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 3:57. Off at 3:58. Winner, Salubria Stable's b. f. (2), by High Time—Light Wine. Trained by W. Martin. Value to winner, $900; second, $304; third, $186. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:14 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MODIFICATION, $6.90, $3.30, $2.50; BLACK BEETLE, $3.80, $2.90; INQUISITOR, $3.20.

MODIFICATION, rated in near attendance of the leaders, gained fast when set down and, closing fast, disposed of the pacemakers and just managed to stall off BLACK BEETLE. Latter broke tardily, moved into contention on the inside rounding the far turn, was taken to the outside and was wearing the winner down at every stride. INQUISITOR, outrun early, finished with good speed and outgamed HOGAN'S ALLEY. Latter was tiptoed along for the entire trip.

SCAT SHOWS UP IN FRONT IN LAST RACE OF DAY.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good for all but Ourieda. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:26. Winner, E. Arlington's b. or br. c. (3), by Chicle—Shawney. Trained by F. Byer. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:49 3-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:42 3-5, 1:47 4-5.

Horses	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	¾	Str.	Finish	Jockeys	Straight

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SCAT, $15.20, $7.10, $3.50; MAXIVA, $4.20, $3.30; JENNY DEAN, $2.90.

SCAT, racing in his best form and kept within striking distance of the leaders, finished in determined fashion for the final issue, shook off MAXIVA and came away into an easy lead at the end. MAXIVA, forwardly placed, raced JENNY DEAN into defeat, but tired when the real test came. JENNY DEAN raced well for six furlongs and quit. DANGER SIGNAL was under pressure throughout, but was anchored under her high weight.

[illegible] the second race, [illegible] well weighted, is likely to give [illegible] hard battle. [illegible] of the quintet entered in the third and he will have to be doing his best to stall off GAFFSMAN at the weights. SNOBBISH, [illegible], appears the one to be "it" in the fourth. RHYME and REASON stand well at Empire. SISTER SHIP is the long overdue sister of the noted Crusader. May be this is the spot for her.

The Seagrams have WANDERING MINSTREL in the sixth and they tell me they are going to shoot. LAMORTE promises to make him travel. STORM KING looks like peaches and cream in the seventh.

Over at Latonia, the good thing is PERCENTAGE in the Hamlin Hotel Handicap, fifth on the card. That last race of his was good enough to make him beat BROAD AXE, DUNMORE and all the rest of them.

In the opening spasm I can't see anything but CHIEF UNCAS. DAWN OF TOMORROW, if she gets in, may make it interesting for him. You can write your own ticket on the second. In the third, the [illegible]

Vacation Wins Empire Closing Day Feature

Empire City, N. Y., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The New York racing season came to a close here today, under very poor weather and track conditions. It rained hard all day and the track was a sea of mud. James Butler was much in the limelight today. His horses accounted for two of the races, including the feature event, the Ardsley Handicap, a gallop for 2-year-olds over the mile and 70 yards. Vacation, with 100 pounds, was returned the winner, leading practically all the way. Mivada was second and Sunfire, favorite, third. The race was worth $3,630. Vacation rushed right to the front and led all the way to win by a length over Mivada, who in turn beat the favorite Sunfire half a length.

stakes it gave a line on his quality over the mile route. He has been brought up to the Pimlico Futurity magnificently by Trainer Mitchell. He is ready, but there are others in the big field that have also developed brilliantly and are just as fit as the Hertz stable's hope. For this reason the renewal promises to be a great one.

The Wheatley Stable is represented by Diavolo, a real route traveler, and the filly Nixie, which proved her quality at Aqueduct by beating the colts in the Junior Champion. Twitter is to carry the silks of H. P. Whitney and she is another filly of high quality that is ready to run. It was hoped that Victorian would be the Whitney choice, but he is hardly up to the effort.

Then there are A. H. Cosden's Vito and Walter M. Jeffords' Mateau, two that have proved themselves. Peter Wrack is sure to improve over his recent showing, as is Excalibur. Eugene S. is another. Oh Say has earned the right to consideration and it is possible to name others that make the field a notable one.

Threatened rain may change the track conditions before post time, but it would take considerable bad weather to affect the going seriously.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LITTLE GIPSY, $3.20, $8.00, $2.60; CROOKED WORK, $8.00, $6.00; BOB JOHNSTON, $5.80.

LITTLE GIPSY, hard hustled to draw clear after first quarter, raced into a good lead, but began tiring in the drive and was rapidly succumbing to CROOKED WORK. Latter followed fairly close up and making a fast finish, was racing best at the end. BOB JOHNSTON closed a big gap in first five furlongs and held on resolutely thereafter.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For maiden 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 2:28. Off at 2:30. Winner, C. L. Whiting's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FRED BUELL, $4.40, $3.80, $2.80; BASHFUL BEAU, $19.80, $11.00; MILAN, $4.40.

FRED BUELL, taken into the lead at once, displayed good speed and, coming out for the firmest footing in stretch, stalled off BASHFUL BEAU without need of severe pressure. Latter, showing improvement, improved his position fast early part and, after going wide for stretch, made a game finish. MILAN raced forwardly throughout and held on well.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 2:54. Off at 2:55. Winner, J. N. Camden's b. f. (3), by Light Brigade—Plausible. Trained by R. Goose. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:48, 1:13 3-5, 1:39 2-5, 1:46.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLATTERY, $3.20, $2.40, out; MARLBORO, $4.20, out; no show mutuels sold.

FLATTERY followed under strong restraint first five furlongs and when pocketed by PATRICIA MARIAN appeared to bother latter getting through on the last turn and, wearing down MARLBORO quickly, won with speed to spare. MARLBORO, rated in front, responded weakly entering stretch, then began tiring and was no match for winner. PATRICIA MARIAN, carried wide first turn, worked her way up fast on the outside, kept the winner in tight quarters on late turns and flattened out in the drive after meeting interference.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,600. For fillies and mares all ages. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 3:17. Off at 3:18. Winner, B. O. Hickman's b. f. (2), by Golden Maxim—Hasty Chick. Trained by D. Lehan. Value to winner, $1,200; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:13 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MYTH, $41.80, $12.20, $5.00; COLOR BLIND, $4.00, $2.60; HUSH DEAR, $3.60.

MYTH, under good handling and kept forward under steadying restraint to the stretch, went to the leaders fast when ready and, holding on resolutely, stalled off COLOR BLIND. Latter, away well, but unable to keep up early part, suffered from blocking during early stretch, and although finishing best, was in tight quarters and with a clear course might have won. HUSH DEAR, taken up repeatedly early part, finished fast on outside.

FIFTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,500. For 2-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 3:42. Off at 3:44. Winner, C. T. Worthington's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—WILLIAM PENN, $10.40, $5.80, $4.60; OLD FELLOW, $6.60, $4.60; WILLIAM T (field), $5.40.

WILLIAM PENN raced into a good lead in the first half mile and, saving ground while under rating to stretch, drew out under hustling tactics final three sixteenths. OLD FELLOW, vigorously handled throughout, worked his way up gradually on outside and, coming wide in stretch, held on resolutely. WILLIAM T, forward from the start, came with better speed on last turn, but tired in drive.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:10. Off at 4:11. Winner, C. H. Trotter's ch. m. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LUCKY DRIFT, $7.00, $5.20, $3.00; DUENNA, $15.40, $7.40; EDNA GLENN, $5.00.

LUCKY DRIFT, going in her best form and rated to the stretch, easily disposed of EDNA GLENN and, taking a big lead quickly, held it to the end. DUENNA, saving ground early part, came around the outside with a good rush in stretch. EDNA GLENN made the pace under hustling tactics and, tiring badly in stretch, barely outstayed PARTING WAYS.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-fourth miles. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:40. Off at 4:42. Winner, Gallaher & Combs' b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PETER PRIM, $7.40, $5.00, $3.30; MAGIC LIGHT, $16.00, $8.40; LONGCHAMPS, $2.80.

PETER PRIM, under a well-judged ride, followed not far back and always clear the first six furlongs and, moving with MAGIC LIGHT, took a good lead entering stretch and was never menaced thereafter. MAGIC LIGHT, losing much ground when working way up early part, made a resolute finish. LONGCHAMPS, also forced wide most of the trip, hung on gamely in the drive.

UNBEATEN G. W. ELEVEN LEAVES FOR PENN STATE

17 Players Bid Recognition Of Nation

Colonials in Smooth Final Workout on Wet Field.

Lions Reported Ready to Start Regulars Tomorrow.

THE small George Washington Football Squad of seventeen players, accompanied by Coach Crum and Manager Keough, left last night for State College, Pa., in quest of the boldest victory ever sought by a Colonial team—a triumph over the powerful Penn State Eleven in their clash tomorrow.

The Penn State machine evidently reached the peak of its power in the 40-6 victory over Lafayette, but tomorrow's fray with George Washington will afford the Lions no respite before their big game with New York University on November 12.

The Colonials, with five impressive victories, are one of the few teams in the East that can boast an undefeated record, a fact that the State coaches have heeded seriously.

The Nittany Lions will be strong favorites to defeat the undefeated invaders from the Capital, but Coach Hugo Bezdek, with due respect for the strength of the Colonials, will start his best eleven against George Washington.

In last year's battle the plucky Colonial Team forced Penn State to the limit before losing by a 20-12 score. With its reserve strength limited to six players, the Colonials are expected to employ the forward pass as the chief scoring resource.

If the players can bear up under the strain of the Penn State's driving offensive, Coach Crum is confident of his team making a creditable showing against the Lions. In their final practice yesterday afternoon at the Tidal Basin, the squad went through a complete rehearsal of its plays and passes with snap and precision that bespeaks well for the smoothness and team play of the George Washington attack.

Sapp, who has been troubled by a bruised back, is in fine shape and will start in tomorrow's fray. The squad will arrive at State College early this afternoon and hold a brief workout in the Lions' stadium.

His Death Is Denied By Former Pitcher

St. Croix Falls, Wis., Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Pausing in his duties as drayman, Roy Patterson, former Chicago White Sox and Minneapolis pitcher, today said he appreciated messages of condolence to his wife following his reported death at Norristown, Pa., Tuesday.

Patterson, with the White Sox eight years, including their world's championship campaign of 1906, and later with Minneapolis in the American Association, said he is at a loss regarding origin of the report.

Since his retirement from baseball in 1920 Mr. and Mrs. Patterson have made their home here, just as they did following the baseball season each year.

Apaches Expect Hard Battle With Sailors

With Welchel, former Naval Academy star, in charge the gridiron warriors of the U. S. S. Florida will invade the Apaches' stronghold at Union Park on Sunday. Playing a team which is said to be a topnotcher in independent football ranks of the South, the Apaches are taking no chances with their record of consecutive victories.

Coach Ty Rauber, former Washington and Lee star, has his charges in top shape for the contest.

Wilner, District Boy, To Lead Penn Eleven

Morton Wilner, for three years a member of the Central High School Football Team and captain of the team in 1925, his last year, when Central won the championship, may start at quarter back for Penn on Saturday when it meets Harvard.

Wilner, who is hailed at Penn as one of the fastest and most energetic men on the squad, is expected to replace Paul Murphy, who is being ousted because of his poor showing of field generalship against Navy. Johnny Shober, another quarter back candidate, is lost because of injury.

In 1925, when Wilner was captain of Central, the Central Team's goal was uncrossed in the high school series.

PLANSKYS WITHOUT GAME.

Due to a cancellation, the Plansky Midgets are without a game for Sunday. Any eleven interested, call Manager Norman Stansbury at West 642.

FLYING CLOUDS' NOTICE.

All players desiring a try-out with the Flying Cloud Senior Basketball Team report at 819 Eleventh street northeast Saturday night at 7 o'clock.

QUICK! Clean HANK-O-CHIEFS

When you've come away without the daily handkerchiefs, here are Hank-O-Chiefs. Step in—or send for some. Sealed—soft (ready-to-use)—they launder beautifully. A good idea is to keep a supply in your desk—they're inexpensive.

HANK-O-CHIEFS

10c each, or two for 25c; or 15c each; or 25c each.

SOCCER BODY STARTS CUP TIE PLAY

8 Teams Compete in Tourney Beginning on Sunday.

THE first round of the Washington and Southeastern District Soccer Association's cup tie tournament will be played Sunday, with four games listed. The pairings are: Clan MacLennan vs. Walford, Monument Grounds, at 3 o'clock; Concord vs. Marlboro, Monument Grounds, at 1 o'clock; Rosedale vs. German-Americans, Rosedale, at 3 o'clock, and British Uniteds vs. Rockville, 3 o'clock, Monument Grounds.

Jess Burton, John Malloch, Edward Kruse and Louis Bulicek, respectively, will referee the games. The defeated teams will be eliminated and the victors will be paired for the second round.

Any of the above mentioned teams desiring to use players of clubs not entered in the eliminations may do so, it was decided by the association heads, providing their registrations are in the hands of the secretary, William Oram, by tomorrow, or that the postmark on the letter shows that the form was mailed on Saturday.

Linesmen named are—Walford-Clan MacLennan, Fawcett and Castle; Concord-Marlboro, Smith and Ben Kail; British Uniteds-Rockville, McCarty and Tennyson; German-Americans-Rosedale, Gus Heller and John Murphy.

Reina Mercedes Here Against Hawks Sunday

Memories of the steam-roller attack of the Reina Mercedes Eleven in its first visit to American League Park this year are still fresh in the minds of the Mohawk players. Sunday the Annapolis Sailors will be back, this time confident of evening the series with the District champions.

Coach Hegarty intended to put his Indians through a long drill last night, but the rainy weather kept the players inside. A blackboard lecture was on the program.

Gallaudet to Meet Blue Ridge Tomorrow

Gallaudet College will endeavor to register its first victory of the season in its game against the Blue Ridge College tomorrow at Kendall Green.

This will be the Kendall Greeners' first game against an opponent in its class, and they are confident of winning. Although it has been decisively beaten in the several games played, Gallaudet has gained invaluable experience, which is counted upon to help the team in the remaining games.

Capt. Byouk, who has been out with an injury, is fully recovered and will play against Blue Ridge.

SPORTS NEW PLAYMATE FOR "BIG" INDUSTRIES

the definition of sport. Fly casters and people who play roque, which is a form of croquet sometimes become impatient because their competitions are ignored or slighted, due the preoccupation of the sport writers with fights and baseball and the politics of both.

However, I have asked Mr. C. C. Pyle, nickelodeon magnate who corrupted the amateur ideals of Red Grange, just how much genuine, negotiable money Mr. Grange has made in public life since he cut the laces of his clothing and stepped out of varsity football late on a Saturday afternoon not quite two years ago.

"He has made $400,000," Mr. Pyle said. "I mean he has made that much for himself. He made most of it out of football, but of course, he made some out of the moving pictures and the by-products, such as the cigarette testimonials, though he never smokes, and his royalties on the delicious and nutritious Red Grange candy bar which sells at 5 cents.

"We have just received a check for $9,000 for the September royalties on this tempting and appetizing confection, bringing our total income from this source to $132,000 of which Red gets half."

Then I called on Mr. Tex Rickard and, without prompting, he told me that Jack Dempsey, as the drawing card, had played to a total of $9,115,000 in seven prize fights of a total duration of just a few minutes more than two hours in the last eight years.

"Do you consider that Dempsey was the one who drew money?" I asked him.

"Dempsey's the drawing card," Rickard said. "Gene Tunney gets sore when I say Dempsey is the card, so I usually just say Dempsey's a great drawing card without saying he's the greatest. But Dempsey draws the money. He drew $5,646,000 in one year, $1,895,000 against Tunney in Philadelphia; $1,083,000 against Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium last summer, and $2,668,000 against Tunney in Chicago.

"People have been saying the Madison Square Garden Corporation only made $70,000 on the Chicago fight. They're crazy. We made more than $400,000.

"Do you know any other business that can make that profit on the little amount of money the Garden corporation had to put up for rent, building the temporary seats and the tickets and help? We spent about $300,000 producing the show, money that we stood to lose and couldn't possibly get back if the whole thing had blown up."

Was this then a sport or an industry?

I do not say that I would be indifferent if the business offices of the newspapers should take cognizance of my contention that this is an industry and close the sport pages to all but strictly amateur events, although I would be amused watching the assistant business managers in a catch-as-catch-can bout with the problem of defining amateur sport.

But if it must come, let it come and I will go to Washington and cover the United States Congress, confident that my occupation will never be relegated out from under me again, because even the business office will never find industry dominant over the spirit of play down there.

MD. IN LONG DRILL FOR YALE

Pugh May Substitute for Thomas; Squad Off for Bowl.

ALTHOUGH weather and ground conditions were not inviting yesterday, Maryland's football squad went through a long signal drill in getting in the last extended work for the clash with Yale in the big New Haven bowl tomorrow. There will be a short session today prior to the entraining in the sleepers for the Connecticut city.

While there still is some doubt as to whether Thomas, Maryland's best back, will start against the Elis, the chances now seem that he will. This will make the Maryland line-up as follows:

Should Thomas not be able to start, Pugh, another fast but lighter man, will be in his place.

Maryland is hopeful that Tad Jones, Yale coach, will stick to his intention of starting his first team, although the Old Liners have learned by experience that there is little difference between a Yale first and second combination.

In fact, Maryland feels about Yale as some one said about Notre Dame: "They haven't got a football team, they've got about 33 great football players."

One consoling thing, though, is that they can not play more than eleven of them at a time.

New Court League In Meeting Tonight

The new Intercity Basketball League, which will play preliminaries to the Palace basketball games at the Arcadia, will meet tonight at the Herald sports department at 8:30 o'clock. The Knights of Columbus and Jewish Community Center teams have made application for entrance, bringing the number of clubs to eight.

lengthy drill today with Dick (Bullet) Booth, the eleven's high scoring full back, back in the line-up after an absence of three days. Booth declared he would be in condition for the tussle with Washington and Jefferson on Saturday.

Numbering 25 players, the West Virginia outfit left today for Columbia, Mo., to clash with the Missouri Tigers on Saturday. A brief workout was held on Carnegie Tech Field this afternoon.

Rain put a damper on Penn State activities and the squad's final practice for the George Washington game was abbreviated to limbering-up exercises.

After a dummy scrimmage in the baseball cage, the Dartmouth players went through a snappy signal drill on a water soaked field. The squad leaves for Providence tomorrow for the Brown struggle.

TECH HIGH FAVORITE TO WIN GAME TODAY

charge the Tech line and enable Cross, Simmons, Stevens and Ault to get away.

In the various departments of the game, Tech in every instance is either on a par or holds the edge over Central. While Cross is a reliable punter for Central, Capt. Kriemelmeyer, of Tech, is practically sure to outdistance him. Coach Hardell has another good punter in Jack Edwards, who came to Tech from Plainfield, N. J.

He has shown considerable skill in practice, but his worth under fire is unknown. He probably will not start for Tech. In John Ritter, Tech has a passer the equal of which Central can not produce, although Cross and Simmons are rated as good throwers.

Tech has by far the greatest array of ball carriers in Mills, Guy, Florence, Kriemelmeyer, Ritter, Edwards, Sorrell, Bailey and Drissell, against Cross, Ault, Stevens and Simmons. A win for Central would be a great and glorious victory and one which should be written down in the book.

The Tech squad has not shown its true strength. Against Eastern, Tech elected to throw passes continually, mixing very few end runs and line plays. Though the Manual Trainers won 27-0, at least two of the touchdowns came on two distinct breaks, aided by excellent blocking by the other team members. Against Western, Tech swept down the field to score a touchdown in half a dozen plays. The ball carrier came skirting around the ends with three men running interference and got away for long gains. After Tech had scored the team settled back and worked under wraps, confident to accept victory by a 6-0 margin over Western. Against Central today Tech will throw its full strength.

NORTHERNS DRILL.

Northern A. C. will practice Saturday in final preparation for the Marfeldt game Sunday. Players are requested report on the Park View playgrounds at 7 o'clock.

QUINTS TO PLAY.

Winton A. C., 110-pound basketball team, will play the strong Corinthian quint Monday night at the Peck Gym at 8 o'clock. Winton players are to meet at Twelfth and G streets southeast at 7 o'clock.

THE George Washington University Varsity Hockey Squad was named last night by Miss Virginia Hopkins, physical director, on the eve of the season's initial match to be played at 2 p. m. today with the American University Eleven at the Ellipse.

Officials for the game will be Katherine Whitfield and Miss Eugene, of the Washington Field Hockey Club.

Other members of the varsity who will play as reserves today are: Elizabeth DeKay, Ruth Chamberlain, Emeline Fulsom and Josephine Trey, forwards; Caroline Noble, Alice Adams, Claudia Kyle and Elizabeth Brandenberg, backs.

Play in the Elementary School Basketball League and the Elementary School Volleyball League progressed yesterday with eleven dodgeball and four basketball matches played off.

Gales School defeated Seaton by 1 point in the Plaza division feature; Morgan outplayed E. V. Brown, 21-2, in the Happy Hollow schedule; Brookland blanked Keen, 40 to 0, in the Bloomingdale match and Slater ran up a 38-14 score with J. Cook in Howard division.

Results:

PLAZA DIVISION.
Gales defeated Seaton, 7-6, basketball.
Thompson defeated Edmonds, 34-4, dodgeball.
Peabody defeated Arthur, 8-1, dodgeball.

game so that the slate of both teams is clean on the eve of the battle though the Blue and White seems to have lost caste with the critics by that tie game.

Yet the favorite dope may be all thrown to the winds in this game for it doesn't mean much to either squad. The writer looks for a stirring game today and has confidence that if any squad is capable of upsetting the Manual Trainers, Central's entry will not be found wanting.

Foley Lauded by "C" Club; Football Team Honored

The "C" Club, in a rousing reception last night at the Racquet Club, paid a joint tribute to William ("Bill") Foley, track coach and an outstanding figure at Central since 1898, and to the Central football team on the eve of its great battle with Tech.

The "C" Club as part of its tribute to Bill Foley had on display a large portrait likeness of him which was presented by Robert E. Acorn and which will be presented formally to Central High School at a chapel meeting on Wednesday of the following week.

Mr. Foley's record at Central since 1898 was described as phenomenal. Until 1913 track teams coached by him never lost a spring meet, Western triumphing over Central that year. The outstanding characteristic of Mr. Foley's long association with Central was not the turning out of winning teams, but the building of men. To the "C" Club members, many of whom attended Central when it was known as the "O Street School," look upon Coach Foley as the only tie who is still connected with Central.

Among the other speakers who paid tribute to both the team and Mr. Foley were Sylvan King, president of the "C" Club; Principal Alvin W. Miller, former Principal Robert Mauer, Coaches Mike Kelly, S. T. Kimble and Bert Coggins, former Coach Tom Kirby, Manager Joe Howard, Robert Newby and Gene Casey. Leon Katz, former Central cheer leader, led in the school yells.

FOUR GAMES TODAY FOR PREPS

Emerson and Devitt to Meet in Feature on G. U. Field.

THE big attraction in a schedule of four games for local prep schools today will be the Devitt-Emerson clash on the Georgetown University Field at 3 o'clock. Of the other games, the Gonzaga Eleven will engage the Georgetown Prep School at Garrett Park at 3 o'clock while St. John's will entertain the George Mason High on the Tidal Basin. Rounding out the card will be the St. Alban-St. Paul tussle on the St. Alban's Field at 3 o'clock.

Emerson will enter the fray with Devitt with probably the strongest line-up it has known for many years. In seasons past the Emersons have always put a good combination on the field but somehow it lacked the polish of a champion.

This year, however, the squad has been unusually attentive in working for a material end and it is this fact that has made their success so pronounced. Coach Sanborn is pleased with the way his men have played to date and figures they have a good chance in defeating Devitt today. Kirby and Davidson will probably start at ends; Hill and Krick, tackles; Shugrue and Darby, guards; Delaney, center, with Casassa, Jenkins, Price and Fowler in the back field.

Several changes will be made in the Devitt line-up, due to injuries of several dependable players. Knott will fill in at full back for Baskain, Kennedy will work for Culer and Baker will play for Fletcher on the line. Hoppe, capable end, thought unable to play, will take his place in the line as usual.

The rest of the line-up will remain intact. Although handicapped slightly, Devitt on past performances, should offer no little resistance. A high light on the game is that the fact that Shugrue brothers will oppose each other, each playing guard positions for their respective teams.

Misfortune hit the Gonzaga camp in full force yesterday when it was learned that Coach Kenneth Simondinger will not be with the team for several days on account of a severe illness.

Coming right on the eve of the Georgetown Prep game the I Streeters, although greatly handicapped will carry on under the careful direction of Capt. Brew, stellar tackle. Their main threat against the Georgetowners will be in Garvin, speedy back, whose work in recent games has been the bright spot of the team's play.

If the St. John's Eleven can flash any of the form displayed against the George Washington Freshmen last week, the George Mason High School is in fora decisive trouncing. Coach Zube Sullivan's youngsters have been drilling diligently for this game and should offer a stellar brand of football against its opponents from Virginia.

Reports from St. Alban's Eleven indicate that the local team is ready for the St. Paul School of Baltimore. Comparing the strengths of both elevens, St. Alban's outclasses the Maryland outfit in every department of play. Serving only as a real workout for next week's more strenuous game, is the way the St. Alban's squad is taking this encounter.

CHASE MIDGETS TRAVEL.

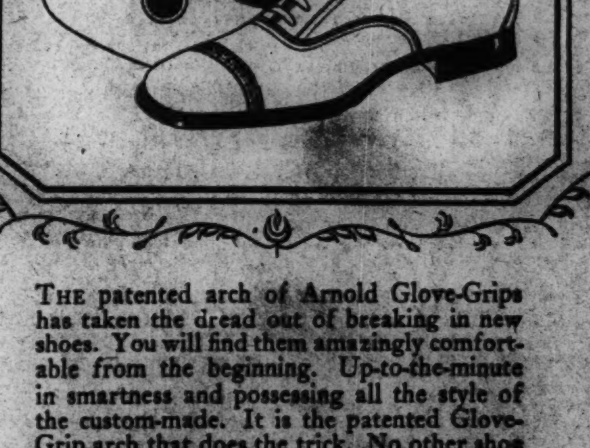

Chevy Chase Midgets will journey to Alexandria tomorrow to meet the Alexandria Gazette Midgets at Dreadnaught Park at 11 o'clock. Chevy Chase players will meet at Gould's store at 9:15 o'clock.

COLLEGIANS TO PLAY.

Collegian gridmen will play the Langleys Sunday on the Tidal Basin Field at 11 o'clock. Collegian players will meet at 121 Seventh street at 10 o'clock for the game. Stull and Morton, new additions, are expected to strengthen the team considerably.

MOHAWKS PREPARE.

Mohawk gridmen will practice tonight at the clubhouse at 6:30 o'clock in preparation for the game with the Reina Mercedes Eleven Sunday at American League Park. Players are requested to report.

STATION WMAL PRESSES FOR NEW WAVE LENGTH

MAKES OFFER OF HELP

Acknowledging a letter addressed to him by H. J. Odenthal, secretary of the City Club, in behalf of Station WMAL, Radio Commissioner Caldwell has assured Mr. Odenthal that he is in sympathy with Station WMAL's situation and wants to do what he can to help. Commissioner Caldwell is said to have advised Station WMAL to make application to the Federal Radio Commission for a good wave length now in use by an Eastern broadcasting station, after which a hearing will be held and the relative merits of the stations decided.

"We stand firm on our conviction that WMAL ceases to exist on 242 meters" (the new wave length to which it was recently assigned), Mr. Odenthal wrote Commissioner Caldwell. "We find, for the purpose of presenting a few facts, that Philadelphia has 13 stations above 1,150 kilocycles (260.7 meters). Baltimore has 3 above 1,050 (285.5 meters), Pittsburgh 4 above 1,110 (270 meters) and New York 30 above 1,100 (272.6 meters). Should not the decimation or weeding process begin in those places before Washington? There are just two stations to be taken seriously here—WRC and WMAL. Yet Washington is the most important city in the Nation."

Mr. Odenthal also expressed the opinion that Station WMAL serves just as useful a purpose as the chain stations, saying that it, too could tie up on short notice with either the Columbia or the new Metro chain.

Rosario Bourdon will feature the Saint-Saens Septet in the program of the Cities Service Concert Orchestra tonight at 8 o'clock from WRC. The Cities Service Cavaliers will assist in the program.

The first November program of the Anglo-Persians will see two changes, the first being that this well-known orchestra group, directed by Louis Katzman, will go on the air an hour earlier than formerly, or at 9 o'clock, and the second, five additional stations will be added to the hook-up already taking this feature. The change of time will continue during the season and the new stations are WOC, Davenport; WCCO, Minneapolis, St. Paul; WOW, Omaha; WTMJ, Milwaukee, and WBAP, Fort Worth, Tex., enabling hundreds of new listeners to tune in on one of the most unique musical programs on the air.

The program tonight includes selections from Crist, Delibes, Gruen, Iwanow, Wieniawski and Patterson.

Following the Lord Calvert Ensemble from the studio of WRC at 9:30 o'clock, the Musical Miniatures program will be broadcast. This feature will be presented by a mixed quartet and orchestra under the direction of David Buttolph.

A Brunswick Panatrope "Pop" concert and the Weekly Luncheon Forum from the City Club will make up WMAL'S noonday broadcast. Roe Fulkerson, editor of the Kiwanis magazine and known to the local audience for his previous broadcasts, will speak on "Who Is Living Your Life?" in the latter program.

The Arthur Jordan Music Forum will be presented at 9:10 o'clock tonight, with J. Horace Smithey, barytone, of New York City, and the Jordan Instrumental Trio. The forum is conducted by Frank Kimmel.

STATION WMAL PRESSES FOR NEW WAVE LENGTH

MAKES OFFER OF HELP

Acknowledging a letter addressed to him by H. J. Odenthal, secretary of the City Club, in behalf of Station WMAL, Radio Commissioner Caldwell has assured Mr. Odenthal that he is in sympathy with Station WMAL's situation and waits to do what he can to help. Commissioner Caldwell is said to have advised Station WMAL to make application to the Federal Radio Commission for a good wave length now in use by an Eastern broadcasting station, after which a hearing will be held and the relative merits of the stations decided.

"We stand firm on our conviction that WMAL ceases to exist on 942 meters" (the new wave length to which it was recently assigned), Mr. Odenthal wrote Commissioner Caldwell. "We find, for the purpose of presenting a few facts, that Philadelphia has 13 stations above 1,150 kiloeycles (260.7 meters), Baltimore has 3 above 1,050 (285.1 meters), Pittsburgh 4 above 1,110 (970 meters) and New York 30 above 1,100 (972.6 meters). Should not the decimation or weeding process begin in those places before Washington? There are just two stations to be taken seriously here—WRC and WMAL. Yet Washington is the most important city in the Nation."

Mr. Odenthal also expressed the opinion that Station WMAL serves just as useful a purpose as the chain stations, saying that it, too, could tie up on short notice with either the Columbia or the new Metro chain.

Rosario Bourdon will feature the Saint-Saens Septet in the program of the Cities Service Concert Orchestra tonight at 8 o'clock from WRC. The Cities Service Cavaliers will assist in the program.

The first November program of the Angio-Persians will see two changes, the first being that this well-known orchestra group, directed by Louis Katzman, will go on the air an hour earlier than formerly, or at 9 o'clock, and the second, five additional stations will be added to the hook-up already taking this feature. The change of time will

UTILITIES HAVE ABSORBED $1,500,000,000 THIS YEAR

New Capital Taken and $500,000,000 for Refunding Indicate Industry's Growth.

GAS SHARES AT NEW HIGH

By F. W. PATTERSON.

Further evidence of the rapid growth of the public utility industry is to be seen in the exceptional amount of new financing during recent months, culminating in a record volume for October. It is estimated by the Bureau of Public Service Information that the utility industry during the first nine months of this year absorbed nearly $1,500,000,000 of new capital. There were also refunding operations approximating $500,000,000 more, mostly for the purpose of reducing capital charges on invested money.

Among important utility issues appearing during the month were $35,000,000 Philadelphia Electric first and refunding 4½s, to yield 4.58 per cent; $66,000,000 New York Power & Light first mortgage 4½s, to yield 4.72 per cent; $35,000,000 Shawinigan Water & Power first mortgage and collateral 4½s, to yield 4.75 per cent, and $10,000,000 Duquesne Light Mortgage 4½s, to yield 4.55 per cent. In its current review of public utilities the National City Bank says: "The fact that such big issues are readily absorbed at these levels indicates that the better utilities are finding a larger place in the investment accounts of those ultra conservatives who until recent years have confined themselves more closely to high-grade rails, municipals and other lower yield issues."

With issues of $45,000,000 Cities Service Power & Light 5½ gold debentures, $24,000,000 Penn Central Light & Power 4½s, and an additional $10,000,000 of Empire Gas & Fuel 7 per cent cumulative preferred, offered to the public this week, indications are that utility offerings in November will go ahead of October and probably exceed those in November a year ago.

Gas Light Shares Advance.

Washington Gas Light shares which advanced to 82 in yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange stepped into new high ground for the year. This stock has been one of the most active stocks on the exchange since the first of the year, transactions totaling 10,410 shares, and starting at 71⅝ followed by a brief drop to 69 the price has gradually worked up to the new level reached yesterday.

There was little activity in the other utilities, a small lot of Capital Traction changing hands at 108¼, a fraction under the close of Wednesday, while Potomac Electric 5½ preferred picked up a ¼ point to sell at 106½, and the 6 per cent preferred gained to 112½ on an odd lot sale.

Sanitary Grocery was the leader in the miscellaneous list, starting at 102⅛, with all other transactions recorded at 102. Federal-American Co. common sold in a block of 25 shares at 39, while National Mortgage & Investment preferred gained to 6¾ on sales of 75 shares.

On the bond side of the market Capital Traction 5s sold at 102½; Potomac Electric consolidated 5s at 102¾ and 103; Washington, Alexandria & Mount Vernon 5s sold in the amount of $10,000 at 4 flat for the certificates; City & Suburban 5s changed hands at 99; Washington Gas Light 6s series "A" sold at 105 and the series "B" at 105½.

Loans to Brokers Increase.

Loans to brokers and dealers held by the member banks of the New York Federal Reserve for the week ended Wednesday totaled $3,371,705,000, compared with $3,343,777,000 for the preceding week, according to announcement yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board.

Reserve Branch for Charlotte, N. C.

Following a conference with the Federal Reserve Board, announcement was made yesterday by George J. Seay, governor of the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank, that the Charlotte, N. C., branch would open about December 1.

The Charlotte branch will serve approximately 75 Federal Reserve member banks in North Carolina and a part of South Carolina, the exact territory to be allotted shortly.

Two Chosen Assistant Cashiers.

C. Howle Young and W. Edmund Freeman yesterday were appointed assistant cashiers of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank at a meeting of the board of directors, according to announcement by Harry V. Haynes, president.

Both of the officers have won their promotions in the institution after several years of work through the various departments. Young will remain at the main office of the institution, but Freeman will, upon completion of the branch office building in construction at Wisconsin avenue and Warren street northwest, take charge as manager. President Haynes believes that the branch office would open for business on or about December 1.

Treasury Plans Refunding.

Preparations are under way in the Treasury on plans for refunding the Second Liberty loan 4¼ per cent bonds called for maturity on November 15. The department has declined to make known just what type of financing would absorb $830,000,000 of the outstanding bonds. The original issue was $3,225,000,000.

Attend Baltimore Assembly.

I. J. Roberts, president of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, and T. Hunton Leith, Security Savings & Commercial Bank, member of the forum committee, attended the commercial assembly in Baltimore yesterday, at which addresses were made by members of the Babson organization.

Prospects Brighter for Land Banks.

In commenting on the recent conference in Washington between the presidents of the Joint Stock Land Banks and members of the Federal Farm Loan Board, John F. Barry, of Gilbert Eliott & Co., gave voice to the opinion that Joint Stock Land Banks may be said to have turned the corner and the outlook for the future of these institutions is good.

"The consensus of opinion," said Mr. Barry, "was that a marked improvement has been made since Eugene Meyer became farm loan commissioner, and the examinations of the banks are now much more rigid and follow the general lines of the National bank examinations as made by the comptroller of the currency. The general feeling," continued Mr. Barry, "seems to be that the Joint Stock Land Banks have made a strong showing, when the seriousness of the agricultural depression is considered, in conjunction with the rapid growth of the land bank system. Within ten years the banks have loaned over $600,000,000."

Back from Texas Trip.

Francis G. Addison, jr., vice president Security Savings & Commercial Bank, who upon completion of the convention of the American Bankers Association in Houston, Tex., remained for a few days of hunting, returned to his desk yesterday.

11 KILLED, 26 MISSING AS SHIP SINKS FERRY

Children Among the Victims of Crash at Sydney, New South Wales.

BOAT LOST IN 3 MINUTES

Sydney, New South Wales, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The peaceful decks of a plodding ferryboat were thrown into an uproar of horror and death today when the boat carrying 150 persons, many of them school children, was crushed beneath the bow of the steamship Tahiti, outward bound for San Francisco.

There was a terrific explosion and timber was hurled in every direction, while the ferryboat settled rapidly and sank within three minutes.

Latest estimates placed the list of dead at 11 with 26 missing.

Eleven bodies had been recovered this afternoon. Fifty persons were treated for injuries while the number of those rescued could not be definitely determined since scores of small boats sped to the scene and picked up survivors, carrying them to scattered points along the harbor

When the Tahiti struck the ferryboat, there was a grinding crash and most of the boat's passengers were thrown into the water, struggling and crying for help. The Tahiti put out small boats to pick up the survivors as did other boats in the vicinity and the work of rescue went on rapidly.

"It was a mess," exclaimed one passenger after he had been saved. "The passengers never had a chance."

The Tahiti, after picking up all those it could find in the waters, continued on her voyage to San Francisco.

Women Seek a Blond As Lost Dog's Owner

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Gentlemen, it has been said, prefer blondes, but there is no doubt as to the blonde preferences of an aristocratic black and white collie dog whose home Evanston clubwomen are trying to find.

The animal, lean, hungry and footsore, was first noticed by an Evanston policeman wandering aimlessly in a maze of traffic. The dog was turned over to the humane society.

Evanston clubwomen who became interested in the dog decided that its owner was a woman and that she is a blonde, because each time the animal sees a blonde he leaps up with a joyful bark, only to turn away when he finds she is not the one sought.

Clubwomen have sent descriptions of the dog over the entire country.

Champagne Seized On U. S. Board Ship

Philadelphia, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Suspicious actions of a number of men in a motorboat near the United States Shipping Board steamer Innoko today resulted in the seizure of 1,200 bottles of alleged champagne on the vessel by customs agents.

The Innoko recently arrived in this country from Rotterdam, stopping at New York, Baltimore and Norfolk before coming to Philadelphia to take on cargo for the Dutch port.

Charged With $5,000 Shortage, Is "Sorry"

Springfield, Ohio, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—"I'm awfully sorry," was the only comment made by C. Forgey Moorehead, former city auditor, today as he was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of embezzling $5,500 in city funds.

Aside from that statement he would say nothing, not even to make a formal plea when arraigned.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Oil shares again stood out sharply in the curb market today. Buying, stimulated by further recessions in the output of Seminole field, and a feeling that the petroleum industry has turned uphill after reaching the bottom, brought gains of 1 to nearly 3 points in many issues, with a sprinkling of new peaks for the year or longer.

Pipe line stocks were in particular demand, Illinois and Indiana both reaching new tops and Prairie rising more than 2 points. Heavy accumulation of Vacuum, Standard of Indiana, Standard of Kentucky was in evidence, while Gulf Oil and Penn-Mex Fuel sold at their best prices of the year.

A good demand also developed for many of the utilities, further reflecting the prosperous condition of that branch of endeavor. United Gas Improvement and Northern States Power "A" advanced 1¼ and 3¼ respectively, while Northern States Power preferred reached a new high of 109¼.

Pools were again active in a few leading specialties, such as Borden Co., Celanese and the celluloid issues. Celluloid new common advanced more than 7 points to 125, a new maximum figure American Cigar gained 6¼ on a few odd lot sales and Deere & Co., Neisner Brothers and Newmont Mining were strong.

American Rolling Mills declined 3 points on profit taking after the recent sustained advance, and American Laundry Machinery and White Sewing Machine rights were among the few soft spots.

Cudahy Kidnaper Arrested as Beggar

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Pat Crowe, one-time bandit, train robber, kidnaper, author and lecturer on the futility of crime, fell into the clutches of the law today for begging. He received a suspended sentence and bought a ticket for his home at Hastings-on-the-Hudson with a collection taken up by detectives.

After his dismissal, Crowe regaled the police with tales of his exploits 25 years ago. He declared he had received $25,000 ransom after kidnaping Edward Cudahy, son of the millionaire packer, and had forsaken his criminal career after terrorizing Western railroads by a series of train robberies. He was successful as a lecturer and writer, he said, but financial reverses had dissipated his wealth.

$40,000 to Glorify "Hot-Dog" Stands

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—A suggestion (backed by $7,000) made last summer by Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, jr., for the glorification of the American hot dog stand has received such support from sausage manufacturers that today the humble weenie seemed to be permanently endowed.

Mrs. Rockefeller's gift, to be disseminated in prizes for most artistic bologna stands, has swelled "well into five figures," the art center, which is in charge of the competition, announced today. No definite figure was named, but the Evening Post says the hot dog fund is close to $40,000.

He and Ruth Elder Take an Aerial Sight-Seeing Tour of Paris.

AVIATRIX TASTES WINE

Paris, Nov. 3 (A. .).—Men of all ages, some young, some middle-aged, but most of them old enough to be grandfathers, lavished respectful and affectionate tribute today on Ruth Elder in her busiest day since she reached Paris.

Perhaps on the basis that man should stick together, George Haldeman, her copilot on their attempted trans-Atlantic flight, got the lion's share of applause when they lunched with the American Club and attended receptions in their honor at the senate and city hall, even though she was more favored in the verbal bouquets.

The "happy midinette," who has taken the attitude that Paris is an Eden for shopping, was unable to continue her sartorial excursions today, but she and Haldeman profited by springlike sunshine to take an hour's flight from Le Bourget Flying Field. They swooped low over the luxurious palaces at Versailles and Fontainebleau on their aerial sightseeing tour.

The girl flier's program carried her through such extremes as being uproariously elected a jolly good fellow by members and guests of the American Club and being saluted with extreme dignity by grey-bearded senators as a harbinger of world peace. In both places the aviatrix was overcome with mingled delight and embarrassment.

Among the Americans, in a room filled with tobacco smoke and tables laden with wines which she not only saw but tasted, Miss Elder was treated to old-fashioned American "hip hip-hoorahs" in addition to flowing tribute from the club's president, Percy Peixotto, whose prose was almost as flowery as the poetry he quoted.

"Your name is justly known to the whole universe," declared Senator Gaston Menier at the senate reception. Senator Lazare Weiller added, "You, with Lindbergh and other fliers, will make the world so small wars will be impossible."

Flanked by two greybeards and facing a roomful of them, the customarily smiling face of the aviatrix was frozen into momentary solemnity.

Another tribute of the same kind was forthcoming when the American fliers were received by M. Delsol, president of the board of aldermen, and other members of the board. Here she signed the golden book which bears the signatures of Lindberg, Byrd, Chamberlin and New York's Jimmy Walker.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—A check for $1,000 was turned over to the Associated Press today, to be given to the captain and crew of the Dutch oil tanker Barendrecht in token of the gratitude of Wheeling, W. Va., citizens for the rescue of Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, after they were forced down at sea October 13 last while attempting a nonstop flight from here to Paris.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Crop and business conditions in Canada this year are excellent, and with new money from this large crop yield good business next year is expected, in the opinion of E. W. Beatty, president and chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In view of the fact that the crop has been late, there will be a large carry-over, which will mean heavy traffic in the first part of 1928.

Directors of the International Mercantile Marine Co. discussed only routine business at their meeting today.

American Steel Foundries earned $3.37 a share on the common in nine months this year after preferred dividends, against $3.87 a share in the same period of 1926.

F. J. Lewis, chairman of F. J. Lewis Manufacturing Co., today was elected a director of the International Combustion Engineering Corporation. George E Leonard, president, reported to the directors that the corporation's business was good, not only in this country, but in Europe, where large new power plant projects embodying superpower stations were under active construction.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York made no change today in its prevailing rediscount rate of 3½ per cent.

Stewart McDonald, president of Moon Motor Car Co. reports orders for November and December delivery exceed those of any two consecutive months this year.

Soviet oil exports for the fiscal year ended September 30 amounted to 2,038,000 metric tons, breaking all Russian records, the Soviet Union Information Bureau reports. The previous high mark was 1,837,000 metric tons in 1904. Gasoline and fuel oil formed 68 per cent of the year's exports. Italy was the largest consumer of Soviet oil products in the year, 447,600 metric tons.

The fuel oil market at Gulf Coast points has turned weaker, reflecting the first effect on spot oil markets of the influx of West Texas crude oil. Offerings are being made at 5 cents a barrel less than quotations recently made in the large U. S. Shipping Board contracts and 15 cents under the ruling price a few months ago. Three main trunk lines are now bringing crude oil to Gulf Coast points and other through lines are being laid or projected. Bunker fuel oil is being offered at $1.25 a barrel, the trade hears.

Net profits of Chandler-Cleveland Motor Co. for the third quarter declined to $170,164 from $381,512 in the third quarter last year.

Sales of Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co. for the third quarter were 11 per cent ahead of the same period last year. The company is still behind orders.

The Dinamo Electric Co., of Italy, a subsidiary of the Edison General Italian Electric Co. of Milan, in which more than $20,000,000 of American capital has been invested through the International Power Securities Corporation, has decided to distribute to stockholders a dividend of 9 lire a share, against 8 lire a share last year. The shares have a par value of 100 lire.

Deliveries of raw silk to American mills during October approximated 47,827 bales as compared with 50,107 in September and 47,768 in October, 1926, the Silk Association of America reported today. October imports were 51,207 bales as compared with 52,475 in September and 48,403 in October, 1926. Stocks on November 1 totaled 62,366 bales against 58,986 on October 1, and 35,094 bales on November 1, 1926.

UTILITIES HAVE ABSORBED $1,500,000,000 THIS YEAR

New Capital Taken and $500,000,000 for Refunding Indicate Industry's Growth.

GAS SHARES AT NEW HIGH

By F. W. PATTERSON.

Further evidence of the rapid growth of the public utility industry is to be seen in the exceptional amount of new financing during recent months, culminating in a record volume for October. It is estimated by the Bureau of Public Service Information that the utility industry during the first nine months of this year absorbed nearly $1,500,000,000 of new capital. There were also refunding operations approximating $500,000,000 more, mostly for the purpose of reducing capital charges on invested money.

Among important utility issues appearing during the month were $35,000,000 Philadelphia Electric first and refunding 4½s, to yield 4.58 per cent; $66,000,000 New York Power & Light first mortgage 4½s, to yield 4.72 per cent; $35,000,000 Shawinigan Water & Power first mortgage and collateral 4½s, to yield 4.75 per cent, and $10,000,000 Duquesne Light Mortgage 4½s, to yield 4.55 per cent. In its current review of public utilities the National City Bank says: "The fact that such big issues are readily absorbed at these levels indicates that the better utilities are finding a larger place in the investment accounts of those ultra conservatives who until recent years have confined themselves more closely to high-grade rails, municipals and other lower yield issues."

With issues of $45,000,000 Cities Service Power & Light 5½ gold debentures, $24,000,000 Penn Central Light & Power 4½s, and an additional $10,000,000 of Empire Gas & Fuel 7 per cent cumulative preferred, offered to the public this week, indications are that utility offerings in November will go ahead of October and probably exceed those in November a year ago.

Gas Light Shares Advance.

Washington Gas Light shares which advanced to 82 in yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange stepped into new high ground for the year. This stock has been one of the most active stocks on the exchange since the first of the year, transactions totaling 10,410 shares, and starting at 71⅝ followed by a brief drop to 69 the price has gradually worked up to the new level reached yesterday.

There was little activity in the other utilities, a small lot of Capital Traction changing hands at 108¼, a fraction under the close of Wednesday, while Potomac Electric 5½ preferred picked up a ¼ point to sell at 106½, and the 6 per cent preferred gained to 112½ on an odd lot sale.

Sanitary Grocery was the leader in the miscellaneous list, starting at 102⅛, with all other transactions recorded at 102. Federal-American Co. common sold in a block of 25 shares at 39, while National Mortgage & Investment preferred gained to 6¾ on sales of 75 shares.

On the bond side of the market Capital Traction 5s sold at 102½; Potomac Electric consolidated 5s at 102¾ and 103; Washington, Alexandria & Mount Vernon 5s sold in the amount of $10,000 at 4 flat for the certificates; City & Suburban 5s changed hands at 99; Washington Gas Light 6s series "A" sold at 105 and the series "B" at 105½.

Loans to Brokers Increase.

Loans to brokers and dealers held by the member banks of the New York Federal Reserve for the week ended Wednesday totaled $3,371,705,000, compared with $3,343,777,000 for the preceding week, according to announcement yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board.

Reserve Branch for Charlotte, N. C.

Following a conference with the Federal Reserve Board, announcement was made yesterday by George J. Seay, governor of the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank, that the Charlotte, N. C., branch would open about December 1.

The Charlotte branch will serve approximately 75 Federal Reserve member banks in North Carolina and a part of South Carolina, the exact territory to be allotted shortly.

Two Chosen Assistant Cashiers.

C. Howle Young and W. Edmund Freeman yesterday were appointed assistant cashiers of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank at a meeting of the board of directors, according to announcement by Harry V. Haynes, president.

Both of the officers have won their promotions in the institution after several years of work through the various departments. Young will remain at the main office of the institution, but Freeman will, upon completion of the branch office building in construction at Wisconsin avenue and Warren street northwest, take charge as manager. President Haynes believes that the branch office would open for business on or about December 1.

Treasury Plans Refunding.

Preparations are under way in the Treasury on plans for refunding the Second Liberty loan 4¼ per cent bonds called for maturity on November 15. The department has declined to make known just what type of financing would absorb $830,000,000 of the outstanding bonds. The original issue was $3,225,000,000.

Attend Baltimore Assembly.

I. J. Roberts, president of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, and T. Hunton Leith, Security Savings & Commercial Bank, member of the forum committee, attended the commercial assembly in Baltimore yesterday, at which addresses were made by members of the Babson organization.

Prospects Brighter for Land Banks.

In commenting on the recent conference in Washington between the presidents of the Joint Stock Land Banks and members of the Federal Farm Loan Board, John F. Barry, of Gilbert Eliott & Co., gave voice to the opinion that Joint Stock Land Banks may be said to have turned the corner and the outlook for the future of these institutions is good.

"The consensus of opinion," said Mr. Barry, "was that a marked improvement has been made since Eugene Meyer became farm loan commissioner, and the examinations of the banks are now much more rigid and follow the general lines of the National bank examinations as made by the comptroller of the currency. The general feeling," continued Mr. Barry, "seems to be that the Joint Stock Land Banks have made a strong showing, when the seriousness of the agricultural depression is considered, in conjunction with the rapid growth of the land bank system. Within ten years the banks have loaned over $600,000,000.

Back from Texas Trip.

Francis G. Addison, jr., vice president Security Savings & Commercial Bank, who upon completion of the convention of the American Bankers Association in Houston, Tex., remained for a few days of hunting, returned to his desk yesterday.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Crop and business conditions in Canada this year are excellent, and with new money from this large crop yield good business next year is expected, in the opinion of E. W. Beatty, president and chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In view of the fact that the crop has been late, there will be a large carry-over, which will mean heavy traffic in the first part of 1928.

Directors of the International Mercantile Marine Co. discussed only routine business at their meeting today.

American Steel Foundries earned $3.37 a share on the common in nine months this year after preferred dividends, against $3.87 a share in the same period of 1926.

F. J. Lewis, chairman of F. J. Lewis Manufacturing Co., today was elected a director of the International Combustion Engineering Corporation. George E Leonard, president, reported to the directors that the corporation's business was good, not only in this country, but in Europe, where large new power plant projects embodying superpower stations were under active construction.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York made no change today in its prevailing rediscount rate of 3½ per cent.

Stewart McDonald, president of Moon Motor Car Co. reports orders for November and December delivery exceed those of any two consecutive months this year.

Soviet oil exports for the fiscal year ended September 30 amounted to 2,038,000 metric tons, breaking all Russian records, the Soviet Union Information Bureau reports. The previous high mark was 1,837,000 metric tons in 1904. Gasoline and fuel oil formed 68 per cent of the year's exports. Italy was the largest consumer of Soviet oil products in the year, 447,600 metric tons.

The fuel oil market at Gulf Coast points has turned weaker, reflecting the first effect on spot oil markets of the influx of West Texas crude oil. Offerings are being made at 5 cents a barrel less than quotations recently made in the large U. S. Shipping Board contracts and 15 cents under the ruling price a few months ago. Three main trunk lines are now bringing crude oil to Gulf Coast points and other through lines are being laid or projected. Bunker fuel oil is being offered at $1.25 a barrel, the trade hears.

Net profits of Chandler-Cleveland Motor Co. for the third quarter declined to $170,164 from $381,512 in the third quarter last year.

Sales of Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co. for the third quarter were 11 per cent ahead of the same period last year. The company is still behind orders.

The Dinamo Electric Co., of Italy, a subsidiary of the Edison General Italian Electric Co. of Milan, in which more than $20,000,000 of American capital has been invested through the International Power Securities Corporation, has decided to distribute to stockholders a dividend of 9 lire a share, against 8 lire a share last year. The shares have a par value of 100 lire.

Deliveries of raw silk to American mills during October approximated 47,827 bales as compared with 50,107 in September and 47,768 in October, 1926, the Silk Association of America reported today. October imports were 51,207 bales as compared with 52,475 in September and 48,403 in October, 1926. Stocks on November 1 totaled 62,366 bales against 58,986 on October 1, and 35,094 bales on November 1, 1926.

11 KILLED, 26 MISSING AS SHIP SINKS FERRY

Children Among the Victims of Crash at Sydney, New South Wales.

BOAT LOST IN 3 MINUTES

Sydney, New South Wales, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—The peaceful decks of a plodding ferryboat were thrown into an uproar of horror and death today when the boat carrying 150 persons, many of them school children, was crushed beneath the bow of the steamship Tahiti, outward bound for San Francisco.

There was a terrific explosion and timber was hurled in every direction, while the ferryboat settled rapidly and sank within three minutes.

Latest estimates placed the list of dead at 11 with 26 missing.

Eleven bodies had been recovered this afternoon. Fifty persons were treated for injuries while the number of those rescued could not be definitely determined since scores of small boats sped to the scene and picked up survivors, carrying them to scattered points along the harbor

When the Tahiti struck the ferryboat, there was a grinding crash and most of the boat's passengers were thrown into the water, struggling and crying for help. The Tahiti put out small boats to pick up the survivors as did other boats in the vicinity and the work of rescue went on rapidly.

"It was a mess," exclaimed one passenger after he had been saved. "The passengers never had a chance."

The Tahiti, after picking up all those it could find in the waters, continued on her voyage to San Francisco.

Women Seek a Blond As Lost Dog's Owner

Chicago, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Gentlemen, it has been said, prefer blondes, but there is no doubt as to the blonde preferences of an aristocratic black and white collie dog whose home Evanston clubwomen are trying to find.

The animal, lean, hungry and footsore, was first noticed by an Evanston policeman wandering aimlessly in a maze of traffic. The dog was turned over to the humane society.

Evanston clubwomen who became interested in the dog decided that its owner was a woman and that she is a blonde, because each time the animal sees a blonde he leaps up with a joyful bark, only to turn away when he finds she is not the one sought.

Clubwomen have sent descriptions of the dog over the entire country.

Champagne Seized On U. S. Board Ship

Philadelphia, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Suspicious actions of a number of men in a motorboat near the United States Shipping Board steamer Innoko today reday resulted in the seizure of 1,200 bottles of alleged champagne on the vessel by customs agents.

The Innoko recently arrived in this country from Rotterdam, stopping at New York, Baltimore and Norfolk before coming to Philadelphia to take on cargo for the Dutch port.

Charged With $5,000 Shortage, Is "Sorry"

Springfield, Ohio, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—"I'm awfully sorry," was the only comment made by C. Forgey Moorehead, former city auditor, today as he was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of embezzling $5,500 in city funds.

Aside from that statement he would say nothing, not even to make a formal plea when arraigned.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Oil shares again stood out sharply in the curb market today. Buying, stimulated by further recessions in the output of Seminole field, and a feeling that the petroleum industry has turned uphill after reaching the bottom, brought gains of 1 to nearly 3 points in many issues, with a sprinkling of new peaks for the year or longer.

Pipe line stocks were in particular demand, Illinois and Indiana both reaching new tops and Prairie rising more than 2 points. Heavy accumulation of Vacuum, Standard of Indiana, Standard of Kentucky was in evidence, while Gulf Oil and Penn-Mex Fuel sold at their best prices of the year.

A good demand also developed for many of the utilities, further reflecting the prosperous condition of that branch of endeavor. United Gas Improvement and Northern States Power "A" advanced 1¼ and 3¼ respectively, while Northern States Power preferred reached a new high of 109¼.

Pools were again active in a few leading specialties, such as Borden Co., Celanese and the celluloid issues. Celluloid new common advanced more than 7 points to 125, a new maximum figure American Cigar gained 6¼ on a few odd lot sales and Deere & Co., Neisner Brothers and Newmont Mining were strong.

American Rolling Mills declined 3 points on profit taking after the recent sustained advance, and American Laundry Machinery and White Sewing Machine rights were among the few soft spots.

Cudahy Kidnaper Arrested as Beggar

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Pat Crowe, one-time bandit, train robber, kidnaper, author and lecturer on the futility of crime, fell into the clutches of the law today for begging. He received a suspended sentence and bought a ticket for his home at Hastings-on-the-Hudson with a collection taken up by detectives.

After his dismissal, Crowe regaled the police with tales of his exploits 25 years ago. He declared he had received $25,000 ransom after kidnaping Edward Cudahy, son of the millionaire packer, and had forsaken his criminal career after terrorizing Western railroads by a series of train robberies. He was successful as a lecturer and writer, he said, but financial reverses had dissipated his wealth.

$40,000 to Glorify "Hot-Dog" Stands

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—A suggestion (backed by $7,000) made last summer by Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, jr., for the glorification of the American hot dog stand has received such support from sausage manufacturers that today the humble weenie seemed to be permanently endowed.

Mrs. Rockefeller's gift, to be disseminated in prizes for most artistic bologna stands, has swelled "well into five figures," the art center, which is in charge of the competition, announced today. No definite figure was named, but the Evening Post says the hot dog fund is close to $40,000.

HALDEMAN IS ACCORDED LION'S SHARE OF CHEERS

AVIATRIX TASTES WINE

Paris, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—Men of all ages, some young, some middle-aged, but most of them old enough to be grandfathers, lavished respectful and affectionate tribute today on Ruth Elder in her busiest day since she reached Paris.

Perhaps on the basis that men should stick together, George Haldeman, her copilot on their attempted trans-Atlantic flight, got the lion's share of applause when they lunched with the American Club and attended receptions in their honor at the senate and city hall, even though she was more favored in the verbal bouquets.

The "happy midinette," who has taken the attitude that Paris is an Eden for shopping, was unable to continue her sartorial excursions today, but she and Haldeman profited by springlike sunshine to take an hour's flight from Le Bourget Flying Field. They swooped low over the luxurious palaces at Versailles and Fontainbleau on their aerial sightseeing tour.

The girl flier's program carried her through such extremes as being uproariously elected a jolly good fellow by members and guests of the American Club and being saluted with extreme dignity by grey-bearded senators as a harbinger of world peace. In both places the aviatrix was overcome with mingled delight and embarrassment.

Among the Americans, in a room filled with tobacco smoke and tables laden with wines which she not only saw but tasted, Miss Elder was treated to old-fashioned American "hip hip hoorahs" in addition to flowing tribute from the club's president, Percy Peixotto, whose prose was almost as flowery as the poetry he quoted.

"Your name is justly known to the whole universe," declared Senator Gaston Menier at the senate reception. Senator Lazare Weiller added, "You, with Lindbergh and other fliers, will make the world so small wars will be impossible."

Flanked by two greybeards and facing a roomful of them, the customarily smiling face of the aviatrix was frozen into momentary solemnity.

Another tribute of the same kind was forthcoming when the American fliers were received by M. Delsol, president of the board of aldermen, and other members of the board. Here she signed the golden book which bears the signatures of Lindberg, Byrd, Chamberlin and New York's Jimmy Walker.

New York, Nov. 3 (A.P.).—A check for $1,000 was turned over to the Associated Press today, to be given to the captain and crew of the Dutch oil tanker Barendrecht in token of the gratitude of Wheeling, W. Va., citizens for the rescue of Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, after they were forced down at sea October 13 last, while attempting a nonstop flight from here to Paris.

TAKOMA PARK.

On one of the best corners in this suburb, we are offering what is probably the finest home of its class on the market today. The house is just about a year old, and is being offered for sale only because it is too small for his present use. Built for his own home by a man who knows the building game, quality is its keynote. The construction is stucco over hollow tile. There are hardwood floors upstairs and down; all the interior woodwork is of gumwood. Large tile bath would grace any home. One enters through a center hall, on the right is the dining room with the breakfast alcove and kitchen behind it. The homey living room, with a real open fireplace, is on the left. East of the living room is a spacious and unusually bright solarium. On the second floor are the three well-arranged bedrooms. Five cedar closets throughout the house are but one of its many unusual features. The garage is built-in and heated. Don't fai lto see this before you buy.

CATHEDRAL HEIGHTS.

This beautiful brick colonial home is for sale at a tempting price. It's exceptionally well constructed and planned for homeness in all the term implies. Unusually large lot for a town house—56-foot front and 115 feet deep—prettily planted and with pleasing terrace. There are 10 rooms, 3 baths, 2 of which have tub and shower, and big separate 2-car brick garage. There is a glass enclosed sun parlor and sleeping porch. The floors are of hardwood; vapor heat, which is the most economical and satisfactory; separate hot-water heater; laundry, &c. Entire house screened; metal weather stripped and is in perfect condition throughout. Information as to price and terms may be gotten at this office.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS.

Less than one block from the 14th street car line, we are offering a six-room and bath house 20 feet wide and in good condition, for less than $9,000. This house is in North Columbia Heights, and can be inspected any day. If you are looking for a bargain, both in price and terms, don't overlook this chance.

COMMITTEE DRAWS RADIAL STREET PLAN, ENLARGING SYSTEM

Cross-Town Thoroughfares Included in Project to Be Reported to Planning Group.

PUTS ALL SECTIONS NEAR WIDE ROADS

Areas in Locations Bordering District Lines Are Given Special Attention.

Additional work on a plan of radial and crosstown thoroughfares forming groundwork for a major traffic arrangement, to be submitted to the National Capital Park and Planning Commission at its November meeting, was completed yesterday by a subcommittee.

The committee, composed of Col. W. B. Ladue, District Engineer Commissioner; Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive officer of the Park and Planning Commission, and Frederic A. Delano, commission member, is preparing a system putting all sections of the city within a quarter or half mile distance of major crosstown thoroughfares. Some streets now are from three-fourths to a mile from a main thoroughfare.

The work thus far of the committee, which will hold another meeting next week to arrange more streets, provides the following important radial thoroughfares: Livingston and Naylor roads, Central avenue, Benning and Sheriff roads, Michigan avenue, Queen's Chapel and Riggs roads to the District line; Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Rhode Island avenues, Bladensburg road, Kansas and Georgia avenues, Sixteenth street, Connecticut and Wisconsin avenues, River and Conduit roads.

Some Streets Included.

Included also in the radial classification is the line of North Capitol street, Michigan avenue, Harewood road and Blair road to the District boundary.

In the cross-town category are the following: Reservoir road, with a possible connection through Georgetown, to be studied further, to P and Q street bridges and by way of P street to Eckington.

Garfield street, by way of Cleveland avenue, Calvert street and Columbia road to Sixteenth street. From Sixteenth street to Soldiers' Home, the matter of widening Columbia road or combining the route with another street or streets, will be given further consideration. From Soldiers' Home it will follow the line of Michigan avenue and Franklin street to Bladensburg road.

Goes to District Line.

A Tilden street connection with Upshur street to Soldiers' Home, thence by way of Bates road and Varnum street to the District line.

From the western boundary of the District, a route via Military road, with connection across Rock Creek Park, then by Kennedy street, Concord avenue and Riggs road to the District line, is listed. The route is also considered with a branchway leaving Riggs road at the intersection of South Dakota avenue and going through to Bladensburg road.

Another thoroughfare proposed is through the developed area near the north end of Rock Creek Park from the District boundary west of the park across the park and along the south boundary of Walter Reed Hospital, by way of Aspen street, then under the railroad at Van Buren street subway to the area east of the railroad.

Walter Reed Mascot Reported as A.W.O.L

Gloom descended over Walter Reed Hospital yesterday when it became known that Laddie, a white poodle dog, and mascot of the hospital for three years, had developed the wanderlust. He strayed from the grounds Wednesday night and a thorough search of the vicinity failed to locate him. The dog is owned by Corpl. B. M. Fowler.

Laddie is white with brown spots on his back and ears. He carries three tags, a license tag, No. 3861, a soldier's identification tag, inscribed "Laddie, Company E, Walter Reed Hospital," and a tag showing he has been vaccinnated as a precaution against rabies.

PROTEST FILED IN COURT AGAINST BATHING POOL

Permanent Injunction Sought to Stop Work on Site Near Langley School.

UNLAWFUL, CITIZENS SAY

A protest against the construction of a bathing pool on land adjacent to the Langley Junior High School at Second and T streets northeast was filed in Equity Court yesterday by Henry B. Myers, 3306 Rittenhouse street northwest, a member of the McKinley Manual Training School Alumni Association; William W. Spencer, 1348 Monroe street northwest, also a member; Edwin B. Lawless, member of the North Capitol Citizens Association, of 310 Randolph street northeast, and Robert C. Carter, 130 R street northeast, a member of the Langley Parent-Teacher Association.

The defendants are Col. Ulysses Grant 3d, director of public buildings and public parks; Frank White, treasurer of the United States, and C. G. Loehler, the contractor.

The protest is in the nature of an injunction bill which does not ask for a temporary injuction. It does ask for a permanent injunction, and if the bill follows its usual course in the Equity Courts the bathing pool will have been completed and the whole case become moot before the court has acted.

The plaintiffs sue as taxpayers of the District of Columbia and direct their protests at the use of an appropriation by Congress for the District. It is alleged that Col. Grant is not proceeding according to law. The land on which the pool is being erected was acquired for school purposes and according to the appropriation bill the pool could be erected only on land acquired for park or playground purposes, and with the approval of the Commission of Fine Arts. The approval of the commission was not obtained, the plaintiffs allege.

The court was informed that the commission on September 19 wrote to Col. Grant and told him that "it is unfortunate that the land for the swimming pool must be cut out of the grounds of the Langley Junior High School and of the McKinley Manual Training School. The space itself is inadequate. It is in too close proximity to residences on one side and to a school playground on another side. The purchase of the land to the north of the Emery School, where the land is cheap and where there is room to develop a swimming pool adequately, would have been the economical course to pursue. On the site selected the pool must suffer undue contraction; space needed for school purposes must be taken and two jurisdictions must be maintained."

About 200 residents of the District and members of the Langley Parent-Teacher Association, the plaintiffs declared, protested against the location of the pool on October 18, and on October 24 the North Capitol Citizens Association voiced its disapproval, as did also the executive committee of the Tech Alumni Association. These protests were unheeded, it is averred.

Through Attorneys Humphreys & Anderson, the court was asked to halt the construction by Loehler under a contract dated October 6 and to prevent the payments of funds from the Treasury for the work.

BRIG. GEN. J. D. LEITCH ADVANCED IN RANK

Fills Vacancy Created by the Retirement of Maj. Gen. Jenkins.

Promotions of Brig. Gen. Joseph D. Leitch, commanding the Third Division, Camp Lewis, Wash., to major general, and Col. Otho B. Rosenbaum, Infantry, on duty here, to brigadier general, were announced yesterday at the War Department. Gen. Leitch fills the vacancy created by retirement, effective tomorrow, of Maj. Gen. John M. Jenkins at the statutory age of 64, and Col. Rosenbaum that created by promotion of Gen. Leitch.

Gen. Leitch was born in Michigan and was graduated from West Point in 1889. He was awarded a silver star citation for gallantry at Santiago, Cuba, in the Spanish-American War, and was chief of staff of American forces in Siberia in the World War. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, Czechoslovakian and Italian decorations.

Col. Rosenbaum was born at Marion, Va., from which place he was appointed to West Point. He received a brevet promotion and silver star citation for gallantry at Santiago, and in the World War became colonel of the 315th Infantry at Camp Meade, Md. As a brigadier general he took the 178d Infantry Brigade overseas. He is now on the War Department general staff in the operations and training division.

SUPPORT DENIED WIFE LIVING WITH HUSBAND

Hoehling Says Decree Might Lead to Suits for More Pin Money.

The Equity Court, Justice Adolph A. Hoehling presiding, yesterday declined to award maintenance to a wife living in the same house with her husband on the ground that the court may be swamped with similar cases in which the wife is dissatisfied with her pin money or regular household and personal allowance. The case is that of Mrs. Grace M. Miller, wife of Philip A. Miller, navy yard employe, who sought maintenance for herself and minor child while still living under the same roof with Miller.

In an opinion overruling the motion for maintenance, Justice Hoehling says that the court "should not undertake to regulate the duty of a husband to support his wife and child while the parties are living together. If the court has jurisdiction in such cases, then it necessarily results that it can be called upon in individual cases to regulate the amount a husband should contribute" in cases where the husband is charged with having contributed too little or none at all.

The court took judicial notice of the fact that there are wives too numerous to mention who are not satisfied with the amounts given them by their husbands while they are living together and that if one case is entitled to relief, every dissatisfied wife is entitled to relief, thus requiring the court to act as a board of arbitration to determine how much a wife needs or should have.

Steps Ordered Built At Stuart School

The municipal architect yesterday was authorized by the Board of Education to construct steps to the west entrance of the Stuart Junior High School, at an estimated cost of $1,881, it was announced at the Franklin Administration Building.

Improvement of terraces on the Ninth street front of Business High School, similar to those recently made on the Rhode Island avenue front, was ordered by the board, at a cost of $1,130.77. Members appropriated $927 to convert a basement room of the Bruce School for household art classes.

TAFTS TO HEAR SON SPEAK HERE SUNDAY

Plan to Attend Y. M. C. A. Diamond Jubilee Celebration in Auditorium.

Chief Justice Taft plans to take advantage Sunday of the rare opportunity of hearing his son, Charles P. Taft 2d, make a speech.

The Chief Justice has advised the local Young Men's Christian Association that he "wants to hear Charlie very much" and, accordingly, arrangements have been made to place a box at the disposal of Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft on the occasion of the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration of the Y. M. C. A., in the Washington Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

President and Mrs. Coolidge also have indicated their intention of joining in observing the diamond jubilee of the founding of the Washington Y. M. C. A.

The son of Chief Justice Taft will be the principal speaker. He will come here from Ohio.

Among others who have accepted the invitation to attend are Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Attorney General Sargent, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior Work, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine and Secretary of Labor Davis. More than 6,000 invitations have been issued.

Rockville Marriage Licenses.

PRESIDENT IS DONOR TO NURSE AID FUND

R. Kauffmann Check for $1,000 Bequest Received; Drive Continues 3 Days.

The second day of the Instructive Visiting Nurse Society appeal for $65,000 to carry on the work of the society yesterday found President Coolidge listed among the contributors. The appeal will last for three more days and is being conducted through personal solicitations and mail appeals.

The society received a check for a $1,000 bequest from the late Rudolph Kauffmann, veteran newspaper man. Other donors were Princess Boncampagni, who gives the salary of two supervisory nurses in memory of her parents, Gen. and Mrs. William F. Draper, Mrs. William C. Eustis, Mrs. Frederic A. Keep, Mrs. Randolph H. McKim, Mrs. Clarence C. Williams, Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, Mrs. Whitman Cross, Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham, Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Delano and Mrs. Adolph Miller.

Organizations supporting a nurse of the society are the Junior League of All Souls Unitarian Church, St. John's Episcopal Church, the Washington Gas Light Co., and the Kiwanis Club. Contributions will be received at the society headquarters in the Star Building.

Kiwanis Club Elects G. A. Baker Director

George A. Baker yesterday was elected a director of the Washington Kiwanis Club at a luncheon-meeting in the Washington Hotel. He succeeds Arthur Harnett, former manager of the Washington Hotel, who has taken a position in New York.

The club accepted an invitation to hold next year's luncheon in the tea room of the Woodward & Lothrop Department Store, as guests of the management. The Alexandria Kiwanis Club also will attend as guests. Plans for Kiwanis ladies' night tomorrow in the Mayflower Hotel were outlined by Roe Fulkerson and Mark Lansburgh, chairman of the committee. Harry Kimball, governor of the Capital Kiwanis district, announced a meeting of clubs in his district on November 18, in the Washington Hotel.

Carpenter Sues for Damages.

John Binsted, a carpenter, of Binghamton, N. Y., filed suit yesterday in Circuit Court against T. T. Taylor, Inc., builders, to recover $10,000 damages for personal injuries. Through Attorneys Imlay & Wainwright, the plaintiff says he was injured on August 31, 1926, in the construction of a house on Alaska avenue northwest.

Father-Son Dinner To Be Given Tonight

Opinions of the ideal relationship between father and son will be exchanged tonight at a dinner in observance of Father-and-Son week at the Young Men's Christian Association assembly hall, 1736 G street northwest. A similar dinner for younger boys will be held tomorrow night.

Otto Hammerland will tell of the "Kind of a Boy a Dad Likes Best" on behalf of the fathers, and Dallas Shirley will give the opinion of the sons on the kind of a father best favored by a son. At tomorrow night's dinner George E. Hudson, jr., will speak for the fathers and William Fry for the younger boys. The dinners were arranged by Nelson M. Blake, of the local association. The Father-and-Son week will begin Monday and will be observed throughout the country by organizations interested in creating a better understanding between parents and sons.

CAPITAL LIBRARIAN HITS CHICAGO BAN ON BOOKS

Bowerman Tells Community Institute City Will Have No Literary Bonfires.

SPAETH SPEAKS ON JAZZ

Pro-English literature will be distributed from the Washington Public Library along with anti-English, and the public may draw its own conclusions, Dr. George F. Bowerman, District Librarian, declared last night in an introductory address at the opening of the Community Institute of Washington, at Central High School.

Dr. Bowerman directed a subtle shaft at the Chicago executive whose charges of British influence in American schools have attracted the attention of the country.

"So long as I am your public librarian there will be no bonfires in Mount Vernon Square," he said. "I believe the people should be informed on both sides of a question, and wherever we find a moot question we intend to present both sides."

Among the questions characterized as "moot" by the librarian, in addition to the pro and antiBritish problem were fundamentalism and modernism, protective tariff and free trade. "It is educated public opinion that counts—not propaganda," Dr. Bowerman said.

Sigmund Spaeth, speaker of the evening, declared the "jazzmania" of today a treat ient of life as well as of music, and a revolt against established traditions and conventions. Emphasizing his points with sketches at the piano, the musical humorist dissected typically popular music, showing where modern composers have borrowed or "stolen" their numbers from music of the masters.

Beethoven was not above the use of "jazz" technique, and Wagner applied "jazz" treatment to opera, Spaeth declared. Fundamentally, however, jazz is merely a distortion of the conventional, he said.

Frederick A. Delano presided at the opening of the institute, and William Bruce King, president of the Society of Fine Arts, made a brief address.

Woman Recovering From Drug Overdose

Twenty-four hours after she had been reported missing Mrs. Lottie Dillinger, 30 years old, 1918 H street northwest, was found yesterday morning in a room at 2022 F street northwest recovering from an overdose of a drug.

The Emergency ambulance responded to a call from the F street address saying that a woman there was suffering from poison. Mrs. Dillinger, attendants stated, had been asleep 28 hours and was recovering from the sleep when they arrived. According to the police, she lorked herself in the room and took the medicine.

ALBRIGHT CHURCH DEDICATION TODAY

Two Bishops to Take Part in Church Exercises Lasting for Two Weeks.

Dedication of the Albright Memorial Evangelical Church, Fourth and Rittenhouse streets northwest, the latest national church to be established in this city, will begin today at 1 o'clock and continue two weeks.

Led by two of the bishops of the church, Bishop S. C. Breyfogel, of Reading, Pa., the senior bishop of the church, and Bishop M. T. Maze, of Harrisburg, Pa., more than 50 ministers will participate. The Rev. George E. Schnabel, pastor of the church, is in charge of the arrangements, assisted by committees composed of the congregation, established in 1926.

Two score ministers of the York district of the Central Pennsylvania Conference will open a retreat, conducted by the Rev. John W. Thompson, of York, Pa. At 5:30 o'clock dinner will be served to the clergymen and guests. Tonight Bishop Maze will preside at the rally of the young people at which Dr. Daniel A. Polling, president of the International Christian Endeavor Societies and pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church, of New York, will preside. M. L. Smith, president of the local Christian Endeavor Union, also will speak.

$75,000 Damages Asked in Suit.

The Washington Terminal Co. was sued yesterday in Circuit Court by Thomas M. Holt, 151 North Carolina avenue southeast, for $75,000 damages for personal injuries. Through Attorneys Webb & Hornstein, the plaintiff says that at midnight June 6, 1926, he attempted to pass through an archway at the Union Station and was thrown to the ground by a chain barrier which he did not see.

PLUMBERS CHARGE NAVY YARD BOARDS VIOLATE STATUTES

Higgins Says They Create Wage Competition and Undermine U.S. Living Standards.

RIGHT TO SUBSTITUTE OPINION IS CHALLENGED

Men Paid Less Than Outside Labor Receives, Review Officials Are Told.

Hearings of the Navy Wage Board of Review at the Navy Department were enlivened yesterday, when James J. Higgins, general organizer, United Association of Journeymen Plumbers of the United States and Canada, charged that it and local navy yard boards were changing stautes openly, legislating for themselves, and creating wage competition, gradually thereby undermining American living standards for workingmen.

Mechanical employes of the Navy, according to Mr. Higgins, now wonder whether the law requiring wage adjustment is a scrap of paper, in view of the general board's consistent cutting of wages. Asserting that action of the Navy Wage Boards cost the labor organizations time, trouble and money, by continually tearing down American living standards they seek to maintain, he challenged their right to substitute opinion for the law.

James Lennon, sheet metal workers' representative, said that outside wages for this class was $1.10 an hour, and the Navy boards generally had recommended only 90 cents. Outside workers here, he declared, drew $1.37½ an hour.

Increases for Annapolis Urged.

Joseph M. Armstrong, Annapolis, representing Government employes at the Naval Academy, asked increases for them, and bewailed the fact that requests were being rejected annually. He recommended equalization of all mechanical rates in yards and stations.

Other representatives presented figures showing erroneous recommendations of local boards, filed briefs of their views, and statistics showing where outside employers were paying higher scales, which remained unconsidered by Navy boards.

N. P. Alifas, of this city, machinist official, speaking for that trade, called the board's attention to the fact that it represented the largest number of and most skilled employes, and that the character of their work demanded increased compensation. Edward W. Kloter, of this city, urged more pay for electrical workers.

Demands of optical workers, painters, riggers, sail makers and saw filers will be heard at the closing session of the board today.

"King's Henchman" Opens Here Today

"The King's Henchman," the first successful American opera, with libretto by Edna St. Vincent Millay and music by Deems Taylor, which created a sensation at its Metropolitan Opera House premier in New York last February, will open its transcontinental tour in Poli's Theater this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene.

The tour of "The King's Henchman" is under the musical and artistic direction of Jacques Samossoud, well known in Washington as a conductor. Mr. Samossoud has assembled a brilliant cast including Marie Sundelius from the Metropolitan Opera; Rafaelo Diaz, tenor; Richard Hale, barytone; Giovanni Martino, Dudley Marwick and Constance Hejda. A company of 50 and an orchestra of 50 are also included.

Seat sale is now in progress at Mrs. Wilson-Greene's concert bureau, Droops, 1300 G street, and at Poli's Theater, to the five openings.

McCarl Would Reject Sewer Brick Bids

Comp. Gen. John R. McCarl yesterday took a hand in the controversy between the District government and John R. Clark, agent for a sewer brick concern, who claims that he was the lowest bidder recently for 1,000,000 sewer brick, but the contract was awarded to the United Clay Products Co., who bid 38 cents per thousand brick more than he did.

McCarl recommended to the commissioners that the contract with the United Clay Products Co. be vacated, that the bids both of that concern and of Clark be rejected and the order be readvertised so that entirely new bids would be received. He said that there was slight difference between the bricks offered by the two vendors and that both, when tested, proved of such quality that they might have been rejected under the specifications. The commissioners took the communication from McCarl under advisement.

Montgomery County Bus Merger Sought

Articles incorporating the Montgomery Bus Lines, which will organize in one system the bus lines operating between Gaithersburg, Washington Grove, Rockville and the Capital, were filed yesterday before the State tax commission.

As soon as the tax commission approves the articles, and they are recorded in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court, at Rockville, the company will elect officers and announce its operating plan. The company's capital is $50,000, divided into 1,000 shares of $50 each. The company has just contracted to purchase the bus line operating between Rockville and Washington, and on November 21 will inaugurate an improved schedule on this line.

W.F. Brown, Attorney, Takes Commerce Post

Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, Ohio, political leader and attorney, was sworn in yesterday as Assistant Secretary of Commerce. Considerable significance has been attached to his appointment as bearing on Secretary Hoover's presidential candidacy. Mr. Brown said, however, that his appointment has no political significance.

The Commerce Secretary described him as having a "greater knowledge of the Federal mechanism and its duties than any other man in the United States."

Jury Clears Man in Shooting.

Milton Robinson, colored, 1637 Eleventh street northwest, was exonerated yesterday in the death Tuesday of Henry Young, colored, 33 years old, 1416 Eleventh street northwest, by a coroner's jury investigating the case. Young was shot October 10 in the stomach by Robinson while the latter was examining a pistol. The jury held his death due to "gunshot wounds of abdomen followed by peritonitis."

OVER HERE—OVER THERE— The Battle of the Lys By Ernest Henderson
